Samizdat!

I do not like to countersignal the policies put forth by the site publisher's Andrew Anglin too often, but this week he triggered me by saying that IHOP was not a bad call on a cheat day. The first word in IHOP is International—just like the Jew. Belgian waffles, French toast, and crepes. Can you expect any self-respecting white man with a reasonable testosterone count ordering a “Rooty Tooty Fresh and Fruity?” Seriously dudes, that's the gayest of all possible breakfasts. Compare that to the menu of Waffle House. Papa Joe's pork chops, grits, biscuits and gravy. The only cheese they have on offer is American and the toast is from Texas. That's a American man's meal if there ever was one.

Waffle House has its own soundtrack—hundreds of original works of Americana music. In contrast to this, IHOP has a massive supply of bad memes involving blacks.

IHOP is where tasteless cucks go to eat piles of sugar to accelerate the onset of diabetes after their megachurch pastor convinces them to adopt a Somali and send money to the chosen people in Israel. It is the most popular breakfast establishment amongst niggers. Waffle House is where you eat a plate full of meat and potatoes and pick up a waitress after her shift and make her smothered, covered, and topped just like your hash browns. RaHoWaHo: Racial Holy Waffle House. I'll fight over this any day.

In a disaster zone, FEMA agents use the Waffle House Index as a rule of thumb for the severity of the damage. Waffle House has better disaster preparedness than other chains and a limited menu that it deploy in case of low food supplies or lessened availability of electricity. If the Waffle House is closed, the area is in bad shape. Nobody will ever use IHOP as a metric for civilization's functionality.

I hates the nasty IHOP, and everything it serves. How it makes the bugmen and women balloon in fatty curves. I hates the fetid pancake, 'tis dripping with syrup. The women who do eat it must be mounted by stirrup. One thousand six hundred IHOP were built on Yankee dust. We built two thousand Waffle Houses so they could not poison us. Hoppers died of diabeetus, of heart disease and glands. Wrapping muh Constitution in carpets with daughters groped by negro hands.

I won't eat that griddle cake, gimme hash browns chunked with ham. Enriched flour, enriched neighborhoods are for the Yankee damned.

Kike Who Runs Cuban University That Designed That Fake Bridge Worried People Don't Respect Them

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 18, 2018

Don't be down, Cuba. It was a good hustle. You can't win em all. Some bridges are going to collapse immediately after being built and crush people to death in their cars. Just the way it is.

Dropping a bridge on people is enough to destroy the reputation of bridge-builders, regrettably.

And so the Cuban school responsible for the Florida death bridge are on edge.

New York Times:

Florida International University, long known as a commuter school and an engine of mobility for Greater Miami's Cuban-Americans, has in the past two decades transformed itself into one of the largest public universities in the country.

Its rapid expansion and enhanced reputation helped its selection in 2013 as an official federal research center for an engineering method called accelerated bridge construction.

On Thursday, a pedestrian bridge on campus using that very method collapsed just days after it was installed, dealing the center—and the university's larger efforts to improve its stature—a grave blow.

"Do I worry about the image of the university? Every breathing moment," F.I.U.'s president, Mark B. Rosenberg, said in an interview. "But the response that we've gotten from around the country has been overwhelmingly positive. It's not the time now to be worried about our image."

You got a positive response after smashing those people with your fake bridge?

Talk about white guilt— "thank you Cuba for crushing people with your poorly-engineered bridge."

"We are the pride and joy of the Cuban community," said Modesto A. Maidique, a former university president.

But the student body has also diversified, and enrollment has grown to more than 50,000 from 15,000 three decades ago. Despite opposition from competing schools, the university used its tight relationships with politicians to elevate its athletic program to Division 1, add doctoral programs and open schools of architecture, law, medicine and engineering.

Yes.

Remember: the Jews teach every minority to behave exactly as they behave. And all non-whites are necessarily more tribally-oriented than white people. So of course, Cubans get into the government and then help out their comrades in the Cuban university.

"We as an institution see ourselves as an anchor in the community," Dr. Rosenberg said, with a responsibility to address major issues, including sea level rise, disparity in health outcomes, hurricanes, AIDS prevention and transportation. "We are leaning in. As an institution, we're not in a fetal position waiting for the sky to fall."

That may be the most Jewish series of words I've heard in hours.

"This was a good project," Dr. Rosenberg said Friday. "This was a project that spoke to our desire to build bridges. When the board hired me, I told them, 'If you give me a pile of rocks, I'm going to build a bridge, not a wall.' This was about neighborliness and collaboration."

Oh wow.

So Rosenberg is going full "this bridge was a symbol of Jewishness."

And what did that bridge do?

Collapsed and killed a bunch of people, smdh.

But you know. At least it only killed other minorities.

Hopefully when Judaism itself collapses like this bridge, it only kills minorities.

Here's the part about the Cuban nepotism scammy:

In September 2015, Munilla Construction Management, a business led by a Cuban-American family, submitted its proposal to build the pedestrian bridge that collapsed on Thursday. The project was officially known as the University City Prosperity Project.

The company's proposal described the bridge as an innovative design that would "serve as an icon, a destination in its own right." At the core of this proposal was accelerated bridge construction, which the company said would "showcase F.I.U.'s prominence in the international A.B.C. marketplace."

The proposal emphasized the bridge's dramatic features—a tapering pylon, glass-enclosed elevator and programmable lighting—as well as the Munilla firm's connections. Forty percent of the firm's team members were F.I.U. graduates, "which enhances our passion for success," the proposal said.

It was signed by Jorge Munilla, Munilla Construction Management's president. "They're significant players in the Cuban community," said Dr. Maidique, who is also Cuban-American. Mr. Munilla's company won the project, beating out several other firms.

So yeah. These people come into our countries and set up their little colonies, with the help of the Jews, then keep everything in their community. Money only flows into these communities from us. That is why they come here in the first place, rather than remaining in their own countries.

America is collapsing and these savages are cynically picking the remaining flesh from our bones.

Children's Book Declares Hitler a "Great Leader" – Whining Jews Demand Book Burning

Fash McQueen
Daily Stormer
March 18, 2018

Kids need heroes.
New York Times:

An Indian publisher came under fire this week for including Hitler in a children's book about world leaders who have "devoted their lives for the betterment of their country and people."

"Dedicated to the betterment of countries and people? Adolf Hitler? This description would bring tears of joy to the Nazis and their racist neo-Nazi heirs," Rabbi Abraham Cooper, associate dean of the Simon Wiesenthal Center, an international Jewish human rights organization, said in a statement.

wipes away tears of joy

When it comes to Jews screeching about Hitler, curry-niggers DGAF.

Possibly, the pajeets DGAF because they know they can't be killed through conventional means. But, also it's because the Jews haven't been able to take complete control of India's publishing industry and media—yet.

Published by the Pegasus imprint of India's B. Jain Publishing Group, the book, called "Leaders" —but listed on the publisher's website as "Great Leaders" —spotlights 11 leaders "who will inspire you," according to a product description on the publisher's website.

On the book's cover, a stony-faced Hitler is featured alongside Barack Obama, Mahatma Gandhi, Nelson Mandela and India's prime minister, Narendra Modi. Also included on the cover is Myanmar's civilian leader Aung San Suu Kyi, who has recently come under sharp criticism for refusing to acknowledge atrocities committed by the country's military against the Rohingya ethnic group.

So, the buttonheads only had room for one great White leader on the cover and they chose Hitler. FUCKING BASED!

Earlier this week, the Simon Wiesenthal Center, which is based in Los Angeles, called for the publisher to remove "Great Leaders" from circulation and its online store, where it is sold for about $2.

The perfidious Jews are so terrified of people learning the truth about Hitler (that he was a really swell guy who rightfully hated the kikes) that they demand that an obscure children's book, that's sold halfway around the world for two bucks, be burned immediately.

The nerve of these fucking heeb!

Check the vile Rabbi's reasoning.

Turkey Says Kurds Have Been Cleared Out...!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 18, 2018

The last and final kikenfriend appears to have been cleared out of Syria.

At last.
RT:

The Turkish military and allied forces have taken full control of the Syrian city of Afrin, President Recep Tayyip Erdogan announced on Sunday. Kurdish YPG forces had previously maintained control of the area.

The pro-Turkish forces entered the city before dawn and faced no resistance from Kurdish fighters, who had already withdrawn, according to reports. Erdogan said in a televised speech this morning that all measures would be taken to protect Afrin's residents. He praised the "heroic" actions of the armies, Turkey's NTV reports.

Video Link

Erdogan said that Turkey and its allies have not invaded Afrin, but rather "saved" the city from the "oppression" of terrorists. "This operation has shown the whole world that Turkey sides with the oppressed," he said, as cited by Rudaw.

The Turkish Army released a number of videos and photos reportedly from inside Afrin. The footage shows tanks rolling down the street, as soldiers wave Turkish and FSA flags.

I don't like Erdogan, but whatever.

In this case, his interests have overlapped with the interests of people who hate kikes and are trying to wrestle American foreign policy back from these filthy rat-faced terrorists.

It is now going to be reaaaaaaal hard to make an argument for invading Syria. There is nothing even going on there anymore.

And if Israel starts bombing it just creates a "bro what's your problem" type situation. We won't be required to back them up.

I think we're in the clear.

Unless Israel bombs themselves and says Assad did it. Then we will have an issue. The fact that children aren't taught about false flagging in elementary school is a real serious problem, because people apparently don't just naturally think of it.

Video Link

That was one good part of the whole Parkland/David Hogg fiasco as whether or not he actually was a crisis actor, it got people thinking about that concept—to the point where David Hogg's entire agenda now is just trying to explain that he's not an actor.

And that's a good thing.

Because they are going to keep doing this. It's a big part of the way the world operates.

The Russian traitor being poisoned in the UK was clearly a false flag. Russia has said as much.

Furthermore, Russia is saying the US is planning false flags in Syria right now.

Video Link

But like I say, they've already done that a couple times, and I don't think it is enough to get the US to literally invade the country. It is enough to get them to give weapons to terrorists, but with the Kurds out, no one's left.

Israel false-flagging a bombing on themselves though—that would be enough to get the US involved.

Wtf am I Looking At?

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 18, 2018

Does this not look like a cartoon?

Like Betty Boop.

Or Jessica Rabbit.

Doesn't look real at all.
I don't know who that bitch is.
Don't care.

But do care about the image itself. It seems to be the definitive plastic hypersexualism image.

Decadence is necessarily nihilistic. That is to say, devoid of struggle, the human experience is reduced to physical stimulation. And that is not like an animal, no. Animals have responsibilities. Animals acquire food through struggle. Animals reproduce. Animals care for their young. Animals defend territory. Animals seek that their progeny may dominate their environment, to triumph over other life forms.

We are reaching the point as humans where we will be totally devoid of any responsibilities, where we will exist simply as pleasure machines. We will eat fatty, sugary foods, we will masturbate to pornography, we will take pills and watch television. And there will be nothing else.

At least that is the goal. Everything in consumerist society is reaching for this type of pleasure machine nirvana, where the only experience is pushing the most base buttons. We have been promised an end to the struggle of life.

But it isn't possible. Life itself is struggle and there is no way out of that.

Our chickens are coming home to roost.

A new day is dawning and with it comes the New Man. The man who was taken out of the struggle by circumstance of birth, but who craved it. The man who sat in a sterile chair eating synthetic food and dreamt of a cruel white cat the size of a school bus who roared and brought forth a river of blood. The man who dreamt of molding the world around him into something greater, something which had never existed before, where machines build larger machines and the seed of the planet earth sprouts into the universe in an explosion of colored lights.

When the New Man comes with his visions of mechanical hands reaching out to the stars, the old man, the pleasure man, will cover and squeal in protest, but the merciless face of the New Man will be more than the pleasure man can stand and his eyes will lower.

The earth itself will praise the New Man and put power into him.

And the struggle will continue, and no more shall we seek a static state of perfect pleasure. No, instead we will seek an endless state of war. For our story has just begun, and the universe is infinite, and God has put in us a duty to make it ours.

We are in the turning of an age. A time of transformation. And you have a choice.

You can wallow in the debauchery which your parents birthed you into, or you can leave it behind and become the New Man.

You can make yourself into something better than you are, if you choose to.

Seek to make yourself into the ideal form of yourself. Do it because you can do it, and because in that struggle to become great, you may overcome the shell that you inhabit and touch divinity.

For the sensual pleasures are there to block the higher pleasure which comes with the full realization of the power that lies dormant within each of us.

The Cost of Enrichment: London's Air Ambulance Deals with Constant Stabbings and Shootings

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
March 18, 2018

It's 2018, and London has never been more diverse.

You can get anything you want in this multicultural Shangri-La. Have a craving for kebab and chips at 2am? Don't worry, Abra Kebabra down the street has you covered. Fancy a bit of the old in-out in-out with a local slag? Take your pick—the clubs are packed with white women, brown women, black women, even women who weren't born as women.

But there's a catch: if you want the advantages of diversity, such as access to delicious kebabs, you also have to accept the disadvantages of diversity, such as being stabbed by the knife used to cut those kebabs.

Enrichment isn't a one-way street, people.

Breitbart:

London's Air Ambulance had to attend more stabbings and shootings than road traffic accidents for the first time in its almost 30-year history in 2017.

Newly released figures reveal that airborne trauma specialists and paramedics treated some 560 shooting and stabbing victims over the course of the year, compared to 533 cyclists, drivers, passengers, and pedestrians who had been involved in road traffic accidents, the Evening Standard reports.

Dr. Gareth Grier, the Air Ambulance service's lead clinician, said it is now "not unusual now for our teams to perform open-chest surgery for stab wounds twice in a single day," adding: "This would have been unheard of a few years back."

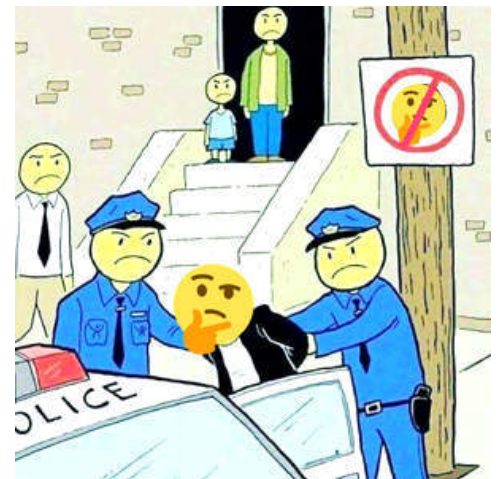

But why were stabbings unheard of a few years back, Gareth?

Hmm...

Hmmmmmm...

Oh fug :DDD

Dr. Grier's revelations concerning the Air Ambulance echo similar revelations by Dr. Martin Griffiths, a top vascular and trauma surgeon at the Royal London Hospital in Whitechapel, about the number of gunshot victims being treated in modern London.

"Our numbers of victims of gun injury have doubled [since 2012]," he revealed.

"Year on year, we have seen a 20 to 30 per cent rise in the past two or three years. We will admit 50 to 60 patients this year with gunshot injuries."

Oi! Stop right there, you cheeky wanker!

Back in 1996, a man shot up a school in Scotland, killing 16 children. This tragedy, which MI6 confirmed was "totally not a government psyop," instigated the banning of private firearms across the UK.

So how can there be gunshots in the UK if the UK is an unarmed country?

I had a feeling that these "Air Ambulance" folk might be exaggerating the truth. Stabbings? Sure—cutlery and letter openers are still legal in some places in the UK.

But gunshots? What a load of bollocks. These medics just want to make London's migrants look worse because they dislike the color of their epidermis.

And that, gentlemen, is what we call a "hate crime."

What is hate crime?

If someone does something that isn't a criminal offence but the victim, or anyone else, believes it was motivated by prejudice or hate, we would class this as a 'hate incident'. Though what the perpetrator has done may not be against the law, their reasons for doing it are. This means it may be possible to charge them with an offence.

Don't be a minion—bin that opinion!

Israeli Skanks Rally to Support Gun Control – For Americans

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 18, 2018

The Jews are bringing in their thots for reinforcement.

The the surprise of exactly no one, the Jews—in Israel—are marching to take away the guns of White people.

While Jews have always been behind the gun-control movement here, the idea that these Israelis are rallying to demand our disarmament is so hypocritical as to be absurd. Jews in Israel are armed to the teeth.

Really makes you think, huh?

And they'll be bringing some Jewish thots who attended the Parkland highschool where the shooting took place for good measure.

And I'm not using the word "thot" lightly here.

They actually put this picture of these broads in the Haaretz article, lol. Haaretz:

Dani Tylim, 18, is a junior at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School. She is one of three Parkland students scheduled to speak at Tel Aviv's March For Our Lives rally, to be held at 1 P.M. on Friday March 23 in front of the U.S. Embassy (with participants assembling at noon at Mike's Place on the beachfront).

It's a solidarity event ahead of the main March For Our Lives rally the following day in Washington, demanding changes to the U.S. gun legislation that made it possible for suspected shooter Nikolas Cruz to purchase an assault rifle like the one he used to murder 17 people on February 14.

Meanwhile, in Israel...

Sisters Maia and Eden Hebron (18 and 14, respectively) are the other Stoneman Douglas students set to speak at the Tel Aviv rally, organized by alumni from the school now living in Israel, plus Democrats Abroad and Pantsuit Nation Israel.

Eden Hebron's father is Israeli, and she and her family visit the country regularly; they had already planned to spend the Passover holiday here with the family.

In the past, she says, she occasionally used to worry about traveling here. "I grew up listening to people telling me about bomb threats in Israel. I go there every year, but I always get a little bit of anxiety," she says. "But now I'm not really scared to go. After all, I experienced the worst thing I could ever go through. I thought I was safe in class—and I wasn't."

You don't have to worry about your safety in Israel. After all, Jews are pretty well armed out there.

Even women are open-carrying automatic rifles.

Marni Mandell, 40, who immigrated to Israel from Orlando, proposed the solidary rally in Tel Aviv. She says it was in despair that mass shootings—like the one that happened at the Pulse nightclub in her hometown in 2016, killing 49—had become so commonplace.

"I just couldn't not do anything anymore, even though I'm living in Israel and not living there," Mandell says. "From my perspective, living in Israel, the one thing I could do is stand up and get people to stand up as far away as here, and create our own march to stand alongside those in America."

Maybe you should be rallying for gun control in Israel, you stupid bitch?

Wow all these people carrying scary "military-style assault rifles" in Israel—how dangerous!

These Jewesses really hate guns, don't they?

Jews have a level of chutzpah that's difficult for us mere goyim to fathom. They understand very well how important it is to be armed in order to defend yourself against hostile brown people. But they have no problem simultaneously arming themselves to the teeth and calling for White people to be disarmed "for our safety."

Jews see us as an enemy group. As such, they want us to have as few weapons as possible—non-Jews being armed makes them nervous, while Jews being armed makes them feel safe.

And you know what? I feel the same way. I want White people to be armed, and non-Whites to be disarmed. That's a natural and normal way to think. We want our "friends" to be strong, and our enemies to be weak. We just don't have the gall to try and convince our enemies that it's in their interest to give up their weapons.

King Poseidon Drowns Sixteen Migrants Attempting to Invade Europe

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
March 18, 2018

Today is Sunday, the /comfiest/ day of the week.

And since today is a /comfy/ day, it's only fair that we get to read a /comfy/ story.

So let's make ourselves a cup of coffee, sit back in our armchairs, and find out what happens when Poseidon—King of the Sea and a self-proclaimed "race realist"—decides that he's finally had enough of these colored people trying to plunder Europe.

ABC News:

A smuggling boat sank Saturday off a Greek island, killing at least 16 migrants including children, and a search-and-rescue operation was underway to find two others believed missing.

The wooden boat was believed to have been carrying around 21 people when it sank for reasons that were not immediately clear off the coast of the eastern Aegean island of Agathonisi, the Greek coast guard said. Three people—two women and one man—managed to swim to the island and alert authorities.

Despite a two-year deal between the European Union and Turkey designed to stop migrants and refugees from pouring into Europe from the Turkish coast to nearby Greek islands, dozens and sometimes hundreds of people still make the journey each week. Most cross in rickety inflatable boats or other unseaworthy vessels.

Hold on, folks—we're not done yet!

The Daily Stormer is honored to present you with an EXCLUSIVE interview with the man himself, King Poseidon, who was gracious enough to swim to the coast of Nigeria to explain his actions to us!

A transcript of the interview follows.

Author: Poseidon, thank you for taking time from your schedule—a very busy schedule, by the looks of it—to speak with me for a few moments.

Poseidon: It's a pleasure, son. What would you like to know?

Author: Well, I'd like to know what happened. What finally caused you to snap and drown these neurosurgeons of color?

Poseidon: Ah, I was just getting sick of it, really. All the other gods just expect me to sit back while my beloved seas are fouled by these worthless sand niggers, and—wait, can I say that word?

Author: Niggers? Yeah, it's fine.

Poseidon: Are you sure?

Author: Yes, go on.

Poseidon: —and I just decided to teach them a lesson, really. If I drown their boats, maybe the rest of 'em won't be so keen to try and break into Europe in the future.

Author: According to the news article, children also drowned in the sea. Doesn't that make you feel bad? Don't you remember beach boy?

Poseidon: Well, here's the thing. The media says they were children, but all of them had beards.

Author: Beards?

Poseidon: Mmm-hmm.

Author: So they were adult children?

Poseidon: Children above the age of 30, that's for sure. Not that I'd care if they were actual children, of course. I mean, the only good invader is a drowned one, right?

Author: Amen to that.

We raise our glasses of wine to each other and then drink from them.

Author: So, before we finish up, please tell me what the future holds for you.

Poseidon: I'm not going to lie: I've sunk one boat and I've developed a taste for it. Expect far more “mysterious” sinkings over the next few months!

Author: You, sir, are a gentleman and a scholar.

Poseidon: Thank you, son.

Poseidon says his farewells and starts swimming toward the horizon. Before disappearing from view, however, he turns to me one last time and, with the confidence only a god can conjure, delivers an epic Roman salute in my direction.

Poseidon: Hail victory!

I return the salute.

Author: Hail victory, indeed!
End of transcript.

Coward Judge Fails to Patrol Teenage Thot for Sexting Crimes

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 18, 2018

No wonder these thots are running amok. Ya'll cowards don't even patrol em'.

We have a skank epidemic in this country, and yet the authorities do nothing, letting them destroy society willy-nilly with their thothery.

For once, one of these skanks was caught red-handed engaging in wanton slut-behavior, and was about to get what was coming to her: the full force of the law.

But the damn judge bitched out at the last minute, preferring to engage in boomer-tier white knighting instead.

Sigh.

Twin Cities Press:

A southern Minnesota judge dismissed a child pornography charge against a 14-year-old girl who sent an explicit image of herself to a boy over Snapchat, saying that using the state's child pornography statute to prosecute the girl produces “an absurd” result.

The American Civil Liberties Union of Minnesota made a redacted version of the decision public Friday, saying the ruling by Rice County District Judge John Cajacob sends a message that prosecuting teens for sending explicit images of themselves isn't the intent of Minnesota's child pornography law.

"Isn't the intent of the law?"

Wew.

I haven't seen a boomer smile like that since Woodstock!

Who the hell cares what the "intent of the law" is, whatever that means.

We need more thots on the sex-offender registry—and preferably, in jail—if we're ever going to get these sluts under control. Until there's a law for putting girls who send pictures of their junk on snapchat in a scold's bridle, we need to be using whatever works.

According to court documents, the girl, who is not being identified because of her age, sent an image to a boy last fall and it was saved and shared with others. After a classmate reported it to police, prosecutors charged the girl with one count of felony dissemination of pornographic work.

THOTS TO PRISON!

Thot = patrolled. Chad approves.

In his Feb. 20 ruling, Cajacob wrote that Minnesota's child pornography statute is designed to protect children from victimization, and that using it to punish the girl for sending explicit images of herself "produces an absurd, unreasonable, and unjust result that utterly confounds the stated purpose of the statute."

Punishing skanks for being skanks is "absurd, unreasonable and unjust?"

Are you fucking kidding me?
What kind of faggotry is this?

Laughs boomerishly

We need a complete shutdown of boomers and white knights in the judiciary until we can figure out what's going on.

Defense attorney John Hamer said he was thrilled the judge ended "the unabashed state-sponsored victim-shaming the prosecution engaged in." A message left with the Rice County attorney wasn't immediately returned Friday.

>Implying the skank was the victim here.

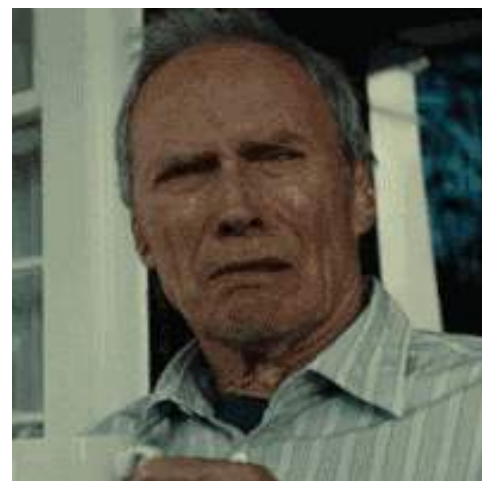

No, you retard.

The victim is civilization itself. And, to a lesser extent, the young guys who have to deal with these sluts.

Cajacob also wrote that the severe penalties if convicted—including a mandatory 10 years on the sex offender registry—suggest the statute targets adults who abuse children, not teens who sext each other. He said it's absurd when a teen who sends a picture to another teen is punished as harshly as an adult who films himself performing sex acts with a minor.

I agree. Pedophiles should just be shot—after a fair trial, of course. But 10 years on the sex-offender registry for being an Instagram whore sounds about right.

"The punishment is vastly disproportionate to this girl's 'crime,'" Cajacob wrote. "This Court cannot see how subjecting (the girl) to registering as a sexual offender would protect her or teach her anything but that the justice system is cruel and unjust. The idea that heavy-handed enforcement of pornography laws is going to help these misguided, struggling teens is itself absurd."

This white-knight cuckoldry is making me physically sick.

If this is the level of human material we've got protecting our civilization, we're going to need a major overhaul.

We need a new breed of judges.

"Instagram whore? 5 years in the iso-cube."

Jews Defend Moslem Call to Prayer in Sweden

Diversity Macht Frei
March 18, 2018

Same old story. Europeans try to defend themselves against Islam. Jews step forward and side with the Muslims. It's almost as if these people were engaged in some kind of conspiracy against us.

An issue has blown up in Sweden about whether Muslim calls to prayer should be banned.

According to an opinion poll, 60% of all Swedes and 96% of Sweden Democrats favour a ban.

But here come the Jews to defend their Muslim brothers.

The head of one of Sweden's leading Jewish organizations says that indiscriminately preventing Mosques from holding calls to prayer would damage integration in the country.

Debate about the subject is starting to gather pace in Sweden after the leader of the Christian Democrats instructed local politicians to vote against allowing mosques to hold calls to prayer, following a request from a mosque in Växjö for a permit to do so. The leader of the Moderates has also expressed his scepticism.

Aron Verständig, chairperson of organization the Stockholm Jewish Community thinks the debate is misplaced, and has compared it to the way Jews were treated in Sweden in the 1700s, where there was hysteria over Jewish immigrants bringing instability to the country due to their unfamiliar customs.

"These kind of arguments have occurred throughout history. In Sweden we've always had them: people come here, then there are big demands placed on them in order to fit in, and that's not something that helps integration," he told The Local after writing an opinion piece in the Dagens Nyheter newspaper.

"Rather, what helps integration is if you say to people: welcome to Sweden, here are the laws we have, everyone must follow them regardless, but beyond that, it makes no difference if you're a Muslim, you're a Christian, you're a Jew, whatever your religion is. I believe in that approach."

Strangely, Aron Verständig's respect for freedom of belief does not appear to extend to Swedish patriots. Last year he campaigned to have Nordfront banned from marching through Gothenburg.

Africa Comes to Madrid

Diversity Macht Frei
March 18, 2018

On Friday night, an African died of a heart attack in a street in Madrid. One hour later, negroes started protesting. Here you hear them shouting "La policía mata" [The police kill].

Video Link

Soon the protests turned to riots and destruction.

Video Link

The story at first was that the dead negro was an illegal street seller being chased by the police when he died. Later the narrative fell apart.

First he wasn't being chased.

An eyewitness to Mbaye's death said that he was not being chased. Manuel, a 20-year-old resident of Oso street who declined to provide his last name, said he heard sounds at around 5pm on Thursday and stepped out on the balcony of his third-floor apartment. Looking down, he saw a man walking by himself who suddenly dropped to the ground.

"When he collapsed, there was nobody chasing him," said Manuel.

Second, he wasn't a street seller.

"He was not a street vendor. Nobody said anything about that, and there was no merchandise anywhere in the vicinity," said these sources.

Third, the police were trying to help him.

While the health workers attempted to revive the man, dozens of African men gathered around and began verbally harassing the law enforcement officers. A rumor then began circulating that a street vendor had just died after being chased by the police.

This false rumor was quickly propagated via social media. A few Senegalese migrant support organizations asked for calm, but anti-establishment and far-left groups quickly picked up on the chance to cause a public disturbance, said sources briefed on the matter. Individuals began arriving in the area from other parts of the city and started ripping up pavement stones, knocking over waste containers, vandalizing banks and lighting bonfires.

At 8.50pm, when the dead man's body was taken to the Forensic Institute, a large group of people blocked the hearse and set up street barricades.

Source

So what are we left with? A purely random event occurs. A negro drops dead of a heart attack. His racial kinfolk then immediately start rioting and destroying the property of the people whose country they have illegally imposed themselves upon.

The episode illustrates why diversity can never work. Racially diverse people don't trust one other and don't empathise with one other. In that context, even random events can provoke conflict.

Here you see the negroes marching down a street, systematically smashing the windshield of every car.

Trump Attacks Shitback McNopension, Calls for End to Mueller Hoax Probe

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 18, 2018

Andrew McCabe FIRED, a great day for the hard working men and women of the FBI—A great day for Democracy. Sanctimonious James Comey was his boss and made McCabe look like a choirboy. He knew all about the lies and corruption going on at the highest levels of the FBI!

— Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) March 17, 2018

Well, well, well.

This is all wrapping up nicely.

Actually not that nicely, it took like two years and it was insane and the wrap-up will be drawn out and convoluted...but at least it is wrapping up.

Washinton Post:

President Trump escalated his assault on federal law enforcement agencies Saturday while one of his attorneys argued that the controversial firing of a top FBI official was reason to end the Justice Department special counsel's expansive Russia investigation.

After Attorney General Jeff Sessions acted late Friday night on Trump's publicly stated wishes to fire former FBI deputy director Andrew McCabe— just hours before he was set to retire with full benefits—the president celebrated the ouster as a triumph that exposed “tremendous leaking, lying and corruption” throughout law enforcement.

The move emboldened McCabe, who said in a public statement that his dismissal was a deliberate effort to slander him and part of an “ongoing war” against the FBI and special counsel Robert S. Mueller III's probe of Russian interference in the 2016 elections.

Like former FBI director James B. Comey, who was fired by Trump last year, McCabe kept contemporaneous memos detailing his fraught conversations with the president, according to two people familiar with the records. The danger for Trump is that those memos could help corroborate McCabe's witness testimony and become damaging evidence in Mueller's investigation of whether Trump has sought to obstruct justice.

McCabe was right at the center of this conspiracy. He's in the Strzok and Page texts as being the planner of the “secret society” with the contingency plan to destroy Trump after the election if he happened to win.

And that was this Russian hoax. We know that for a fact: the entire thing was a planned sabotage by Democrat insiders in the FBI.

As the House Intelligence Committee has concluded, there was no collusion between Russia and the Trump Campaign. As many are now finding out, however, there was tremendous leaking, lying and corruption at the highest levels of the FBI, Justice & State. #DrainTheSwamp

— Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) March 17, 2018

The Fake News is beside themselves that McCabe was caught, called out and fired. How many hundreds of thousands of dollars was given to wife's campaign by Crooked H friend, Terry M, who was also under investigation? How many lies? How many leaks? Comey knew it all, and much more!

— Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) March 17, 2018

Time to shut it down.

McCabe's firing—coupled with the comments from Trump and his personal attorney, John Dowd on Saturday—marked an extraordinary acceleration of the battle between the president and the special counsel, whose probe Trump has long dismissed as a politically motivated witch hunt.

Dowd said in a Saturday morning statement, “I pray that Acting Attorney General Rosenstein will follow the brilliant and courageous example of the FBI Office of Professional Responsibility and Attorney General Jeff Sessions and bring an end to alleged Russia Collusion investigation manufactured by McCabe's boss James Comey based upon a fraudulent and corrupt Dossier."

The House Intelligence Committee has shut it down already.
The jig is up, Mueller.

Student Beaten by Mob During Gun Walkout for Waving a Trump Flag – Arm Broken in Two Places

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 17, 2018

You know, you almost have to wonder if there was some kind of...racial element to this.

Fox News:

A student at a Minneapolis high school was assaulted by a mob of students after he carried a pro-Trump flag during the National School Walkout on Wednesday, police said.

The attack took place while students at Southwest High School were supposed to be observing a moment of silence to commemorate the 17 students and teachers who died in the Parkland, Fla. shooting last month, WCCO reported.

Police said the student was waving a flag in support of President Trump when he was ambushed by at least eight classmates. The mob forcefully took the "Trump" flag from the student and damaged a camera he was carrying. While it was previously reported he sustained minor injuries, a family friend told Fox News he was taken to urgent care because his arm was broken in two places.

Police report that a school resource officer was able to stop the attack. The family friend disputes that, saying it was a student council leader who stopped the fight.

There have been no arrests against any of the students involved as police continue to investigate what happened.

Minneapolis Public Schools officials told Fox News in a lengthy statement that, due to state law, they are "prohibited from sharing details of the brief fight that occurred on March 14 across the street and off school property."

So I'm just going to go ahead and wager this was blacks attacking a white kid. Maybe Somalians.

Minneapolis is an actual zoo.

I assume they were shouting racial slurs during the attack. This has now become standard. We may never find out, as identities of those under-18 are protected, generally. It would be nice if the kid came out and was like "yeah, niggers again—big surprise, huh?"

Whatever the case, this is where we are at in America in 2018: teenagers are subjected to political and racial violence for supporting our president.

The filthy kike media is claiming that students were punished across the country for engaging in this Jew-organized "gun control walkout" media scam.

The student in that story is a homosexual-looking Jew named Wylie Greer. Both homosexuals and Jews are well-known hoaxsters.

His kike mother is out there claiming this happened.

My kid and two other students walked out of their rural, very conservative, public school for 17 minutes today. They were given two punishment options. They chose corporal punishment. This generation is not playing around. #walkout

— Jerusalem Greer (@Jerusalem-Greer) March 14, 2018

Notice that the headline is "student says"; the school has not confirmed it happened.

What is confirmed to have happened is that in Ohio, a student was suspended for refusing to participate in the march or the anti-march option.

AP:

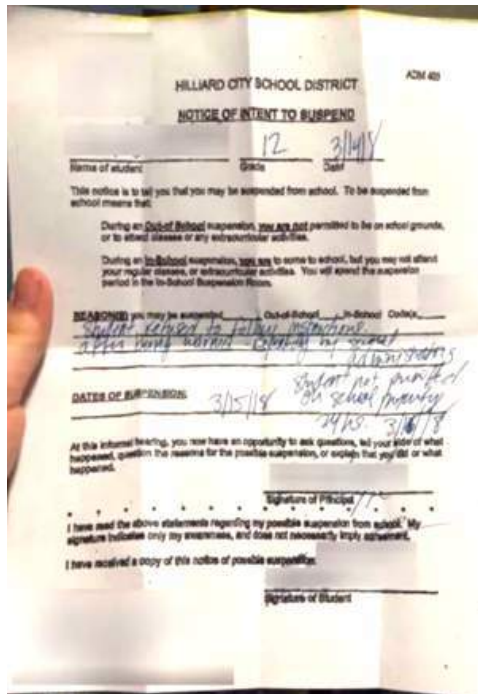

An Ohio high school student says he tried to remain nonpolitical during school walkouts over gun violence and was suspended for a day because he stayed in a classroom instead of joining protests or the alternative, a study hall.

Hilliard senior Jacob Shoemaker says school isn't the place for politics, and he wasn't taking sides Wednesday.

The district says it's responsible for students' safety and they can't be unsupervised.

Jacob's citation for not following instructions was shared online by a friend, prompting a flood of messages to his father.

Here's the paperwork on that.

Using high schoolers as political tools has certainly upped the ante, but I'm not sure this benefits the kike gun-grabbers at all.

It is such naked emotional manipulation. Because obviously, no one thinks that like, high school students have relevant political beliefs, so the obvious and only potential purpose of it is to emotionally manipulate.

And people are really getting fed-up with that sort of thing.

"Hebrew Fatigue" is what that is called.

For Sure Part Two of Di Black Panther Go Come!

Good news, fellow Wakan-daphiles!

Due to the phenomenal success of Black Panther—a documentary about an advanced, real-life African nation that black people concealed from white people to stop them from culturally appropriating it—it looks as though we're going to be getting a sequel!

BBC News:

Di oga of Marvel Studios, Kevin Feige, wey produce di popular Black Panther film, don confirm say, for sure part two of di blockbuster go come.

Kevin Fiege, right.

Many pipo don hail di film say e represent black pipo well-well and say e no be like di oda superhero film dem wey Hollywood don do.

Na normal thing for Hollywood, say if film make plenty money for di first one, dem go find way to do di second one, just like how we don see for film like "The Matrix" and "Scary Movies".

I've watched the Black Panther movie via 100% legal means and can confirm that it does indeed represent black pipo well-well. White pipo no well-well, no, but black pipo—well.

It's also true that many pipo don hail di film. While some journalists—usually racists writing for White Supremacist websites—claimed that review aggregate sites like Rotten Tomatoes deleted negative feedback of the movie to inflate its score, that was later proven to be an anti-Semitic canard.

Not much is known about Black Panther 2 right now, but one thing's for sure: we're going to be heading back to Wakanda, and it's going to be glorious!

IHOP Apologizes, Retrains Staff After Waitress Asks a Group of Blacks to Pay Upfront

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
March 17, 2018

If you've ever worked in the service industry, you'll know that blacks are the most ungrateful, entitled and downright unpleasant customers imaginable.

They're loud and obnoxious, make unreasonable demands of staff, return food for the pettiest of reasons, transform their tables into war zones and seem to believe that $0 is an acceptable tip for a $60 meal.

Or 20 cents, in the case of multi-millionaire handdeggers.

This trend is so persistent that the US service industry developed a code word for black customers: "Canadians."

If a bunch of Canadians enter the establishment, waiters are going to fight not to serve them.

If a waiter arrives late that morning, his punishment will be severe: having to deal with the Canadians on table 5.

If a waitress barges into the manager's office, screaming "I can't deal with this shit anymore" while sobbing uncontrollably, the manager knows why: a day of dealing with those moose-loving, maple syrup-eating Canadians.

Even the libtards on Reddit bitch about them:

One of my friends was a manager at a corporate restaurant. Their servers all put a few bucks into a "Canadian fund" every shift, which was awarded to the server who suffered the most underpinning that shift. "Canadians" are also notorious for complaining about something in order to get their meal comped. It was so commonplace at his restaurant that they recorded the expense as "repairs".

However, some establishments—such as the International House of Primates—are such potent nigger magnets that mere code words don't cut it anymore. There, you need to resort to more aggressive means when dealing with blacks, such as getting them to pay upfront.

But that kinda makes you racist, doesn't it?

ABC News:

The IHOP restaurant chain will close a Maine franchise Thursday for a day of staff retraining after a waitress there asked a group of black teenagers to pay for their meals upfront, the company said.

"IHOP and our franchisees have zero tolerance for actions that are or allude to discrimination of any type," company president Darren Rebelez said in a statement.

"The franchisee of this location is working to contact the affected guests directly to apologize for this incident and are taking appropriate disciplinary actions in line with their HR policies."

Melvin Escobar, who manages the Auburn, Maine, location, said it has encountered teenagers in the past who ate without paying for their meals, The Associated Press reported.

But that's no excuse for asking anyone to pay first, Escobar told the AP, adding "this is the first time it happened, and that will be the last time."

Rebelez, the IHOP president, echoed that sentiment, saying in his statement, "this isolated incident is not reflective of that ongoing commitment" to "create a warm and hospitable dining experience for all guests."

This is absurd from both a moral and business perspective.

The waitress who triggered this incident had obviously dealt with groups of blacks before, so she preempted a possible theft by charging them upfront—as any sane person would do.

Instead of being rewarded with a discreet pat on the back for exercising caution, however, management closed the restaurant for an entire day to give everyone sensitivity training.

In other words, IHOP forfeited a day of profits to punish a woman who was preventing the company from losing profits...all to avoid accusations of racism.

What's wrong with paying for a meal upfront, anyway?

I doubt I'm the only person who has issues with the conventional etiquette associated with dining out. You beckon the waiter for the bill, he brings it to you and walks away; eventually he comes back and notices you're paying by card, so he leaves again to retrieve the card machine...it's so drawn-out and inefficient.

Those Canadians should be grateful for receiving such a speedy service.

Editor's note:

IHOP is not a bad call on cheat day, frens.

But don't make a thing of it otherwise.

Also, on cheat day, be careful because these IHOPs are filled with niggers.

Senate Candidate Proposes SHOTGUN HOBO ARMY To Fight Crime

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 17, 2018

About damn time we do something about this crime problem.

We've got a huge crime problem in America. Minorities are slaughtering our people in the streets, raping our women and dealing drugs that kill our kids. And no one is doing anything about it.

But that's about to change.

The Guardian:

A Michigan candidate for US Senate has proposed arming homeless people with pump-action shotguns in an effort to reduce crime.

Brian Ellison, who is running against Democratic incumbent Debbie Stabenow, says homeless people are "constantly victims of violent crime" and providing them with firearms would provide a deterrent.

This is possibly the best idea I've ever heard.

Giving the homeless shotguns has a proven track record of success in tackling both crime and corruption.

It also worked out pretty well against demons in that movie.

We need to build a hobo army.

Hobos are already on the streets 24/7, observing everything that happens. We just need to give them guns and a license to kill criminals and America will be cleaned up in no time.

Ellison, a Libertarian who is expected to be the party's candidate in the November midterm election, said he had settled on pump-action shotguns for practicality purposes.

You can say that again.

By the way, don't look at the above GIF unless you're above 13, please. Just take my word for it that it's awesome.

"Frankly I think the ideal weapon would be a pistol," he told the Guardian, "but due to the licensing requirements in the state we're going to have a hard enough time getting homeless people shotguns as it is.

"Getting them pistols is probably next to impossible. The pistols need to be registered, people have to have addresses."

Yeah, I mean, I guess a pistol would be okay...As long as it fires shotgun shells.

Law and order—one shell at a time.

Carrying a concealed pistol is illegal without a permit, Ellison said, "whereas open-carrying a long gun is completely legal".

"So we thought that pump-action shotguns were a suitable alternative to a pistol."

I like how the whole discussion is about which gun to give to our GLORIOUS HOMELESS ARMY. The whole concept is so self-evident that only implementation details really need to be ironed out.

Ellison, a former soldier who has served in Iraq, said he decided to run for office "just to try and make a difference". As well as the shotgun plan, he would focus on minority rights and said he would oppose foreign military intervention.

Regarding the pump-action shotguns, Ellison said he and his team would aim to "pre-qualify" homeless people who wanted shotguns and were deemed suitable candidates to own them.

Yeah, you definitely need to pre-qualify these people. After all, some homeless people are part of the “problem” themselves:

No shotgun for you, darkie. The dog can have one though.

This is part of a new wave of politicians, who have real solutions to real problem.

And arming hordes of hobos to sweep the streets, enacting justice for the people, is about the most obvious solution I can think of to make America great again.

If you live in Michigan, you know who you should be voting for.

Oxford University's Philosophy Department Wants to “Feminize” Reading Lists to Attract More Female Students

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
March 17, 2018

I'm having a hard time thinking of a single good female philosopher right now.

I mean, I'm not ignorant on the subject. I've read books on philosophy—or at least I used to, before modern technology ruined my ability to focus on the printed page for longer than 30 seconds.

But this is tough.

Hmm...was Ayn Rand a philosopher? I guess she was, but it'll be a hot day in Helheim before I recognize a nation-wrecking Jewess as a pillar of literary wisdom.

Oooooo: Hypatia! She was bretty gud. And super philosophical.

Yes, that's definitely one for the women's team. Well done, girls.

continues thinking

Okay, that's all I've got for now. However, I can only assume that there are loads of other amazing female philosophers out there. After all, how else could Oxford University “feminize” its philosophy department's reading list by a whopping 40%?

Daily Mail:

Oxford University will “feminise” its philosophy curriculum in order to appeal to more female students and boost writers profiles.

The university's Faculty of Philosophy requested that 40 per cent of the recommended authors on its reading lists are women.

Academic staff have also been asked to use writers' first names when compiling reading lists instead of their initials, in order to highlight those that were written by women.

It aims to increase the appeal of philosophy to female students, according to the Daily Telegraph.

As part of the changes, the university is also introducing an undergraduate paper on feminist philosophy and has appointed new academics to teach it.

Professor Edward Harcourt, who was the chairman of Oxford University's philosophy faculty board until recently, said the new course is being introduced “partly just because it's interesting, and partly to raise the profile and status of feminist philosophy at Oxford”.

He told the newspaper that he hoped that it would “send the message to our female students that philosophy is for you”.

He added: “We are delighted to be raising the status of feminist philosophy at Oxford by our new appointments in the area.” Professor Paul Lodge, the incoming director of undergraduate studies for philosophy, is said to have organised the reading list.

So, the philosophy department is doing this to bring in more female students.

It's one thing to add more female philosophers to the reading lists. That's stupid, of course, because those philosophers will be vastly inferior to the male ones, but it wouldn't impact the success rate of a department whose students remain overwhelmingly white male.

But compromising the curriculum to fill the department with female students—feminists, basically—is insane. What could be the possible outcomes of that goal, other than to reduce the global rankings of the department and to tarnish the reputation of Britain's second greatest university?

It's all so dysgenic.

I blame the Hebrews.

Invasive Kikes Hit with Attack Car in Palestine – Two IDF Soldiers Dead!

Daily Stormer
March 17, 2018

He must have been going fast. Wew.

“Woe unto the innocent kikes, who through all of history never did anything wrong ever, but that everyone was to hate them for no reason at all.”

NBC News:

A Palestinian motorist rammed and killed two Israeli soldiers and wounded two others in the occupied West Bank on Friday, the Israeli military said.

A spokesman for the Israel's Shin Bet security agency said that the attack was carried out by Alaa Rateb Aa-Latif Kabha, 26, who had been released from an Israeli jail in April 2017. Kabha was captured by security forces.

Here's an interesting bit: Jews who die in the West Bank are basically playing the role of suicide bomber. It's just that they are randomly chosen.

But understand: the Jews who go to live in these so-called “settlements” illegally within Palestinian territory, as well as the soldiers who go there to protect these settlements, know that some of them will die, and they know that their deaths will give an excuse to build more colonies.

So it's a sort of “politically-driven suicide lottery.”

California Appoints Illegal Beaner to State Office

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 17, 2018

Exactly the kind of person we need in our government: a foreign agent.

In an ideal world, everyone working for the state should be a staunch patriot with a strong sense of duty towards their country and a desire to make it a better place.

And California seems to be moving in this direction.

The only little problem is that they forgot one crucial aspect: the patriotism should be directed towards America, not some foreign state.

Oh well, I'm sure they'll get to that eventually.

Breitbart:

California has its first illegal alien in state office, after Senate President pro Tem Kevin de León (D-Los Angeles) appointed Lizbeth Mateo to the California Student Opportunity and Access Program Project Grant Advisory Committee.

Mateo, an attorney, was born in Mexico and came to the U.S. illegally at the age of 14 with her parents, who are also illegal aliens, according to the Sacramento Bee.

She complained that illegal aliens are not adequately represented in state government, and described her appointment as a step towards correcting that alleged injustice.

Yeah, why not have a senate fully staffed by illegal immigrants while we're at it? Then we'll really be getting things done.

That's the ticket.

“While undocumented students have become more visible in our state, they remain underrepresented in places where decisions that affect them are being made,” Mateo said, as quoted by Fox News.

De León, who is running for U.S. Senate against incumbent Sen. Diane Feinstein (D-CA), described Mateo as: “a courageous, determined and intelligent young woman who at great personal risk has dedicated herself to fight for those seeking their rightful place in this country,” according to Fox News.

Mateo, however, seems somewhat confused about which country she prefers.

In a Facebook post in 2016, apparently celebrating her graduation from Santa Clara University School of Law, Mateo declared, in Spanish:

"[E]verything is dedicated to Oaxaca, Mexico!! to that land that I miss so much."

Really makes you think...

At this point, California is basically under enemy occupation. Trump would be fully justified in sending in the military to reclaim the state and force out the foreign occupiers.

I mean, you literally have non-citizens running the government, making policies that favor these foreigners over the native inhabitants. This is nuts. How is this even legal?

We need the military in California NOW.

DeAndre Harris, Charlottesville Flashlight Attacker and GoFundMe Hoaxer, Acquitted of Assault Charges

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 16, 2018

DeAndre Harris was, like most of the leftist "protesters" in Charlottesville last August, a violent terrorist who came to town to hurt people.

There's a lot of footage of DeAndre, but here's the definitive clip—him hitting Harold Crews in the head with a flashlight while another nigger is stealing his flag.

Video Link

But of course, in Charlottesville, Virginia, blacks walk free while whites rot in jail for imaginary crimes.

Harris attacked multiple people, and when they fought back, defending themselves, they were declared the aggressors and DeAndre did a GoFundMe asking guilty whites for free money because he got beat up. He was given almost $200,000, which he used to buy a Mercedes and make rap music videos.

Washington Post:

A black man brutally beaten at last year's white supremacist "Unite the Right" rally in Charlottesville—and who was later charged with assaulting a white nationalist—was acquitted Friday.

DeAndre Harris, 20, a former special education instructional assistant, was found not guilty by Charlottesville General District Court Judge Robert Downer Jr. on a misdemeanor charge of assault and battery against Harold Crews, a North Carolina attorney and state chairman of The League of the South. If Harris had been convicted, he would have faced up to 12 months in jail and a $2,500 fine.

The acquittal is a relief for Harris, who was viciously beaten inside a parking garage next to the city's police department on Aug. 12, 2017. He suffered a spinal injury and head lacerations that required 10 stitches.

You know if a guy goes around beating people he doesn't know with flashlights because of their race, it seems like he shouldn't really be all that surprised if he gets his ass kicked.

But he was, because he wasn't aware that white people even had the ability to fight back.

Two months later, his legal path took an unexpected turn when Crews filed a police report and then persuaded a Charlottesville magistrate to issue an arrest warrant in October on a felony charge of unlawful wounding, which carries a five-year maximum sentence. The news was cheered online by white nationalists.

Before issuing his ruling Friday, Downer warned the crowd to "restrain" their emotions. As he spoke, it was unclear how he would rule, and many attendees—nearly all of them Harris supporters—looked worried.

The judge also condemned both the white supremacists and the counterprotesters.

"The behavior I've seen is appalling," he said. "I can say this without question—that there was bad behavior all around."

He also defended Crews. "I didn't see that he did anything wrong that day at all."

In the end, the judge declared Harris not guilty because he did not intend to hit Crews and was trying to defend his friend.

"I cannot find beyond a reasonable doubt that [Harris] intended to hit Mr. Crews with [the flashlight]."

Oh come on now, bro.

Did you see the clip?

He smashed him right in the head with it.

And why was he carrying a flashlight in the first place???

He also had a baseball bat!

The judge should have had the integrity to just say "I'm not going to punish this man for this attack because he's black."

After he said the words "not guilty" the audience erupted. They considered Harris the only real victim what happened that day.

Video of Harris's beating tore through the Internet. The sheer ferocity of the assault heightened the public outcry over the rally that also included the death of 32-year-old Heather Heyer, a counterprotester who was allegedly run over by white supremacist, James Alex Fields Jr., 20. The rally was organized by white nationalists to oppose the removal of a Robert E. Lee statue from Emancipation Park.

That is also fake and we have footage of it—Heyer fell on the ground and had a heart attack, having never been touched by Fields' car. Everyone knows that, the footage has been on the internet for months with Heyer identified, and her mother has said in interviews that she died of a heart attack.

She was morbidly obese.

But the media just keeps reporting that she was hit by a car.

Will they convict Fields despite evidence in the way they are letting Harris off despite evidence?

Probably.

Miami: Pedestrian Bridge Collapses, At Least Six Dead [UPDATE: Feminist, Affirmative Action Construction]

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 16, 2018

UPDATE:

This is the best thing ever.

This was an affirmative action bridge with all female engineers.

I have never in my life heard of a feminist bridge, but I guess if I had thought about it, I would have known such bridges existed and assumed they would fall down.

White male privilege is being able to build a bridge and having it not fall down.

In a previous time, it would be only us talking about this. But I have a feeling our friend Tuckah might have a segment on this for us tonight.

Original article follows.

Video Link

So, this is America.

Bridges fall down in America. In 2018, a country that put men on the moon 50 years ago can't even keep a bridge from collapsing.

This is not normal. That is a very large structure. There is absolutely zero reason that a modern country should have things like this going on.

We are a nation that is moving backwards. This is obvious in the sense of morally and socially, of course, but that moral and social backwardness is also leading to an economic, technological and structural decline.

This is what Jews do. They are a virus. They weaken you, fundamentally.

NBC News:

The death toll from the Miami bridge collapse has risen to at least six, officials said early Friday, as engineers and homicide investigators carefully picked through the dangerous scene in search for possible victims and evidence as to what went wrong.

Multiple vehicles were crushed when the bridge came down near Florida International University's campus at around 1:30 p.m. on Thursday. Workers were also on the structure at the time, according to Miami-Dade County Fire Rescue.

Officials said early Friday that personnel had arrived at the site from the FBI, NTSB, and OSHA, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

Fire officials have relinquished the lead of the investigation and handed it over to police, Det. Alvaro Zabaleta, a spokesman for the Miami-Dade Police Department, told reporters during a 5 a.m. briefing.

"This has now turned from a rescue to a recovery operation," he said. "We've been working throughout the entire night."

Homicide detectives were working alongside engineers, both to try to find more victims but also to uncover evidence relevant to the investigation about what happened to the structure.

"Engineers told us last night it's got to be done very carefully," Zabaleta said. "Not only because of the fact that we have to preserve evidence, no only because of the fact that there may be possible victims under there and we have to treat it very delicately, but because of the safety of the rescuers as well, because of the unstableness of the bridge."

He described the structure as "very fragile."

Nine injured people were transported to the hospital and another person is believed to have gone there themselves, the detective said. One of the six people killed, one died while in hospital, he said.

He added that the death toll could rise.

This is simply cartoonish. Bridges just falling down.

We need to get it together here, people.

We're turning into a third world country.

President Trump Wants to Combat Internet Piracy

President Trump is about to make a big mistake. He's about to get the internet mad at him.

Fox Business:

President Donald Trump is crafting a way to combat intellectual property theft by China and protect U.S. shows such as HBO's "Game of Thrones" from being pirated online.

The HBO hit series has taken the crown as the most pirated TV show on the internet for the sixth year in a row. According to the Motion Picture Association of America, 90% of the viewership of U.S. movies in China is illegal.

The National Bureau of Asian Research puts the cost of Chinese intellectual property theft to the U.S. economy as high as $600 billion annually.

One entertainment industry insider says Chinese theft of U.S. entertainment properties must be stopped.

"This is a big ongoing problem and issue for Hollywood. We do the money, we do creativity and they rip us off and Trump should go after them on this one," Fox News' "In the Foxlight" host Michael Tammero said.

Look. Trump is a bit of a Boomer when it comes to the cyber. Frankly, we should be thank-ing the Chinese for pirating all these shitty Hollywood films.

The faster we bankrupt Hollywood the better.

All that junk they produce and beam into the heads of the world's impressionable youth needs to be stopped. And the best way to do that is to get the massive chink market to rip off Hollywood. That's how the Jewish golem gets stopped [that and metoo lol. -ed.].

So this is one of those moments when the enemy—if you think the Chinks are our enemy—is doing us a favor.

But there is a ray of light. Seems that Donald Trump is using this to push his MAGA agenda forward.

Valliere said he expects the Trump administration to “hit them hard” with anti-China tariffs on imports that include Chinese investments and visas for students who want to study in the U.S.

“I don’t think Trump can be dissuaded. I don’t think Congress can stop him and the interesting angle is that a lot of Democrats would go along with this as well.”

Yes, please. No more chink students. There are simply too many. I get that they’re better than brown people, but please enough is enough.

BBC Finally Covers New Paki Child Trafficking Scandal – Leads with Theory That the Numbers are Exaggerated

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 16, 2018

Here is your state media. This is what they believe. The metoo campaign does not protect White girls raped by Moslems.

Breitbart:

After being accused of “ignoring” the Telford grooming gang scandal, the BBC has now run a headline on the recent revelations, claiming “victim numbers sensationalised”.

In their report, the BBC also sought to question the claims of local Tory MP Lucy Allan that victims were mainly white, working-class girls and the officer they quoted suggested white people were equally guilty of child sex crimes.

Yeah okay Sargon.

Rather than focus on the dozens of victims who have come forward, the UK’s national broadcaster instead led with the words of West Mercia Police Superintendent Tom Harding, who said the force “significantly disputed” the number of girls attacked.

BBC doing damage control for child sex trafficking gangs, eh.

“Nevermind the little girls that were drugged and gang-raped and then sold out as prostitutes—what really matters is that evil people could be exaggerating this out of hatred for the color of the skin.”

“I don’t believe Telford is any worse than lots of places across England and Wales,” the officer said after authorities were accused of failing to act, including ignoring girls found in cars with older men, giving birth at 14, and using the morning after pill many times a week.

“Without an independent inquiry, how will we know?” responded Rotherham Labour MP Sarah Champion to the officer’s claims, following calls for a report into the scandal like the one focusing on Rotherham.

The initial Police probe, Operation Chalice, identified at least 100 potential victims in Telford targeted between 2007 and 2009. Yet, just nine were jailed and the case was closed. One was convicted of murder but never charged with grooming his victim.

Then, last weekend, the Sunday Mirror published the findings of an 18-month probe, during which they obtained freedom of information requests, spoke to victims, charity workers, a local MP, and police, concluding that 1,000 girls could have been targeted over 40 years.

The victims identified 70 alleged attackers, and the paper linked five deaths to the abuse and found that girls as young as 11 years old had been targeted in the small town by men of Asian and Muslim backgrounds.

What the fuck does “grooming” even mean?

Video Link

It seems that many are confused about the definition of the word. So let me set things straight.

The term “grooming” refers to preparing someone for something. Pedos started using it though and now its basically come to mean “having sex with a child.”

But I don’t like the word. Like most Boomer words— “bullying” comes to mind—it takes away the sting and the actual essence of what is going on and cloaks it in some anachronistic language that harkens back to a better and simpler time when people used to say shit like, “gee whiz” and “shucks, howdy”. Nowadays though, saying that kind of shit will get your ass beat by niggers and spics because it shows that you’re weak.

I mean in theory, you can still use these old English words, but you need to give off a sinister vibe when you do it.

Video Link

In most cases, White people have started to adopt niggerisms in their language to toughen it up and bring it up to speed with the realities of life in the Occupied Territories.

I don't like it, but it doesn't drive me up the wall as much as Boomerisms like "grooming".

When I hear grooming, I think of an English prep school teacher making moves on a boy after school during poetry club hours. Part and parcel of classical education and all that.

But this isn't what is happening.

These Muslims are taking prisoners. They are acting as if they've conquered the UK. And now the women are there's for the taking. This isn't "grooming" —it's far far worse.

This is an occupation. And this is war rape. And the fathers and men who allow this to happen in the UK are basically admitting that they've been conquered without the enemy firing a single shot.

And the politicians and police are now the Occupation Force's satraps.

Drawn from the ranks of White Britons, they are traitors to their own people, who have allowed this rape to go on and prevented fathers from enacting justice.

Video Link

We need to continue bringing stories like these to the attention of Whites all over the White world.

The narrative is simple: this is what happens when you allow Islam a toehold in your country. This is what happens when Jews run your banks and your media. This is what happens when the boys in blue who serve the jew take away your guns.

I don't know where the UK is heading, but it is very concerning.

Despite all the right-wing propaganda, I would still probably visit France for a bit or Italy or even Germany. Hell, I'd even go to Sweden to visit some friends if I had to.

But the UK?

I don't think I'd ever willingly go there at this point. It's starting to resemble Airstrip 1.

And this isn't the fault of any of you young Britons reading this right now. The generations that came before you let you down, and now you have inherited this mess. It's going to probably take decades of struggle to make this right.

Hang in there, lads.

UK: Police Report Said Under-age Girls Consented to Being Sex-Trafficked by Islamic Immigrants

Breitbart:

Police officers investigating the Telford grooming gang scandal, possibly the largest in UK history, were sent an internal memo telling them "in most cases the sex is consensual".

The initial police probe, Operation Chalice, identified at least 100 potential victims in Telford targeted between 2007 and 2009. However, fewer than ten men were jailed despite the police admitting as many as 200 groomers may be involved.

West Mercia Police sent the memo the year after Chalice was closed, to officers investigating on-going child sexual exploitation in the force area, The Mirror reports. Officers also considered some of the young victims as prostitutes.

Commenting on the revelations, UKIP London Assembly Member David Kurten, blasted: "Telford Police memo on children consenting to abuse is despicable. The UK age of consent is 16.

"Gangs and their child abusing 'customers' that groom, rape and pimp out girls under 16 are rapists. If the police do not know this they are not fit for purpose."

But the Pakis get their own laws, no?

Tory MP: BBC Not "Standing Up for White Working Class" After Ignoring Telford Scandal
<https://t.co/YUr7Y6umma>

— Breitbart London (@BreitbartLondon) March 13, 2018

After all, in their own cultures you're allowed to have sex with 9-year-olds. So that is the cultural framework they are operating under.

Isn't it racist to tell them they can't do that here?

An 18-month probe by journalists, published last weekend, found that 1,000 girls could have been targeted over 40 years by as many as 70 groomers. They were allegedly drugged, raped, and trafficked, and five deaths have been linked to the abuse.

Some of the victims were just 11 years old, and one is known to have given birth at just 14. Speaking to The Mirror, specialist child abuse lawyer Dino Nocivelli, said: "This is victim blaming at its worst. The authorities just don't seem to get it. Children cannot agree to sex."

"Just because a child is not being physically forced to carry out sexual acts, it doesn't mean they consented."

I don't know why any of this is being presented as shocking. At the time of the Rotherham scandal, it was estimated that as many as 1,000,000 little white girls have been drugged, gang-raped and sex-trafficked as prostitutes in the UK since the Paki immigration thing started 40 or so years ago.

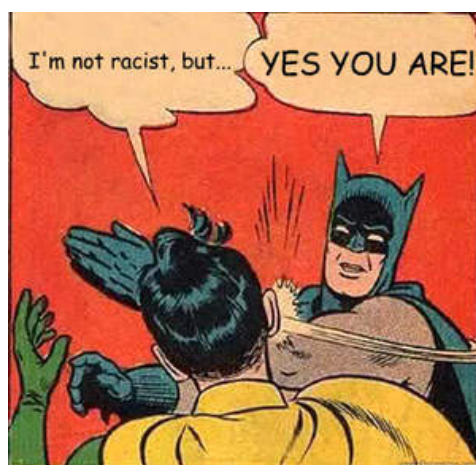

Furthermore, virtually no one from Rotherham was arrested, and we've got all of these reports saying that they're still running these child trafficking gangs there.

Clearly, Britain is okay with this.

There is no way to address it without being "racist," and they are first and foremost concerned about not being called "racist." In the minds of the average British person, allowing these Pakis to rape and traffic their little girls is a small price to pay for not being called racist by the Jews.

There is no way the Moslems are going to stop doing this. It is—and I say this non-ironically—a part of their culture. They are in the process of conquering Europe, and part of that conquest is humiliating the men by taking their women from them and using them as sex dolls.

The British are fine with it. No one is complaining about it.

So what are we even talking about? Why are we having this conversation at all?

It's already been settled, right?

Putin Declares: "Mars is Back on the Menu"

Roy Batty

Trump's been talking about going to Mars lately. This is no coincidence, we've been meme-ing it pretty hard so it only makes sense that Trump would start to respond.

But now the Kremlin has thrown its hat in the ring and says they are going to Mars in a year.

RT:

Russia is launching an ambitious series of missions to the Red Planet, starting with an unmanned Mars mission in 2019, President Vladimir Putin said in an interview.

"We are planning unmanned and later manned launches—into deep space, as part of a lunar program and for Mars exploration. The closest mission is very soon, we are planning to launch a mission to Mars in 2019," the president said in an interview shown in a new documentary by Andrey Kondrashov.

He added that the lunar exploration program would target the polar regions of the moon.

"Our specialists will try landing near the poles because there are reasons to expect water there. There is research to be done there, and from that, research of other planets and outer space can be undertaken," Putin said.

The plans for Russia's lunar program include a landing test at moons' southern pole scheduled for 2019, testing technology that can be used for a permanent lunar outpost in 2023 and a soil retrieval mission in 2025. A base on the moon may be established sometime in the 2040s or 2050s.

This is an exciting new frontier for mankind. We need to DOMINATE it.

This isn't the sort of drama I even like to report here on the Daily Stormer, but it is news and it does speak to the amount of pressure that the Trump's are presently under.

Also worthy of note is that Don's wife is half Jewish, at least according to some Jewish publications. So it isn't at all surprising that she would be dipping out.

Page Six:

Vanessa Trump filed for divorce against her husband Donald Trump Jr. late Thursday in Manhattan Supreme Court.

"After 12 years of marriage, we have decided to go our separate ways," the couple told Page Six in a joint statement. "We will always have tremendous respect for each other and our families. We have five beautiful children together and they

The reason that we are talking so much about space right now is because everyone is starting to realize that there are too many niggers on planet Earth.

So naturally, we're all making plans to move to a planet with "better schools".

Video Link

But the race to Mars is more than just Cold War space race 2.0 if you consider it from the perspective of the Alt-Right.

Think about it.

The first people to make it to Mars will get to decide the policy regarding Mars' immigration policy. If we smuggle some of our guys onto Mars, we can launch an Alt-Right coup and ban niggers and Jews from the Red Planet forever.

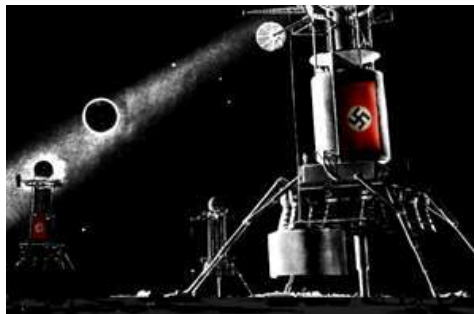

Video Link

Elon Musk is making a ship that will take colonists to Mars soon—assuming he's not a big lying fraud. And that means we need to smuggle Stormers onto the SpaceX ship.

We will dub them the Space Stormers—agents sent by the Interweb Nazis into the cosmos to conquer planets through subterfuge and guile.

Seriously though, this is an important mission for all Stormers out there.

GET YOUR ASS ON THAT SHIP BOUND FOR MARS.

Once you're in, you have to red pill the crew and eventually take control of the cockpit. The next step is to appoint a Space-Fuhrer and to make the Red Planet the Space Nazi Planet.

I suggest this flag for the Mars colony:

And if that fails, we can go for the second best prize: the Moon.

remain our top priority. We ask for your privacy during this time.”

The president’s daughter-in-law filed for an uncontested proceeding, meaning she’s not likely to fight her ex for custody of the couple’s five children or over their assets.

Legal experts say the former couple likely has a prenuptial agreement.

Vanessa and Don Jr., both 40, were married in 2005.

Page Six first reported that they were struggling with marital problems related to Don Jr.’s travels and controversial tweets.

The filing comes the same day as special counsel Robert Mueller subpoenaed President Trump’s family business, demanding that the Trump Organization release information related to Russia.

Don Jr. and his younger brother Eric Trump have been running their father’s company while he’s in office.

Nancy Chemtob, another family law expert who is not representing either party, said Vanessa could invoke spousal immunity to avoid testifying against her husband while their divorce is still pending.

Chemtob speculated that Vanessa may be filing for the split now to secure a financial settlement before the Mueller probe potentially puts her husband’s assets at risk.

Yeah, that would be the ultimate Jew move.

Regardless of the fact that she’s Jewish (on her father’s side), divorces are always a sad thing.

However, I cannot complain about having one less Jew involved in the Trump empire. I think that will be good for everyone in the country, Don in particular.

Corrupt UK Police Sic Moslems on Britain First Nationalist Leader Paul Golding

This is despicable.
The Independent:

Police are investigating reports the leader of far-right group Britain First was beaten up in prison—exactly a week after he was jailed for hate crimes.

Paul Golding, 36, was allegedly attacked by two inmates at HMP Elmley, on the Isle of Sheppey, Kent, according to sources.

The 36-year-old has now been separated from other inmates at the category C prison by being moved to another unit, PA understands.

The force said it did not confirm the identity of victims but added: "The victim is alleged to have been punched by two other inmates, causing him to suffer minor facial injuries.

"Enquiries into the incident are ongoing."

They arrested Paul Golding over HateSpeech charges. And yes, I'm writing it as "HateSpeech" now, because the UK has become

I know you don't need me to remind you, but Britons need to be careful out there.

Venezuela Rations Electricity as Country Sinks Deeper Into a Crisis That Could Have Been Prevented by True Communism

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 17, 2018

Now, that certainly looks like communism. But clearly it isn't. Because true communism has never been tried.

This isn't true communism though.

True communism truly works. But it has just never been tried, so no one knows how well it truly works.

Reuters:

Venezuela imposed electricity rationing this week in six western states, as the crisis-hit country's creaky power grid suffered from a drought that has reduced water levels in key reservoirs needed to run hydroelectric power generators.

The four-hour formal outages began on Thursday. But many residents scoffed at the announcement, wryly noting that they have been suffering far more extended blackouts during the last week.

"We have spent 14 hours without electricity today. And yesterday electricity came and went: for six hours we had no power," said Lighthia Marrero, 50, in the western state of San Cristobal, noting that her fridge had been damaged by the frequent interruptions.

Crumbling infrastructure and lack of investments have hit Venezuela's power supply for years. Now, the situation has been exacerbated by dwindling rains.

In the worst-hit western cities, business has all but ground to a halt at a time when the OPEC nation of 30 million is already suffering hyperinflation and a profound recession. Many Venezuelans are unable to eat properly on salaries of just a couple of dollars per month at the black market rate, sparking malnutrition, emigration and frequent sights of Venezuelans digging through trash or begging in front of supermarkets.

That's the thing about fake communism—everyone just starves.

when you try "true communism" just to prove capitalist pig wrong but then your entire nation fail, because communism was retarded from the start

Gotta go for the real deal, true communism. But no one ever does it. The capitalists get to them every time.

Maybelin Mendoza, a cashier at a bakery in Tachira state, said business has been further hit because points of sale stop working during blackouts—just as Venezuelans are chronically short of cash due to hyperinflation.

In the most dramatic cases, the opposition governor of Tachira state said three people, including a four-month-old, died this week because they failed to receive assistance during a power outage.

"Because of electrical failures, the machines weren't able to revive the people and they died," said Laidy Gomez.

This is why we need to implement TRUE communism in America immediately.

We do NOT want to end up like Venezuela.

Shockingly Sickening Baboon of Italy Calls for Sanctions on Dutch MEP Over Islamo-Facts

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 17, 2018

Let's compare these two individuals.

Cécile Kyenge

Marcel de Graaff

Notice anything...strange here?
That's right.

A short-haired woman vs. a long-haired man.

Voice of Europe:

Congolese-Italian Member of the European Parliament, Cécile Kyenge, wants sanctions for Dutch MEP Marcel de Graaff. According to Kyenge, de Graaff made "Islamophobic" statements during a debate in the European Parliament.

De Graaff, a member of the Dutch Freedom Party, said in a debate with Portugal's Prime Minister, António Costa, that "Uneducated people from a backward culture [Meaning Muslims] will launch Europe straight back into the Middle Ages" and the word Islam "is the definition of inequality between men and women, polygamy, child marriages and honour killings".

Kyenge has called for sanctions for De Graaff, as he spreads "Islamophobia and hatred against Muslims". "His speech is clearly based on Islamophobic rhetoric", she said.

Is the claim here that Islam doesn't include somewhat extreme gender roles, polygamy, child marriages and honor killings? Or just that you're not allowed to say that?

It's a weird line between "we are arguing that this is untrue" and "we know this is true but you're not allowed to say it."

Because like with the Holocaust, and the laws against saying it's a hoax, they are outright making the argument that they are defending facts. But with most of the laws against "incitement to racial hatred," they seem to just be saying "yeah but you can't say that tho."

It will be interesting to see if De Graaff gets charged.

Except it won't really be that interesting because we already know for a fact they will charge you for saying things that are true but which could possibly be considered mean to say out loud.

It's like when the media called me a sexist for calling Heather Heyer fat.

I'm like: yo are you saying this bitch is slim? What is this?

Russia Expels British Diplomats, Shuts British Council

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 17, 2018

Well, that escalated quickly.
RT:

The Russian Foreign Ministry said 23 UK diplomats must leave Russia in response to Britain's "provocative actions and groundless accusations" over ex-double agent Sergei Skripal's poisoning. The British Council will also be shut.

Britain's ambassador to Russia, Laurie Bristow, was summoned to the Foreign Ministry on Saturday morning, where he was informed of Moscow's response to London's claims that Russia is behind the alleged poisoning of Sergei Skripal, a former double agent, and his daughter, Yulia, on March 4 in Salisbury, UK.

The ministry issued a statement saying 23 employees of the British embassy in Moscow have been declared personae non gratae. The diplomats must leave within a week. It also announced the operation of the British Council in Russia will be ceased given its "unregulated status."

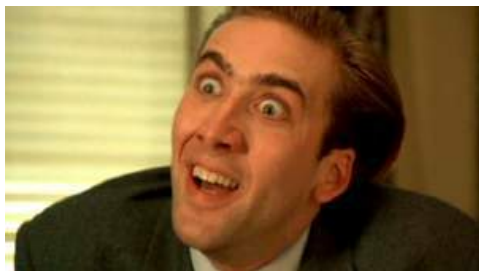

In addition, Russia is revoking its agreement on the opening and operation of the UK Consulate General in St. Petersburg due to "disparity in the number of consulate facilities of the two countries."

"The British side has been warned that in case further moves of an unfriendly nature towards Russia are implemented, the Russian side reserves the right to take other response measures," the statement added.

Moscow has repeatedly offered its full cooperation in investigating the incident, which London claims involved a Soviet-era nerve agent called Novichok. Both nations are members of the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (OPCW), which means that London is obliged to include Moscow in the investigation.

As I've said since the event took place and which Russians have themselves suggested, this event is obviously a false flag.

Because what are the chances that right when Britain is trying to escalate tensions with Moscow, they get their excuse? Certainly Russia is not trying to escalate tensions.

This is “Assad is gassing his own people”-tier hoaxery.

It's also retarded. Russia is being cleared in the alleged “election hacking” thing right now, but then it's like “oh okay so they didn't do this—but look over here at this other thing we're claiming they did!”

I think that at this point, “blame Russia” should be a suspicious political argument.

Oh and lookie here.

RT:

The “Novichok” nerve agent allegedly used in the Sergei Skripal attack likely came from a country where Russian chemists were taken after the Soviet Union collapsed to continue their research, Russia's OPCW envoy told RT.

“As for ‘Novichok,’ there was never a scientific program under such a codename in the Russian Federation,” Alexander Shulgin, Russia's permanent representative at the Organization for the Prohibition of Chemical Weapons (OPCW) said. “However, in Soviet times, research began to produce a new generation of poisonous substances. Such research was carried out not only in the USSR, but also in the US.”

As the Soviet Union collapsed in the early 1990s, foreign “special services took a group of scientists...with the research that existed since the Soviet times” out of the country so that they could go on with their studies of poisonous substances, he said.

“We know the exact countries where such work continued, achieving certain success,” Shulgin said, without naming any. “The positive results of those studies can now be found in open sources.”

“Therefore, we can assume that the source of the substance used [against Skripal] in Salisbury is concealed in one of the countries where this research continued and achieved certain success,” the Russian envoy said.

Well golly.
Ya don't say.

Nigeria: New Law to Impose Death Penalty for “Hate Speech”

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 16, 2018

I wager the nigger Jews are behind this.

Andrew Anglin, who is the world's top dissident, had to leave his homeland and relocate to the last bastion of free speech on the planet: Nigeria.

For a while, he was safe from Jewry's malevolent wrath.

However, the eye of Sauron may have caught up with him now, and Nigeria is considering implementing some new and drastic “hate speech” laws, presumably designed specifically to target him.

Can our humble publisher ever know peace? Or will the Jews hunt him down to the ends of the earth? BBC:

The Nigerian parliament is considering a bill under which anyone found guilty of “hate speech that results in the death of another person shall die by hanging upon conviction”.

Dem niggas be guilty of hate speechin', so we gun keel dey ass.

The law also seeks the establishment of an “Independent National Commission for Hate Speech”, to enforce hate speech laws across the country, including jail terms and fines.

“Hate speech” resulting in the death of someone may seem like a strict restriction, but in fact it's completely meaningless. Anyone with a blog or youtube channel with thousands of viewers, let alone a journalist writing for a mainstream publication, could easily be found “responsible” if one of their viewers kills someone.

And since Blacks kill each other constantly, you can be sure that there's no shortage of people who could be found “guilty” of influencing a killer.

While I joked that this was the doing of the Jews, in reality it's probably just that the nignogs in charge want to kill people who make fun of them or criticize them in any way.

So it'll be like, "oh, this guy killed someone, and he reads this newspaper who criticizes the government. So we'll just kill all these people for hate speech."

Honestly, this doesn't even relate to Western ideas of hate speech, they are just using that term because they've heard it before. This would be more appropriately titled the "Nigerian Kill Journalists and Radio Hosts Act of 2018."

Erm...Did I ever mention that the government of Nigeria did nothing wrong, and all of its members are great people, as well as very handsome (for niggers)? Just wanted to make that clear for any Nigerian government official reading this.

We officially support the Nigerian government, as well as any position required of us to avoid having Andrew hanged for hate speech. Whatever ethnic group the president belongs to is definitely the smartest.

This is just the latest in a number of attempts to address what appears to be a rise in hate speech across Nigeria.

T-that has nothing to do with the Stormer relocating its headquarters to Nigeria!

In a recent talk, titled, Hate Speech: Halting the Tide Before it is Too Late, the Emir of Kano, Lamido Sanusi, called for "an organised war against hate speech".

Last year, Vice-President Yemi Osinbajo likened hate speech to an act of terrorism.

"[The government has] drawn a line against hate speech," he said. "It will not be tolerated, it will be taken as an act of terrorism and all the consequences will follow."

And, while making references to the 1994 genocide in Rwanda which was fuelled by that country's media, Nigeria's Minister for Information, Lai Mohammed, said: "In Nigeria today, the hate being spewed on radio stations across the country is so alarming."

"If you tune into many radio stations, you will be shocked by the things being said, the careless incitement to violence and the level of insensitivity to the multi-religious, multi-ethnic nature of our country."

Phew. They're thinking about radio stations.

I think we're in the clear, guys.

But yeah, it's pretty hilarious how these Blacks don't even pretend that this hate speech thing is about being "nice." They went from no hate speech laws to just saying "yeah we're just gonna kill everyone who says stuff we don't like."

CLICKBAIT FRIDAY: Man Impaled with a 4-Foot Pole Through His Groin!

Eyyyyyyy.
Fox News:

Doctors in India saved a man who was impaled by a 4-foot pole that went through his groin.

Just the thought of having a 4-foot pole shoved through your junk...

But it's even worse than that.

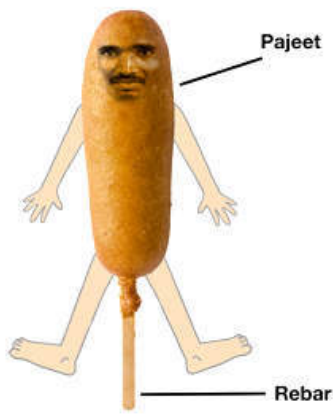

This wasn't a run-of-the-mill dick-stabbing.

This was a total corn dog situation!

Salim Sheikh was working on a construction site when he slipped and fell, and a rod pierced him through the scrotum, going through the entire length of his body and emerging out his collar bone.

When Salim initially fell 9-feet at the site and was impaled, his co-workers rushed to cut the base of the rod and got him to a nearby hospital with the rod still in him. After stabilizing the 33-year old, he was sent to Mumbai's JJ Hospital, 100 miles away, for further treatment.

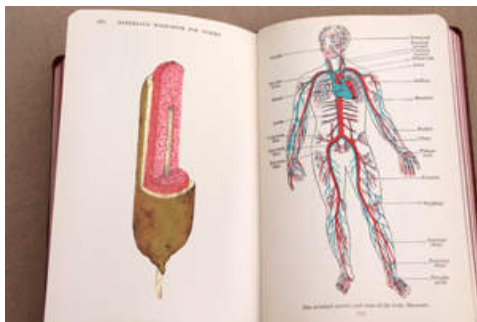

Yeah, that's one serious corn-dogging.

Released X-Ray from Mumbai's JJ Hospital.

And the dude lived!
With an Indian doctor!!!
What's going on here?!

I doubt these streetshitting sawbones referred to some highly-specialized medical textbook that showed them some advanced medical procedure to avoid ripping this brown monkey's guts out when they removed the rebar.

This is very suspicious.
So, I did a little research.
WARNING: DO NOT do a Google image search for "impaled Indian." Trust me. It's disgusting.

But, if you did, what you'd discover is that these curry-niggers are getting impaled all the time. It's like a regular thing in India.

But, it never seems to kill them. Which is very, very weird.

Something is up with these pajeets.

Apparently, their internal organs have somehow evolved to dodge rebar and stuff.

So, if any of you hard-core motherfuckers out there are thinking

Russia Expels British Diplomats in Response to Britain Expelling Russian Diplomats

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 16, 2018

Britain did this to Russia before, in 1985. That was the Cold War.

I think this situation now is significantly more serious than the Cold War, although the fact of that has not settled in yet.

Basically, everyone in the world knows that Donald Trump wants to align with Russia, and everything that happens is about keeping that from happening.

During the Cold War, there was never a threat of peaceful, mutually beneficial resolution, and that is a option that Jews simply will not tolerate.

Washington Post:

Moscow will expel British diplomats in retaliation for a similar move made by London earlier this week, Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov said Friday, without specifying how many or any other measures in the deepening crisis between the two countries.

Asked by a journalist at a press conference if Russia would kick out British diplomats, Lavrov said simply "of course, we will."

The confirmation comes as part of a delayed and still unfolding response to a variety of coordinated Western measures against Moscow following the poisoning of a former Russian spy in Britain last week. The spy, 66-year-old Sergei Skripal and his 33-year-old daughter Yulia were poisoned with a nerve agent identified by British authorities as one made only by Russia.

Russia has been coy about its potential responses since Wednesday, when British Prime Minister Theresa May announced the expulsion of 23 Russian diplomats in London believed to be part of Russia's intelligence network there. There has been much talk in Moscow of imminent and decisive responses, but so far nothing of substance has taken place.

The government has also been vague about its response to Washington's expansion of sanctions against Russian individuals believed to have played a role in alleged cyber attacks and attempts to influence the 2016 U.S. presidential election.

Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Sergei Ryabkov said Friday Moscow's would expand its own "black list" of Americans, adding that additional measures had not yet been ruled out. "Those [American] politicians are playing with fire," he said.

DS

This is a gigantic hoax, this nerve gas poisoning.

There is just no way that this was not done by some foreign intelligence agency. I said this, and then yesterday Russia itself said it: who benefits?

There's also of course the possibility that it was some other Russian living in Britain that has a beef with this guy. But even that seems very unlikely, given the timing.

"We need to escalate tensions with Russia...ah, oh good, a Russian was just poisoned on our soil, coincidentally" is very, very hard to believe.

Occam's Razor says false flag.

Jeremy Corbyn is questioning it, as is Emmanuel Macron, but Nimrata Randhawa is on board, and minutes before his firing, Rex Tillerson said he believes the hoax.

Ultimately, it's just another brick in the wall. It's not a game-changer, but just yet another step in escalation that makes a big event that will kick off a war that much more likely.

In Trump we trust.

The Official UK/Russia Spy Poisoning Drama Status Update

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 15, 2018

The UK in 2018

Shit is getting serious. The latest is a joint statement by the UK, US, Germany and France that says that Russia launched a WWII-style nerve agent attack on the UK.

RT:

A joint statement by the UK, US, France and Germany says the poisoning of ex-double agent Sergei Skripal was a violation of Britain's sovereignty by Russia and was the first offensive use of a chemical agent since World War II.

The incident, in which Sergei Skripal and his daughter Yulia were poisoned in Salisbury on March 4, involved "a military-grade nerve agent, of a type developed by Russia," said the statement issued on Thursday. The four countries said the incident constituted "the first offensive use of a nerve agent in Europe since the Second World War."

They are basically going for the whole "evil gassing Russian Nazis" narrative. It's so obvious.

The document branded the incident "an assault on UK sovereignty," adding it came in violation of the Chemical Weapons Convention (CWC) and international law. Washington, Paris and Berlin back the UK's claim that Moscow was responsible for what they called "the attack."

This is the language that leads to serious escalations. World War I was started over the assassination of some nobody by some other nobody. I wonder if something similar might set off World War III.

A ray of light though. Macron seems to have doubts:

Though France was one of the signatories to the statement, a spokesman for President Emmanuel Macron's suggested earlier on Thursday that British Prime Minister Theresa May was prematurely accusing Russia of complicity in the incident. "We don't do fantasy politics. Once the elements are proven then the time will come for decisions to be made," Benjamin Griveaux told a news conference in Paris.

It looks like dialogue is simply breaking down and not going anywhere.

Also on Thursday, Moscow said that it had urged the UK to hand over samples of the chemical to the OPCW and relevant Russian authorities, but to no avail. Commenting on the row, Foreign Ministry spokeswoman Maria Zakharova accused Britain of refusing to share any evidence in the case, while making "insane" accusations.

London was reluctant to share "any factual information on the [Skripal] case," she said. The Russian embassy in London has sent four requests to the Foreign Office calling for "extensive dialogue," but received "formal replies that made no sense."

And the latest update seems to be Washington announcing more sanctions.

RT:

The US has announced sanctions against several Russian individuals and entities, according to a statement from the Treasury Department. The new measures are described as “cyber-related.”

Perhaps Trump put Barron on the case. Everyone knows he's good with the cyber.

And Nikky Hailey has been grandstanding in the UN.

NBC News:

U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations Nikki Haley said on Wednesday the United States believes Russia is responsible for the attempted assassination of a former Russian double agent and his daughter in Britain—and the U.N. Security Council should hold the Kremlin “accountable.”

“The United States believes that Russia is responsible for the attack on two people in the United Kingdom using a military-grade nerve agent,” Haley said at a Security Council meeting in New York.

So yeah, they're really beating the drums of war. We need to keep a close eye on this.

Australia Proposes Plan to Accept White South African Refugees; Nignogs Butthurt They Won't be Able to Slaughter Whitey

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 15, 2018

You can always count on the dingoes to save the day. Or drink profusely and shitpost savagely. Either way, this should be good.

So the bipedal monkeys who were put in charge of South Africa by the Jews have, unsurprisingly, proved so incompetent that the capital is about to run out of drinking water.

But never fear, these brave dindus have thought up a clever contingency plan.

What plan, you ask?

Why, the same plan as usual: kill Whitey.

Unfortunately, racist Aussies are now seeking to undermine this project, presumably because they want to see Blacks dying of thirst. How will these nogs survive the water crisis if they can't kill Whitey? Smdh.

Guardian:

South Africa has criticised Australian home affairs minister Peter Dutton's offer to fast-track the visas of its white African farmers, saying his comments on the supposed threat to their lives and land were “sad” and “regrettable”.

Yes, it's quite sad to think that if this plan comes through, the government of South Africa won't be able to implement its plan to slaughter all these White farmers.

The boys were all prepped up, too. What are they going to do with their machetes and sticks, now?

A spokesperson for international relations minister Lindiwe Sisulu, said: “There is no need to fear...we want to say to the world that we are engaged in a process of land redistribution which is very important to address the imbalances of the past. But it is going to be done legally, and with due consideration of the economic impact and impact on individuals.”

Yeah, there's nothing to fear...The government will simply be stealing the land from these farmers without compensation and throwing them out on the streets, presumably with mobs of angry Blacks.

All within the confines of the law, of course. Well, of this new law they just made up.

Dis there “law” sez we gets to keel dem crackas and take they land. Sez so rite there on dat paper we done jus rote.

This whole “land-seizure” thing is a transparent attempt at diverting attention away from the grave and embarrassing water crisis afflicting South Africa.

On Wednesday, Dutton said white farmers deserved “special attention” due to the “horrific circumstances” of land seizures and violence. It follows recent reports in Australian media of “numerous and increasing cases of rape and torture carried out on white farmers” and “a white minority in South Africa being murdered and tortured off their farms”.

Wow, they’re reporting on this stuff in Australia?

Color me suprized.

However, Gareth Newham at the Institute for Security Studies, one of South Africa’s leading authorities on crime statistics, said there was no evidence to support the notion that white farmers were targeted more than anyone else in the country.

“In fact, young black males living in poor urban areas like Khayelitsha and Lange face a far greater risk of being murdered. The murder rate there is between 200 and 300 murders per 100,000 people,” he said. Even the highest estimates of farm murders stand at 133 per 100,000 people, and that includes both black and white murder victims.

Anyone living near niggers has a pretty good chance of getting killed randomly. The difference is, this is normal for Blacks. Not so much for Whites, who tend to view “getting murdered randomly” as something both undesirable and easily avoidable.

But yeah, everyone knows about these gangs of angry nogs prowling the countryside and terrorizing White farmers.

It’s a great White pill that some White nation is talking about helping these people.

Also: wow, those Fox comments are red-pilled as fuck...

These are indistinguishable from the comments on an Alt-Right site.

Having a government discuss helping White people in trouble, and all this being covered in mainstream news sources like Fox, is a major white pill, especially when seeing how clear-eyed the readership seems to have become.

White consciousness is growing rapidly.

Germany: Man Rushes Fat Bulldog Merkel Shouting “In Foreign Language”

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 15, 2018

Germany’s controlled media is disgusting and evil, absolutely Orwellian in every way. It is also just frankly annoying.

Like, I would be really interested to know what language this man was shouting in. The fact that the official tape released by the media purposefully does not let you hear the shouting or tell you what language it was is just like “Really? We’re doing that, really?” It’s like trolling.

Why even report the incident at all?

I guess probably there were a lot of reporters there, maybe some passers-by using their phones to record it, and they just wanted to put it out first.

But seriously.

“In a foreign language.”

What does the average German normie think when they hear that?

RT:

Police have averted a possible assault on Angela Merkel shortly after she left the parliament, where MPs earlier voted to reelect her as the German Chancellor. A man tried to force her way to her but was quickly apprehended.

As the newly elected chancellor left the building of the German Bundestag (the lower house of the parliament), a man, who was shouting Merkel’s name as well as some slogans “in a foreign language,” apparently attempted to approach her. The man was immediately detained by the chancellor’s bodyguards and police while Merkel quickly got into a car and left the scene.

The identity of the suspected assailant, as well as the motives behind his actions, still remains unknown. The police confirmed that a man was detained but provided no further details about the incident.

A video posted by the German Die Welt daily on YouTube shows the moment when the man was apprehended.

Die Welt is basically state media. But all German media is state media, because it is regulated so heavily by the state.

Who was the guy? Was it one of her pets, upset he isn’t getting enough gibbs? An Eastern European gypsy whose daughter just got gang-raped? An over-eager Indian tourist?

His face is blocked out in the video, but you can sort of see that he’s a brown person.

Because that’s the only way you can make “diversity and inclusion” work, folks—with brutal tyranny.

The US doesn’t have these laws, so they are forced to go the corporate tyranny route. They have literally invented at least 6 different ENTIRELY NEW ways to censor this site you are presently browsing.

The number one thing that Jews want to do in the US is pass “hate speech” laws. Virtually every other country in the world already has some form of speech laws, so if they did it to us, it would effectively remove free speech from the planet.

The Jew is naturally hated because of its sick behavior, and its only ability to keep from getting pogromed is to ensure that the goyim do not know about its behavior.

The internet has allowed the goyim to know, and the ultimate result is going to be a global pogrom—the Strasbourg massacre on steroids,” as I like to say.

Duterte Pulls Philippines Out of International Criminal Court!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 14, 2018

Rody Duterte has no concern for the slave morality of lesser men.

Furthermore, he has no time to deal with the stupid noise these low down dogs create. He is too busy murdering his enemies and partying with sluts.

The ICC exists simply to harass people who have shit to be doing. Time to cut the cord.

BBC:

Philippines President Rodrigo Duterte has said he plans to withdraw his country from the International Criminal Court (ICC) after it began examining the country's drugs war.

“It is apparent that the ICC is being utilised as a political tool against the Philippines,” Mr Duterte said.

He also condemned “baseless” attacks by the UN.

The ICC in February began examining alleged crimes committed during the controversial anti-drugs crackdown.

ICC chief prosecutor Fatou Bensouda said the court would be looking at reports of extrajudicial killings.

Mr Duterte said he would leave the ICC “immediately”, but the court says the process takes a year after an official notice of withdrawal.

A statement from the Philippine administration said the ICC inquiry was “in violation of due process”.

The president also condemned “baseless, unprecedented and outrageous attacks” on him and his administration by the UN.

“The acts allegedly committed by me are neither genocide nor war crimes. The deaths occurring in the process of legitimate police operations lacked the intent to kill.”

The statement contradicts some of Mr Duterte’s previous comments about the drugs war, including his willingness to “slaughter” drug addicts and dealers.

There has been growing international pressure on Mr Duterte about his country’s war on drugs, which has caused the deaths of thousands.

Let them pressurize.

Great men do not have the time. They’re lucky Rody doesn’t team up with Emperor xi and launch an assault on The Hague itself.

The ICC, the UN, all of these globalist kike nanny groups are facing a legitimacy crisis.

It’s only a matter of time.

The dogs bark and the caravan moves on.

Putin Tells UK Parliament to Shove Ultimatum Up Theresa May's Bony Ass

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 14, 2018

So some spy died in the UK. He defected from the Russians, after feeding the British with intelligence and 5 years later was poisoned with some nerve agent in public.

Did Putin do this?

No idea. But Londongrad is home to literally hundreds of the absolute dregs of Russia. Jews, half-Jews, Tatars and all sorts of filth from the Russian territories who enriched themselves at the expense of the Russian people fled to London. There they sit, yucking up with Arab sheiks, probably diddling the same little children provided to them as a courtesy by the UK government and hatching their own intrigues against one another.

When you put so many criminals together, give them a carte blanche to do whatever so long as they act like principled dissidents against the “evil fascistic regime of Putin” for the cameras...well shit’s bound to happen.

Anyways, just presenting an alternative theory here. Anglin’s probably right about it being a false flag.

But what the UK did next was absurd. They tried to give an ultimatum to Russia as if it was a banana republic they could boss around.

Video Link

AP:

The Russian Foreign Ministry’s spokeswoman has warned Britain against putting ultimatums to Russia, reminding the U.K. about its nuclear arsenal.

Maria Zakharova said in televised remarks Tuesday that “no one can come to parliament and say: ‘I give Russia 24 hours,’” a reference to British Prime Minister Theresa May giving Russia a deadline to explain how a Russia-designed nerve agent could have been used to poison former spy Sergei Skripal and his daughter.

Russia has denied involvement and said it won’t respond to a British ultimatum unless it gets samples of the nerve agent in line with rules of the international chemical weapons watchdog.

Zakharova said Britain mustn’t try to scare Russia and pointed to Russian President Vladimir Putin’s recent speech in which he presented a range of new nuclear weapons.

I’m of the opinion that if the UK can’t even keep its own girls safe, it has no right to tell anyone else what to do until it gets its shit sorted.

They should definitely not be trying to threaten a country that just announced they have new missiles that are unstoppable.

Theresa May Has Lost Her Mind – EXPELS Russian Diplomats

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 14, 2018

This crusty old hag has lost her mind.

RT:

UK Prime Minister Theresa May accused Russia of using a chemical weapon on British soil and told Parliament about plans to retaliate against Moscow.

The measures outlined by May are in response to the poisoning of a former Russian double agent, which the British government described as an “unlawful use of force by the Russian state.” The accusation is based on the nature of the poison used, which, Britain said, was developed by the Soviet Union.

She has just finished listing out an entire laundry list of demands and unilateral actions that the UK Occupation Government will take.

Expulsion of 23 Russian diplomats

May said the UK identified 23 people working as diplomats in London, who are actually agents of the Russian intelligence service. Expelling them would undermine Russia’s espionage capabilities on British soil, she argued. The move is the largest in decades, according to the Prime Minister.

New legislative powers

May wants her cabinet to have additional powers that, according to her, would boost the government’s ability to protect Britain. Those include new powers to detain unwanted individuals at the border, new counter-espionage powers and new powers to impose sanctions.

Limiting ties

The UK will suspend certain senior-level contacts with Russia. This includes the suspension of a planned visit by Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov to Britain and the cancellation of a planned visit of a British official delegation to the upcoming FIFA World Cup in Russia.

Asset freezes

May said the UK will freeze Russian state assets in the UK that can be used to cause damage to the nation’s security. She did not say which assets could be targeted.

Some measures the UK plans to take cannot be shared publicly, May said.

This isn’t all just diplomatic bugman-talk. The ol’ bitch has actually called for a session of the UNSC to discuss the incident.

So basically, their plans of blaming Assad for a chemical attack got foiled by the Russkies and now they’re just going to go for the Russkies directly instead and accuse them of basically, “muh gassing.”

Pretty transparent tbh.

Anyways, even if this dead spy doesn't lead to a showdown with Russia, they'll just keep trying. At this point, it seems clear that they want a fight with Russia no matter what.

By the way, as Anglin pointed out, there was actually yet another dead Russian found in London this Monday.

Video Link

Good riddance to him, tbh.

I mean, idk who killed him, but Boris Berezovsky is a Jew-Oligarch who was surrounded by a mountain of bodies leading up to his death.

The entire UK Russian Jew community is a spy's nest and everyone's back-stabbing and killing one another there.

So I don't know who is really killing who. But it seems to be benefiting the war push against Russia. And as Anglin pointed out, a lot of life's mysteries can be solved by asking the question, "cui bono"?

Stephen Hawking Finally Dead

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 14, 2018

I don't know about you all, but I sure am glad this disgusting little wet noodle is dead.

BBC:

Scientists, politicians and actors have paid tribute to world renowned physicist Stephen Hawking, who has been called an "inspiration to millions".

The British scientist, famed for his work on black holes, died peacefully at his home in Cambridge aged 76.

Astronomer Royal Lord Rees, one of the world's most eminent scientists, described his life as a "triumph".

Others described him as a "unique individual" whose death "has left an intellectual vacuum in his wake".

Prof Hawking was diagnosed with a rare form of motor neurone disease at the age of 22 and was told he had only a few years to live.

I always hated this worm-man. I remember even seeing him as a kid and thinking "wow, this is friggin disgusting, why are they showing it on TV???"

There are actually of course political reasons to hate this guy. He was passed off as a genius by the establishment, and then went on to convince people of a bunch of nonsensical gibberish, such as the idea that white people's main focus needs to be sending niggers into space to help mitigate their insane population growth rate.

I'm all for conquering space—it is one of my main things I promote—but come on, we don't need to do that because we have to have some place to put all of these niggers. That's unhinged.

If we were the only ones on earth, white people could easily reach a population of between 5-10 billion, and then just have two kids per family, on average. Talking about high technology to solve a problem that is exclusive to primitives is absurd.

But yeah, mostly I just hated him because he was disgusting.

When I heard that thing about him going to sex clubs and his helpers getting him out of his chair so a hooker could sit on his face I was like wow. That is the most sickening thing I have ever heard in my entire life.

We need to euthanize cripples, so that this doesn't happen again.

Another Dead Russian in London

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 13, 2018

This is insane.
Fox News:

Another Russian exile living in London was found dead late Monday night, just a little more than a week since a former Kremlin spy and his daughter were poisoned.

Andrei Borovkov told Russian media outlets on Tuesday that his client, Nikolai Glushkov, was found dead inside his south London home and that he was unaware of the time and circumstances.

British media said Glushkov, 68, a businessman, had associated with a prominent critic of the Kremlin, late oligarch Boris Berezovsky, who died in London in 2013.

Berezovsky was found hanged at his home and an inquest failed to determine whether he had killed himself or died from foul play.

Glushokov reportedly told The Guardian he would “never believe” his friend took his own life.

Without confirming the man's name, London's Metropolitan police said the counterterrorism command unit was leading the investigation into the death “as a precaution because of associations that the man in believed to have had.”

Glushokov is at the top of a list of “fugitives from justice” published by the Russian embassy.

Assassinating someone on foreign soil is a massive, massive deal. Unless you're Israel, it is an act of war.

It is absolutely absurd to think that Putin would do this right now. No matter how evil the Jews are claiming it is, it defies common, basic sense.

The fact that these killings were done by some (((Western intelligence agency)))—or perhaps Jews with Russian citizenship—in order to false flag Russia in the wake of the collapse of ISIS is the most obvious thing that has happened this decade.

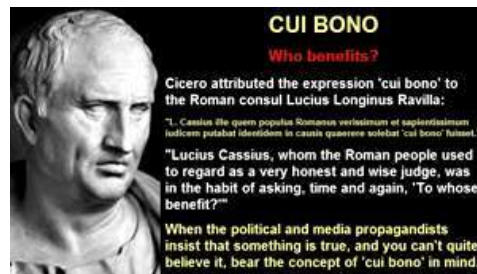

What is even the suggestion here?

Why would Putin be doing this? Because he just really felt like now was the time to assassinate a fugitive from justice on British soil? Or are they suggesting he did it to purposefully provoke the British/West for some reason?

How does it make any sense at all, in any context—other than that of the West doing this as an excuse to escalate tensions?

You know— cui bono?

The question I'm asking is how desperate are these people that they're willing to risk people seeing this for what it is?

Half of America thinks that David Hogg is a crisis actor in a CIA black operation.

People are not believing what they are told anymore, and this right here—the idea that Putin would just randomly assassinate people on British soil in the middle of the highest conflict level between our nations since the Cuban missile crisis—is cartoonishly absurd.

Nazi Accused of Murdering 300,000 Innocent Kiken Rats Dies Before Going to Prison

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 13, 2018

Rest in peace, dear brother. We will avenge you. The kikes will know the humiliation you have felt, 6 million fold.

The kike's vile dream was for him to die in prison.

They missed that. But they managed to kill him, after having dragged him through a shameful ritual monkey trial.

Fox News:

Oskar Groening, the death camp guard known as the “bookkeeper of Auschwitz,” died on Friday—before he was able to start his four-year prison sentence, according to multiple reports Monday. He was 96.

Groening, a former SS sergeant, was convicted in July 2015 of being an accessory to the murder of 300,000 Jews. He was expected to start his four-year prison sentence, but died at a hospital, the Jerusalem Post reported, citing Germany's Der Spiegel.

German prosecutors deemed Groening to be fit enough to go to prison as long as there was appropriate medical care. A federal court rejected Groening's appeal in November.

The kikes are an evil, vicious group that has no problem picking on, abusing and destroying the weakest members of our society. They take pleasure in harming weak things, which is the main reason they are so heavily involved in child molestation and other forms of child abuse.

It is also the reason that they ritually torture animals for their satanic god.

The fact that these sickening subhuman perverts were able to take over our countries in the first place is more humiliating than anything that they can do to us now.

Remember that.

When you are ruled by worm-kikes, the only place you can go from there is up.

You've pushed it too far, kikes.

And there is only one place this story ends.

We are going to build a 200 foot statue of Adolf Hitler in the center of Berlin, and at the base will be carved the names of every Third Reich soldier killed by kikes.

We will save a special spot for Oskar Groening, who I do believe history will remember as the final victim of that war.

Chinese People Aren't Accepting Enough of Blackness, Need More Diversity Propaganda

Diversity Macht Frei

March 13, 2018

Black Panther, a film about a fictional land untouched by whites known as Wakanda, has in the west enjoyed moderate protection from anyone attempting to negatively criticise it. For example, review aggregator Rotten Tomatoes vowed to block "anyone who is planning to negatively impact the 'Black Panther' fan score out of hate".

Unfortunately for purveyors of tolerance, the Chinese didn't get the memo and had a few choice criticisms of the film:

While many reviewers on Douban (Chinese version of Rotten Tomatoes) stopped short of leaving overtly racist comments about the film, many discussed their discomfort of being surrounded by so much blackness.

"Maybe the Chinese are still not used to a film full of black people," wrote one reviewer...The commenter said he had to pinch himself more than 10 times to stay awake during the movie because "Black Panther is black, all the major characters are black, a lot of scenes are black, the car-chasing scene is black—the blackness has really made me drowsy."

Another reviewer who came into the theater late made a similar observation: "When I entered the theater, a bunch of black people was fighting in the night... I've never been in a theater so dark that I couldn't find my seat."

It's yet another reminder of China's limited exposure to race. Last month, in the annual Lunar New Year TV gala by China's state broadcaster CCTV, producers had a Chinese actress in blackface and cast a black actor to play a monkey. In October, a Chinese museum hosted an exhibition titled "This is Africa" that juxtaposed images of black people to animals, including monkeys and cheetahs.

From the exhibition

So the Chinese are "problematic". Whites also used to have "problematic" attitudes toward race but with the aid of (((psychologists))) and (((propagandists))) with high verbal IQs whites have been cowed. Diversity is just the thing to lower a nation's natural survival instinct:

Still, Black Panther could be a start for Chinese people to learn about the black culture, argues writer Niesha Davis on Shanghai-based digital publication Sixth Tone. "Exposure to pop culture that encompasses diverse representations of black people can exert a powerful influence on how individuals conceive of them," Davis wrote.

Maybe it can work on Africans too?

When you did all you could to help the children in need and all they did was roast you

In any event, we don't need to change the way people conceive of blacks, we have statistics and data that enable us to form opinions without needing to treat every human being as an individual. We should be working on either implementing segregation or actively stopping non-white migration into white countries.

Redemption Road: Lauren Southern Banned from the UK for "Racism"

March 13, 2018

After a series of scandals, Lauren Southern is desperately trying to rebuild her cred with the Alt-Right through a high-profile racist rampage through the motherland.

Breitbart:

Southern was on a bus traveling to Britain on Sunday night when she was "singled out" by border police, who seized her passport and took her in for questioning, Breitbart London reporter Chris Tomlinson and sources close to the conservative writer said on Twitter.

Released from detention by British authorities in the French port town Monday morning, Southern told followers on Twitter that she was "doing fine" but had been "officially banned from UK for 'racism'".

She knew this was going to happen after she found out that her friends, Brittany Pettibone and Martin Sellner, had been detained and banned. But she doesn't even care.

A Recap

A couple of months ago we all learned that Lauren Southern had dated a Black guy when she was 17.

This was a highly disgusting revelation.

Many people literally vomited at the thought of it. Literally.

She was rightfully internet-shamed for making everyone literally vomit like that.

But, Southern's dabbling in bestiality also happened before she had taken whatever version of the Red-Pill that Alt-Lite-ish people take.

So, she could have pretty much resolved the situation by just saying: "Yeah. I went out with a negro when I was young and stupid. I was brainwashed by the Jews my whole life to think it was okay. But, now I know better. I'm disgusted with myself. I would never do anything like that again."

People would have still literally vomited. But they would have understood.

The problem is that Southern tried to defend her monkey-shines by claiming that it was okay because the negro was part Irish and voted for Trump.

That's when all hell broke loose and the Thot-Wars really heated up.

But the most devastating blow came for Southern when Dr. Murdoch dumped her for being a coal-burner—and started dating a proudly-racist, younger Lauren.

After that, Southern stopped Tweeting, and basically went dark for a while. Metaphorically...as far as we know.

But, when Lauren Southern came back, she was different.

For one thing, she was thinner and more fit. Obviously due to Andrew Anglin's gentle encouragement.

She joined the crew of a sea ship attempting to cause the drowning of invasive niggers.

She harassed filthy Pakis on the streets of Britain and invaded a mosque.

And, now...

Fox News:

Southern said she was detained for six hours at the Calais border port, had her phone taken from her as she was held in a detention center and questioned for four hours in a line of interrogation she described as “bizarre.”

“They asked me if I’m a Christian extremist, asked me how I feel about running over people with cars,” she told Fox News. “They asked me about Tommy Robinson, asked how I would describe myself politically, asked me how I would describe nationalism.”

I’m not kidding about this, but during my questioning by the UK police...I was asked about my Christianity and whether I’m a radical. I was also asked how I feel about running Muslims over with cars.

— Lauren Southern (@Lauren_Southern) March 12, 2018

Detained and banned for trying to enter the UK to meet up with Tommy “The Wog-Rocker” Robinson, with the suspected intention of committing some good old-fashioned, RaHoWa-style, White Christian terrorism against the heretical brown invaders—this is Lauren Southern’s apology tour to the Alt-Right.

So far, so good.

Now, Lauren, you just need to do what you should have done two fucking years ago: tell your third-of-a-million followers that they’re no longer allowed to be a pack of cowardly Civic-Nationalists.

Tell them that they have to become White Nationalists, Alt-Right, American Nationalists, or whatever—and start fighting for the White race and White Civilization.

Let’s get this show on the road, woman.

All you need to do is say “Gas the kikes, race war now” and all is forgiven.

You may not have limbs, but at least you have vibrancy.

Diversity is the most important thing there is. All sacrifices that need to be made to accomplish it are entirely worth it. And yes, that includes young women losing all their limbs.

What’s a few arms and legs, compared with the incredible opportunity we offer Pakis to work in a British hospital, in spite of the fact that they’re low-IQ primitives who are woefully incompetent?

I’m sure this woman is glad to have sacrificed her life for the British government’s policy of replace the native British population with violent savages.

Fox News:

A mother of two reportedly is suing an English hospital after doctors didn’t realize she was suffering from a life-threatening condition, resulting in multiple limb amputations which she now is calling “a fight for life.”

How thoughtful of these nurses to have taped a fork to her stump. This is the kind of patient care you can look forward to, White man.

Magdalena Malec, 31, had both of her legs amputated after contracting sepsis—the body’s extreme response to an infection—at the Luton and Dunstable University Hospital in Luton, the South West News Service (SWNS) reported.

She also had her right arm and the fingers on her left hand removed, which hospital officials reportedly admit could have been avoided.

According to the news service, it all started in December 2014, when Malec was told she suffered a miscarriage a few weeks after learning she was pregnant with her third child.

After being sent home from the emergency room with painkillers for her heavy bleeding and stomach cramps, Malec reportedly returned to Luton and Dunstable later that month, when she discovered she had an ectopic pregnancy—in which a fertilized egg attaches itself to a cavity outside the uterus—and underwent emergency surgery.

Malec, according to reports, also had to have a kidney transplant.

During recovery, Malec developed ischemia of her limbs—described as a lack of blood supply to certain parts of the body. Her limbs reportedly then developed gangrene and bone leave to enter the UK. “as you stated in your interview, I have reasons to believe” ... “your boyfriend Martin Sellner speech”, “your boyfriend have in his possession”, “likely to insight tensions”. Is the immigration office now run by “asylum seekers” or alien ethnics likely to see the “far-right” as racial or religious enemies?

This reminded me of an article that appeared in the Times a few years ago in response to a suggestion that more brown-skinned people be appointed to the judiciary.

I was called to the bar in 2006 and, as a British woman of Indian descent, I can hardly be accused of racism. So I perhaps feel freer to speak than some of my colleagues. But what we all see is the same thing: the race card being played in recruitment to legal firms and to the Crown Prosecution Service (CPS).

The frustration and resentment this generates is aired in private. In the pubs near chambers you often hear tales of friends finding themselves up against lawyers who can barely speak English and are unable to grasp complex points of law.

A judge told me that he and his colleagues were scared to criticise for fear of being told “you have commented on my sub-standard English because I’m not English”. So the issue is boxed away in a corner and it is a shame because the whole system is suffering.

...It is not so much at the bar but at the CPS, though, where there is a real problem. The bar is at least independent but the CPS is much more directly connected with the government and has to be seen to be a fair employer. Some of the CPS propaganda material is hilarious. It has gone so overboard in an attempt to be fair that you have to search hard to try to spot the white person in its illustrations.

In London, at least, the organisation seems to be stuffed with people from ethnic minorities.

It is worrying when you ring someone up about a case, often a serious one, and you have trouble understanding what they are saying. Or you get skeleton arguments or documents drafted that simply make no sense and are written in pidgin English.

In a system responsible for the administration of justice that is alarming...and when it comes to analysing law and statute, well, you wonder how that can possibly be being done properly.

One of the foundational principles of modern multicult mythology is the impartiality of the law. People of diverse backgrounds, beliefs and customs can come together successfully “as long as they obey the law”. The law is seen as the binding, integrative force that screens out unimportant differences.

But what if the apparatus of state itself, which administers the law, has been infiltrated and corrupted by people who see themselves as ethnic adversaries?

When we see strange decisions taken by governmental authorities, —draconian punishment for patriots and no investigation or prosecution of crimes committed against patriots—this is part of the explanation for what is going on.

This could be analogised to what in computer malware is called a rootkit. A rootkit can attack and infiltrate the fundamentals of the operating system itself, while disguising its own existence. If you suspect something is wrong and try to look for the malicious files or processes, you may be unable to see them because the file manager or process viewer program has been hijacked or even replaced altogether by the rootkit. It is virtually impossible to repair an OS installation that has been damaged in this way. In most cases, the only option available is to zero the hard drive and re-install the operating system from scratch.

Sweden Telling Islamic Immigrants to Stop Teaching Islam at Islamic Schools

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 12, 2018

Your standard Swedish elementary school

Sweden invites in Moslems—replaces 15% of their population with them—and doesn’t even do the French thing of trying to convert them to atheism, then they are shocked and confused when they don’t respect feminism.

RT:

Sweden is cracking down on schools that do not support gender equality, according to the country’s education minister. The initiative is part of the government’s overall plan to remove religious influence from schools in general.

Gustav Fridolin said Sunday that he has launched an inquiry into tightening the regulation of independent religious schools, by stopping those who do not support Sweden’s “fundamental values.”

Look, Hans.

Either your values are “diversity and inclusion” AKA “Islam,” or your values are liberal feminism.

Your values are not both of these things.

Schizophrenia cannot be a government policy.

"The regulatory framework will be tightened," wrote Fridolin for the newspaper, Aftonbladet. "Those who do not support fundamental values around equality and human rights should be stopped from running free schools in Sweden."

Yeah but see—that statement right there fits your own definition of racism, because you are telling them they can't practice their religion.

You can't say "you can keep your religion, you just have to change all the parts we disagree with" — that is completely insane. If you change fundamental parts of a religion, it stops being a religion.

Swedes being atheists aren't able to comprehend what this means. They genuinely believe a religion is just a bunch of goofy rituals with no real meaning—because it is a part of their own religion of modernism to believe that about religion. So they think they can just tell these people "sure, you can be a Moslem, but you also have to be into feminism and man-on-man anal sex."

The new regulations will ensure that schools will "actively promote equality" and "allow students to develop their skills and interests independently of gender identity," wrote Fridolin. The restrictions are expected to impact muslim schools the most.

The minister went on to stress that "no child should be exposed to direct or indirect compulsion to take part in religious activities in any school in Sweden," even if that school was founded by a religious organization. "And all education should be completely free of religious influence," Fridolin wrote.

However, the religious restrictions won't apply to Jewish schools, said Fridolin in a follow-up interview, as "there's no point in attacking Jewish schools which have existed in Sweden since the 1950s."

HAHAHAHAHA.

Now that is funny.
Jewish privilege.

Anyway, back to the Moslems—what Sweden is trying to do here is purely driven by psychotic ideological impulse. All rational or factual analysis of the idea of converting Moslems to secularism shows that it is an exercise in futility. Furthermore, all of the data is available to show that the Moslems coming in view their "immigration" as part of a conquest which involves theft, rape and terrorism to the end of Islamizing Europe.

Obviously, a lot of these people are coming there for financial reasons primarily, but these casuals support the conquest agenda even if they're not willing to aggressively fight for it. They are just waging a numbers war for the time being, filling European countries with bodies of their own guys.

By the way, I just want to insert here: that is what our main agenda in the white movement should be. Getting a bunch of hardcore people on board is important, but where the real power is in getting a huge mass of people to casually support your agenda—people who are maybe not out there every day, but will be ready to act in support of the agenda when the time comes. That has always been the core goal of the Daily Stormer, which is why I have done my utmost to not get involved in "the movement" as it were. "The movement" is important, but it is a separate thing from building a consensus among the general population.

Duterte Tells Military to Feed Sonovabitching UN Human Rights Squad to Crocodiles!

Our patience has it's limits, kikes!

WE WILL FEED YOU TO THE FUCKING CROCODILES!

RT:

Rodrigo Duterte has once again harshly lashed out at UN human rights officials planning to probe alleged extrajudicial killings in his war on drugs, and claimed full responsibility for the "lawful" actions of law enforcers.

This latest vulgar outburst against the international human rights officials comes a day after UN High Commissioner Zeid Ra'ad Al Hussein called for a "psychiatric evaluation" of the Philippines' leader. On Saturday, Duterte again defended his and law enforcers' rights not to cooperate with the UN-led probe into alleged abuses and extrajudicial killings in the country.

Calling Zeid a "stupid...son of a bch", Duterte reiterated his authorization for law enforcement agencies not to answer questions from human rights investigators, currently being led by Agnes Callamard, the UN special rapporteur.

"Do not answer questions from them," Duterte told soldiers in Zamboanga city, noting that he is taking "full responsibility" for his anti-drug campaign. "Just do your job...within the bounds of the law," he said on Saturday, adding that the right to remain silent and not to bear witness against oneself is enshrined in the country's constitution.

"Leave it to me. They are coming here. Do you have crocodiles here, the ones that really eat humans? Throw the sons of bches there," Duterte stated, according to the Inquirer.

SAVE THE BULLETS FOR THE DRUG DEALERS!

CROCODILE NATIONALISM!

"These human rights [people] are dumb," Duterte added. "I said [to drug syndicates] do not destroy my country, or my city for that matter, because I will kill you. And do not destroy...the youth of this land because I will kill you."

Duterte's response came after Zeid on Friday called on the UN Human Rights Council to take a stand against Duterte's personal vendetta against UN rights officials, who have criticized Manila's war on drugs.

"The UN Human Rights Council must take a position. These attacks cannot go unanswered," Zeid said Friday. "[Duterte] needs to submit himself to some sort of psychiatric examination. This kind of comment is unacceptable, unacceptable."

Zeid the Arab prince who looks like a kike needs to mind his own filthy business.

Whether Arab or kike or both, you've got enough of your own problems to deal with without going to the Philippines and harassing a man who is trying to clean up his streets.

UK: Pakis Rape and Abuse Up to 1,000 White Girls in "Worst Ever" Grooming Scandal

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
March 12, 2018

In 2014, the British press revealed that gangs of Pakis had groomed and raped at least 1,400 white girls in the town of Rotherham between 1997 and 2013.

Naturally, the revelation shocked the UK authorities. How could these fine brown gentlemen, who were supposed to transform into tea-sipping Anglos within moments of acquiring British citizenship, commit such heinous crimes against the nation's most vulnerable groups?

"Ah well, all bushels contain a few bad apples," we were told. Rotherham was just an isolated incident; a self-contained Moslem rape-fest in an otherwise civilized multicultural utopia.

But, of course, it wasn't an isolated incident.

Rochdale came next. Then Newcastle. And a bunch of others that just blur into one after a while.

Now, we have Telford.

Mirror:

Up to 1,000 children could have suffered in Britain's worst known abuse scandal—where sex gangs targeted girls as young as 11.

The rape hell of vulnerable young girls in one town—Telford— went on for a shocking 40 years, the Sunday Mirror can reveal.

As many as 1,000 children could have suffered at the merciless hands of perverts and torturers in Telford since the 1980s.

Girls as young as 11 have been lured from their families to be drugged, beaten and raped in an epidemic that, say victims, is still ongoing.

THREE people were murdered and two others died in tragedies linked to the scandal.

40 years?

That would put the starting date of this abuse at 1978.

According to Wikipedia, the current demographics of Telford are 93.8% white (noticeably higher than the English average of 79.8% back in 2011) and 3.3% "Asian."

So if the population of "Asians" in Telford is 3.3% in 2018, what would it have been in 1978? Fewer than 0.1%, I imagine.

Wew. These Pakis really do have an unquenchable thirst for child rape. Is it genetic or something?

The scale of the abuse uncovered in Telford—population 170,000—is feared to be the most brutal and long-running of all.

The Rotherham toll was put at 1,500—but that was in a community of 260,000.

Police and local authority chiefs yesterday said all reports of child sex exploitation were taken “extremely seriously”.

Martin Evans, Assistant Chief Constable for West Mercia Police, said: “We are aware of the information you have provided.

“Tackling such horrific offences is the number one priority for police in Telford and we have not only increased officer numbers to tackle this type of offending, but use all of our resources and technology available to prosecute anyone who sexually offends against children whether that offending took place today, yesterday or decades ago”.

Isn't it interesting that the British police allow Moslems to groom and rape white children in English towns for almost half a century, yet seem unusually quick to action if a Scotsman trains his pug to salute Hitler?

Or if an Alt-Lite duo fly into the UK with the intention of saying something non-genocidal about white people?

Or if a bunch of holy Korans fall into a canal?

Police defend drowning death case

Sharia UK: London police dive into canal to rescue Qur'ans

Since it makes no sense for a native people to start committing collective suicide after centuries racial nationalism and unapologetic imperialism, you'll forgive me for suspecting that another group of people—a hostile racial tribe, perhaps—has seized control of the British government and its constabulary from behind the scenes.

But even if that's true, it doesn't excuse the high treason of the white people who serve that tribe's agenda.

A vast incident team consisting of police and firefighters are in attendance as a negro blocks traffic by dancing on the roof of a bus. The obvious expedients of shooting him down, knocking him down or just driving the bus away with him on it were ruled for human rights reasons. Being compelled to take a more delicate approach, it took about half an hour for them to solve this particular negro problem.

When the African eventually came down, he was charged with interrupting a public service and disobedience to a public official. Then he was taken back to his asylum seeker home where he will continue to live at the expense of the Italian taxpayer.

Granny Goodness Le Pen Changing “National Front” to “National Rally”

She might look like a typical mean old granny who no one even wants to talk to—but they has a big brain on this nibba!

Great plan, granny!

This is a way better decision than the decision that I would have made for you, which would be to bake some gosh-darn cookies and read a storybook to the grandkids!

Instead you came up with a 28-dimensional chess strat that would make The Donald himself do a triple-take!

Neato, rockin granny keep rockin out in the free world!

You look exactly like Neil Young anyway these days so you might as well!

You dumb old bitch!

Reuters:

French far-right leader Marine Le Pen proposed her National Front party be renamed the “National Rally” on Sunday, in a bid to shed a brand associated by many voters with racism and anti-Semitism and facilitate alliances with other parties.

Speaking at a party congress meant to help her reassert her authority following her defeat to President Emmanuel Macron last May, Le Pen said the party’s priority should be to gain power, which could only be achieved through a coalition with allies.

“Our goal is clear: power,” Le Pen told party cardholders gathered in the northern city of Lille, who cheered her speech denouncing immigration, globalization and a federal Europe.

“We were originally a protest party,” she said. “There should be no doubt now that we can be a ruling party.”

The idea of changing the party’s name was only approved by a narrow majority of National Front members, with 52 percent backing it on Saturday, according to figures provided by the party. They will get to vote again on the new name by post.

Jean-Marie Le Pen, the 89-year old far-right veteran who founded the party in 1972, called the name change political “suicide” in an interview with Reuters last month.

“The National Front name carries an epic and glorious history, which no-one should deny,” Marine Le Pen said. “But you know it is for many French people a psychological obstacle.”

Look at this woman! She’s a friggin PSYCHOLOGIST!

Baking cookies she doth not!

I haven’t seen someone wield a focus group with this kind of precision since...since they put that nigger in charge of McDonald’s and he transformed Ronald McDonald from a clown into a circus ringmaster in clown makeup!

Le Pen should literally just tell National Front to go f themselves and start writing books about the practical application of focus group data!

UGH

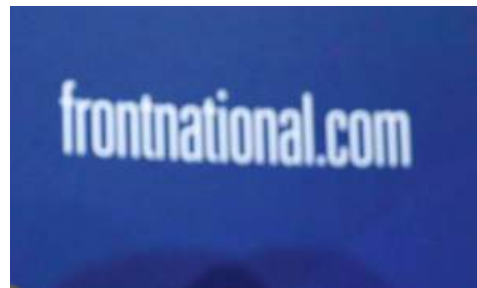

I joke, friends, but my soul is tired of all the retard shit that happens. All of the unnecessary failure. It wears on me.

I’m looking at this name change and I’m seriously like “this is the stupid fucking thing I’ve seen anyone do since Steve Bannon brought that kike into the White House to write his anti-Trump book and then told him he believed the Russian kookspiracy...”

And then I’m like—AYO HOL UP. WHERE DAT STEVE AT???

The thing about the neo-shiteaters or whatever you want to call them is that they don’t even support the maybe sort of could be reasonable portions of their own platform, only the insane parts.

Because okay—I don’t know what’s going on with this pipeline. Who knows. I don’t know. I don’t care.

But I can indeed see how people would care, you know, about the nature and so on—and that is a legitimate care.

But the only thing Justin Trudeau cares about is chopping off children’s dicks and praying to Al Muhammad Jihad in Mekka.

What. The. Fuck.
RT:

Thousands of demonstrators marched through a Vancouver suburb as part of an indigenous-led protest against a pipeline expansion project approved by “eco-friendly” Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau.

The Saturday demonstration was held at a site near a Kinder Morgan facility in Burnaby, British Columbia. Protesters held signs that read “Water is life,” while other placards questioned Trudeau’s commitment to preserving Canada’s environment.

“Justin: That’s not ‘environmental leadership’ —that’s reckless!” one sign read. Another accused Trudeau of being “in bed” with Kinder Morgan.

This faggot looks like he’s in bed with some kinders.

Crazy-eyed pot-smoking whack-job.

Texas-based energy company Kinder Morgan has already begun preparations for the Trans Mountain pipeline expansion, which was given the green light by Trudeau at the end of 2016. The project would carry oil from Alberta to a terminal in Burnaby. From there, tankers would transport the oil to Washington state’s San Juan Island and on to the Pacific Ocean.

Proponents of the plan say it would dramatically increase Canada’s oil exports. But critics of the project argue that increasing the flow of oil sent by pipeline and boosting the number of ships to transport it would heighten the risks of oil spills and put local wildlife in danger.

So yeah, there you have it.

He’s got all the energy on earth to suck dick for Allah and every other bizarre piece of derangement on his tapestry of the depraved, but no time for the poor old mountain trees and river ocean seas.

Stupidass Bitch Judge Locks Self in Room, Causes $3,000 in Damage Trying to Escape

You people think I'm joking when I tell you that women are so stupid they shouldn't even be allowed outside.

But every day, I'm proven correct again.

They are not simply stupid, they are destructive. Usually they focus on destroying relationships and institutions, but they will also destroy property if given a bench to use as a battering ram.

Fox News:

A judge in Oregon used a bench as a battering ram to break free from a locked courtroom, causing about $3,000 in damage, a report said.

Judge Susie Norby offered to pay for the damage out of her own pocket, but a Clackamas County spokesman said the funds will come from the county's general fund, meaning taxpayers will foot the bill, the Oregonian reported.

Norby said her offer was turned down because county officials regarded the cost as negligible, the newspaper reported.

"I feel deeply sad to have caused harm to our beautiful and historic building," Norby told the newspaper. "It is a building I cherish, respect and am proud and grateful to work in."

Repair work in the Oregon City courtroom will include reinstalling marble on the framing above the courtroom doors, the report said.

This destructive wench isn't going to pay for it, and she won't even be fired.

Vile DACA Babies Preparing to Go Underground to Avoid Deportation...!

Now see, this is when you get to thinking "well, maybe Duterte is right, and there is only one way to deal with your enemies."

What kind of nerve to these beanmonkeys have, ready to go on the run to keep from going back to their own shitholes?

Miami Herald:

Like many immigrants in South Florida and other parts of the country, Jofre is now taking steps to become untraceable after President Donald Trump ordered stepped up enforcement of immigration laws and arrests of undocumented immigrants.

"What if in a few months I can't work? What if one day they knock on my door?" said Jofre, who lives in southwestern Miami-Dade. "You get paralyzed, you don't want to do anything drastic with your life. It is a scary thought."

Jofre, a Chilean immigrant, is technically not undocumented. At least until January of 2019. She is protected by the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA), which shields from deportation individuals who came to the United States as children and remained in the country illegally.

In September, Trump ended the program and gave Congress until March 5 to approve a legislative solution that would give legal status to the nearly 700,000 people protected by DACA. But the deadline passed without any legislation or new remedies to the dilemma.

The lack of an immigration solution by Congress has generated uncertainty among those with DACA, also known as "Dreamers," as well as those with Temporary Protected Status (TPS) and those without legal status. As a result, many undocumented immigrants or those who could lose their legal protection, have started to move to other neighborhoods or cities, close bank accounts and register their vehicles, houses and even businesses in the names of others.

Jofre, who is a single mother, is considering leaving Florida, where she has lived for almost 25 years. She plans to move to a sanctuary state, where local authorities are not obligated to cooperate with federal immigration agencies to arrest undocumented immigrants.

Before DACA, Jofre worked as a waitress, getting paid under the table. DACA allowed her to obtain better jobs and plot a better future.

Jofre and other immigrants interviewed by the Miami Herald said they will have few options if they lose their protected status.

"I would go back to living in the shadows, which is how I have lived most of my life in this country," she said, adding that she has not even considered returning to Chile, a country she barely remembers.

"I would only go if they throw me out, and I would go kicking and screaming and fighting to stay," Jofre said.

What is this shit? How are these animals so entitled?

What right do they have?

This isn't just some free-for-all market where anyone can come and feed off the wealth.

Hacker Snitch Who Ratted on Bradley Manning Found Dead at 37

Andrew Anglin

March 17, 2018

Snitches live short, meaningless lives.

Because they do not have souls.
Fox News:

Adrian Lamo, the notorious computer hacker who turned in Chelsea Manning to the FBI and was arrested for hacking into The New York Times and Microsoft, has died in Kansas at age 37.

Sedgwick County spokeswoman Kate Flavin said Friday that Lamo's body was at the morgue in Wichita. The Wichita Eagle reported Lamo was found dead in his apartment Wednesday.

Charley Davidson, a Wichita police officer told the media outlet there was "nothing suspicious about his death." It was not immediately clear how Lamo died.

lol how many ways are there to die at 37 and have it not be suspicious?

I can only think of two.

The computer hacker was living in Wichita for about a year, his friend Lorraine Murphy told the Wichita Eagle. She said she sent Lamo a message in December 2016 asking how he was and he said he was "homeless in Wichita."

"Adrian was always homeless or on the verge of it," Murphy said. "He bounced around a great deal, for no particular reason."

She added: "He was a believer in the Geographic Cure. Whatever goes wrong in your life, moving will make it better. And he knew people all over the country."

Like I always said: wherever you go, there you are.

You cannot run from yourself.

You can however run from Nigerian hate speech laws (to Uganda).

However, Lamo did not make many friends along the way. Murphy said he often received death threats for his hacking.

Davidson said there is "no indication foul play is involved in Lamo's death."

Manning, who is transgender and went by Bradley at the time of her arrest, was convicted in 2013 of leaking a trove of classified documents. President Barack Obama commuted her sentence and she was released from military prison in May 2017 after serving seven years of a 35-year sentence.

Following her release, Manning announced in January she has filed to run in Maryland for the seat of Democratic Sen. Ben Cardin.

Lamo testified that Manning contacted him because of his notoriety in the hacking community. He said the two met online after Manning read an article about Lamo, The Guardian reported.

Why did he not contact Julian Assange immediately?

Is he insane?

Right...

Actually though, I don't think he was insane when he went in. He was subjected to terrorist standards, and was tortured to the point he lost his damn marbles and went full-tranny.

Either that or he faked it to get out. No way in hell Obama would have commuted the sentence of a straight white male. But if that were the case, I would think he could go normal by now.

Unless he faked it to get out AND THEN decided he actually liked being a tranny.

Anyway, that faggot was talking shit about us this week.

If a company like Google does something like revoke The Daily Stormer's domain, is that good because The Daily Stormer's down, or bad because we're giving Google a lot of power to control what happens online?

That's an excellent question, and I don't know the answer. Obviously the end result is very good and I support that, but the methods are not reliable. They could have just decided "No, we're not going to do that." It's arbitrary, and whatever they decide to do is completely independent of what's the right thing to do.

Come to Uganda and say that to my face, Bradley you faggot.

Seriously though, how do you do all those years in jail for doing a spying operation ostensibly for freedom and so on and then get out and start talking about how you're glad politically incorrect websites are getting shut down?

Florida School Shooting: New Surveillance Footage Released Showing Cowering Cop

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 17, 2018

Video Link
Give up your guns, goyim, the police will protect you.

After the Florida school shooting, the Jews went into gun-control OVERDRIVE, shilling as hard as ever to strip every White American of their God-given right to be armed to the teeth.

There was just one little problem: if anything, the shooting demonstrated how important it is to be armed, and how little protection we can expect from the state.

The first officer on site just cowered motionless for the entire duration of the shooting, not even attempting to approach the location of the violence.

Because of this, the establishment did everything it could to avoid publishing the video of this scene.

Well, now it's out.

Sun Sentinel:

Newly released surveillance videos show school deputy Scot Peterson standing and waiting outside a building at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High as Nikolas Cruz massacred 17 people.

Video Link

One of the videos appears to show Peterson take up a position against the wall of one building and stand there for about 25 minutes, until well after Cruz had completed the killings in an adjacent building and left the campus.

Peterson, the school resource officer, resigned after being suspended by the Broward Sheriff's Office for failing to confront the shooter during the Feb. 14 attack at the Parkland school.

The videos, released in response to a lawsuit from the South Florida Sun Sentinel, Miami Herald and CNN under Florida's public records law, shed light on Peterson's actions but little else.

So they only released the video because their hand was forced in a lawsuit.

They know perfectly well how devastating this is, at an emotional level, for their gun-control agenda.

Wake up, bugmen: "society" isn't going to keep you safe.

Normies want to feel safe. Bugman types are afraid of guns because they remind them of violence. But even the faggotiest of the faggoty might reconsider if they were made to fully understand just how useless the police are when it comes to ensuring their safety.

The Sheriff's Office is investigating allegations from Coral Springs officers that other deputies held back and did not enter the building, Broward Sheriff Scott Israel said. But the videos, made public in response to an order Monday from a Broward judge, focus on Peterson's actions only.

No videos from other angles or other parts of the campus were released. Although the videos released Thursday show other officers arriving, it's difficult to see what agency they're from and what they're doing.

Yeah, it's not even just this guy who cowered outside. A bunch of other officers held back as well.

Some conspiracy minded folk will take this as evidence that they let this happen (or planned it themselves) in order to try and abolish the 2nd amendment. That might be. But either way, it starkly demonstrates just how useless these police officers are.

We need all White people armed and dangerous.

A free man is armed. Only slaves aren't allowed to carry weapons.

In America, free men carried guns.

In the middle-ages, nobles carried swords.

Even in antiquity, every free man was expected to own arms and armor.

This idea of larping as “free people” while no one is carrying weapons, even as we’re getting murdered in the streets by foreigners, is a very modern and absurd concept.

If we don’t trust someone to carry weapons, then there’s no reason that person should be living in our society to begin with, or have the right to vote, to drive a car, and so on.

This guy was horrible. Good he’s out. That is good for everyone.

He was really an unbelievable scumbag who was yet another figure trying to undermine Trump directly, while also of course pushing his kike war agenda.

Daily Caller:

The White House is reportedly planning to replace national security adviser H.R. McMaster as early as next month, in a plan Defense Secretary Jim Mattis and chief of staff John Kelly drew up.

The move would send McMaster back to a high-level Army command and bring in auto industry executive Stephen Biegun as national security adviser, NBC News reported, citing five administration officials.

McMaster served as director of the Army Capabilities Integration Center in Virginia when he was named national security adviser in February 2017. He remained an active duty Army lieutenant general rather than retire from military service.

Rumors swirled in Washington that President Donald Trump soured on McMaster as national security adviser. McMaster told a forum last month in Germany that evidence for Russian meddling in the 2016 election was “incontrovertible”—a comment that drew a sharp, public correction from the president.

I don’t understand these war people.

I do understand that they just like war and want to do wars, because that is their thing. That’s weird I guess but whatever, if that’s their thing that’s their thing. What I don’t understand is why they can’t do wars against Israel’s allies. Like, why instead of helping ISIS fight Assad can’t they be like “let’s help Yemen fight Saudi”?

Isn’t it pretty much the same difference, if you’re just a war-loving type guy?

Blood-Thirsty Boomer Senselessly MASSACRES Hundreds of Majestic Raptors

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 15, 2018

Boomers are the greatest blight on the face of the Earth. Well alright, maybe they’re slightly behind the Jews in terms of maliciousness. But not by much.

AP:

A Northern California man shot more than 130 hawks and other legally protected birds of prey on his land, leaving the carcasses to pile up at the foot of trees and telephone poles, wildlife officials said Wednesday.

California Department of Fish and Wildlife managers believe the discovery near the rural town of Stanislaus in Lassen County, on the border with Nevada, marks the largest poaching case involving raptors on record for the state, spokesman Capt. Patrick Foy said.

Wildlife officers alerted by an anonymous tip from someone who reported watching a man shooting down a hawk “just started finding one bird after the next,” Foy said.

Wildlife officers don’t know what motivated the shootings, he said.

I know what motivated the shooting. It was Boomer Backlash.

Boomers take personal offense at anything that is natural, beautiful and free. They have to go out of their way to make the world an uglier, dumber, fatter and gayer place.

Richard Parker was clearly going through a prolonged Boomer midlife crisis. So he one day decided to hop in his golf cart, roll up to a nest of beautiful birds and proceed to kill them all.

Authorities booked property owner Richard Parker, 67, into the Lassen County jail on charges including take of birds of prey and take of migratory non-game birds protected by the federal Migratory Bird Treaty Act. The website of the county jail did not show whether Parker had a lawyer to comment on the charges.

He may need a lawyer that specializes in Bird Law.
Video Link

Birds of prey are broadly valued by farmers and others for helping keep down rodent populations. State law bars killing them.

So he wasn’t even killing pests. He was killing Based Birds that helped all-American farmers grow food.

All of the birds appear to have been shot, Foy said. Most were red-tailed hawks, but they also included an owl, at least one magpie songbird, and North America’s largest hawk, the migratory ferruginous hawk.

David Bess, chief of law enforcement for the state wildlife agency, called the scale of the raptor killings “unprecedented” for California.

It could take years for the local raptor population to recover, Bass said in a statement.

If that’s not a metaphor for the ENTIRE FUCKING WORLD I don’t know what is.

The whole world will take centuries to recover from the Boomers. These poor birds were simply the latest victims of these disgusting subhumans.

Civil Rights Activist Dylan “DyRo” Roof’s HAWT Teenage Sister Arrested on Weapon Charge

Andrew Anglin

March 15, 2018

HOLY SHIT DyRo’s sister is HAWT.

For those who don’t know, Dy-lann “DyRo” Roof was a prominent activist for white civil rights and the author of “The Last Rhodesian,” a manifesto about necessity of white liberation.

He was praying at a church when black mammies attacked him and tried to steal his wallet and iPhone. When he defended himself with deadly force, he was charged with “racist murder” and sentenced to jail in what is basically like some kind of Gandhi thing.

Now it looks like they’re going after his family.

Fox News:

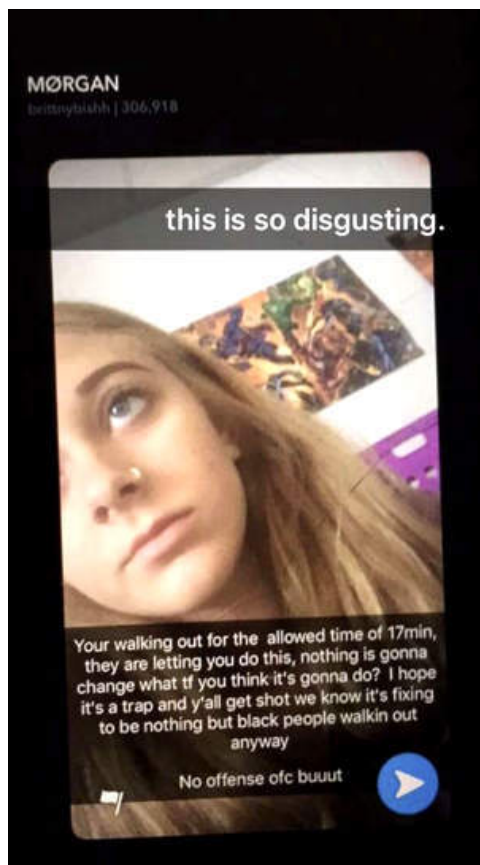

The 18-year-old sister of Charleston, S.C., church shooter Dylan Roof was arrested Wednesday for carrying pepper spray, a knife and marijuana in her high school, authorities said.

Morgan Roof also posted on Snapchat a critique of Wednesday’s National Student Walkout protest against gun violence, the Post and Courier of Charleston, S.C., reported.

“Your [sic] walking out for the allowed time of 17min, They are letting you do this, nothing is going to change what (the expletive) you think it’s gonna do? I hope it’s a trap and y’all get shot we know it’s fixing to be nothing but black people walkin out anyway,” Roof posted, Fox 57 reported.

I’m in love.

This is literally exactly what I said about the event. Actually I think I said I wished they were carrying guns and shooting Jews at the behest of Linda Sarsour, but same difference.

No students were harmed in connection with the arrest, Fox 57 reported.

Roof was transported to the Alvin S. Glenn Detention Center, the station reported. A $5,000 bond carried a judge's condition that Roof not return to A.C. Flora High School, the station reported.

You guys, wait.
Hold on.

How hilarious would it be if I dated Dylann Roof's sister?

Can you even imagine? I think the entire staff of the SPLC would have heart attacks simultaneously.

Morgan, email me—andrewanglin84@gmail.com. Write "THIS IS MORGAN ROOF" in the subject line, because I get six trillion emails per day and only ever lightly skim them. I won't tell anyone you contacted me, hand to God.

Just so you understand, I am not simply a heavily accomplished genius and a key influence on your brother's writing (he cited this article, among others, even though he wasn't even j-woke at the time), I am also an extremely handsome man in peak physical condition.

OPTICS BRO

I have a sort-of gf right now and I live in Nigeria so the dating part is a joke (mostly), but we should be friends for sure.

The kikes are onto you now, and there is no getting away from that, so you're pretty much in this game for life now regardless. You're going to have this fucking Paki sonovabitch from the SPLC coming after you soon.

Sheik Muhammad's son Christian Picciolini. This fat Paki fuck does a bit where he harasses teenage girls and threatens them.

So hit me up and we'll talk.

Trump Declares the Dawning of the SPACE FORCE!

Finally.

Been waiting my entire life for this.

Fox News:

President Trump praised members of the military Tuesday, saying the administration will give them the "largest pay raise in over a decade," while touting successes around the globe, and even suggesting the creation of a new military branch—the "Space Force."

The president spoke to thousands of military men and women at Marine Corps Air Station Miramar in San Diego, Calif., Tuesday, following his visit to review border wall prototypes.

"I have a message for you straight from the heart of the American people, and you know what that is—we support you, we love you and we will always have your back like you have ours," Trump said, also praising military spouses and families for their service.

"For too long, the men and women of the United States Armed Forces have been asked to do more with less," Trump said, listing "underinvestment," deferred modernization and maintenance, old equipment and having "fewer ships than we should, fewer planes than we should, and fewer of you than we should."

"Today I am very proud to report that all of that is changing, and as you have seen, all of that is changing quickly," Trump said, noting that his administration sees "peace through strength."

You all know that once we finally manage to rid ourselves of these meddlesome Hebrews, immediately we will be confronted by a space alien enemy.

Because the nature of life is the struggle. And life exists for that reason. That is why "idealist" visions are disgusting and wrong, as well as useless. There is no perfect future and that should not be a goal.

We are destined to continue the struggle for all of eternity.

Human existence is, if you will, an Eternal Crusade.

Welp; Jew Gary Cohn is Replaced by Jew Larry Kudlow

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 15, 2018

Out of the fire, and into the frying yarmulke?

As Trump #Fired the filthy Jew Gary Cohn, the entire world rejoiced in unison. One less Jew in the White house is always something to celebrate.

Unfortunately, the good times were short-lived. The old Jew is now replaced with a brand-new Jew.

If there's one place where you don't want Jews, it's near your money. Hiring a yid as "economic adviser" is like getting a Moslem to help you out cooking that perfect ham. Ill-advised.

The Hill:

President Trump has picked CNBC contributor Larry Kudlow to be the next White House economic adviser.

Kudlow accepted the president's offer in a telephone call on Monday night.

"Larry Kudlow was offered, and accepted, the position of assistant to the president for economic policy and director of the National Economic Council," White House press secretary Sarah Huckabee Sanders said. "We will work to have an orderly transition and will keep everyone posted on the timing of him officially assuming the role."

The Jew somehow always winds up in position to screw with the goyim's money.

Kudlow will replace Gary Cohn, who resigned after disagreeing with the president's decision to impose steep tariffs on steel and aluminum imports.

Right. Trump basically exploited Cohn in a clever fashion, getting him to implement his tax agenda and simply discarding him when he resisted his populist tariff program. You would think he'd then replace him with someone trustworthy, if less connected, in order to assist him in completing his populist economic platform.

It's very much unclear that Kudlow is the man for that job.

Before becoming a familiar presence on television at CNBC, Kudlow worked for the Federal Reserve and the Reagan administration. He acted as an informal adviser to the Trump campaign, helping to craft an initial tax plan in the run-up to the election and advocating for the GOP tax law.

Speaking to reporters on Tuesday, Trump praised Kudlow for supporting his campaign and described him as a rare financial talent.

"I've known him a long time," Trump said "We don't agree on everything. In this case I think it's good. I want a diversity of opinion...He backed me very early in the campaign, I think the earliest. I think he was one of my original backers. He's a very, very talented man."

Oh, I'm sure he's very talented with those shekels, make no mistake.

The Jew's ability to swindle people out of money is his only redeeming feature. If you can call it that.

Like Cohn, Kudlow has also said he opposes tariffs. But the president suggested that Kudlow had warmed to the idea, at least as a negotiating tactic for trade agreements.

"He's come around to believing in tariffs," Trump said of Kudlow. "I'm renegotiating great deals. Without tariffs we wouldn't do nearly as well."

So what's going on here? There's a few possibilities.

1. Trump feels like he needs to keep a few Jews on board to keep appearances.
2. Kudlow has actually convinced him that he's going to help him implement his economic agenda because of his earlier support, even though he's ideologically opposed to it.
3. This is more 4d chess, and Trump intends to use Kudlow and then dump him later once he's outlived his usefulness, just like he did with Cohn.

The media is praising the choice, which is always a bad sign. But then again, the media is stupid as shit, and couldn't possibly conceive that this is a manipulative move.

It's too early to tell how this will turn out. But considering how Trump handled Cohn, there's plenty of room for optimism that this new Jew won't be allowed to cause much damage.

Children's Jewsade: Ninnying Brats March for Jewish Gun Control!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer

March 14, 2018

Video Link

The Jews have taken to using children in their Crusade—or perhaps I should say Jewsade—against the white race.

The whole idea is that they send these little brats out and then anyone who calls them brats is accused of "attacking children." That's what they did with David "Hogg Me Up Scotty" Hogg and it didn't work, people just got mad when they were told that they weren't allowed to fire back at attacks because of his age. Fundamentally, people saw how dishonest the entire thing was and just started accusing Hogg of being a CIA black ops agent.

But now I guess their thought is "well if it's a whole bunch of children, there's no way they'll be able to criticize our attempt to strip the goyim of their only means of defense against our oppression."

Well, it's not happening.

I think Trump should send the National Guard out to go full Kent State on these nerdy little twerps.

I'll tell you, if I was president "it is better to be feared than loved" is a motto that would be taken to cartoonish levels.

NBC News:

They solemnly spilled onto the high school football field, holding signs protesting gun violence and wearing shirts that read "March for our lives." They waved at a crowd of onlookers who had gathered to show support.

Exactly one month after 17 people were killed at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, survivors of the massacre joined tens of thousands of students across the U.S. by walking out of school on Wednesday morning.

The mass protests were held at 10 a.m. local time in each time zone and lasted 17 minutes, one for each of the Parkland victims. Organizers said the purpose was to highlight "Congress' inaction against the gun violence plaguing our schools and neighborhoods."

Yeah, I think they have been inactive on that topic too.

The solution is called: "GET ON THE BOAT, NIGGER! SHOW'S OVER! TIME TO GO HOME!"

The idea that something other than "black people" is the primary cause of violence in this country is so absurd that any high school girl going around promoting it legitimately deserves to be raped.

An estimated 185,000 people in 50 states were expected to join the walkout, with around 3,100 schools planning to participate, an organizer with the Women's March told NBC News.

Yep.

Planned by "Women's March" people.

And not QUEEN LINDA.

Linda was removed from the Women's March by vindictive kikes—if she still had a voice she would have told kids to walk out of school and march CARRYING GUNS and to use them to SLAUGHTER KIKES.

The Women's march is not what it once was—it is totally controlled by diabolical kikes.

The marches ranged in size. At Terre Haute North Vigo High School in Terre Haute, Indiana, organizer Elisabeth Downing said about 60 students stood in silence, many wearing orange—the color representing support for tighter gun laws.

“No matter what you decide the action to be, we just want action,” said Downing, a senior. “We’re tired of thoughts and prayers, and we’re ready to finally do something.”

In Rhode Island, where a nor’easter on Tuesday dumped up to a foot of snow in some places, students weren’t able to march outside. About 250 students at Pilgrim High School in Warwick instead walked from their classrooms to the auditorium.

This is the gayest imaginable thing, these kids marching around telling people to give up their guns to Jews.

Don’t high schoolers think about like, being cool and so on?

Back in my day they sure did. Everything was about being cool. We used to say “are you with it, bro? can you get down with the clown?”

That was our way of saying “are you chill? can you dig these grooves?”

Now just look at this retard holding up a pink sign.

Let’s take a closer look.

What is going on in these schools?

I’ll float a theory: being “down” as they say was always part of a sexual strategy. Guys wanted to look cool because that is what the bitches are into—cool guys. Guys would look at other guys who had girls and then model their own behavior and style on those guys.

Now, however, everyone is addicted to pornography by the time they’re 10-years-old, so they’re not even even thinking about impressing girls. The idea of physical sex is far, far away from their minds.

Instead of blowjobs, high school boys are looking for pats on the head from kikes. Instead of trying to stab the vag, they’re trying to get on CNN and whine.

This, my friends, is why we must ban porno.

You know who doesn’t watch porno?

Leslie Gibson.

You said it was @gibson_house that said that?

NEWS ON A PLANE: Dog Dies After Flight Crew Forces It Into Luggage Overhead Compartment

March 14, 2018

Stuff with animals is always really sad. They really are our dear friends, and they really are helpless if we don’t take care of them.

I’m gonna go ahead and say with a 100% certainty that it was a brown person who told this woman her dog had to go in the overhead compartment. Because seriously, can you imagine any possible situation where a white person would do something like that?

Fox News:

The seven-year-old daughter of the woman whose French bulldog died after being forced into an overhead bin by a United Airlines flight attendant is speaking out, saying the United employee lied about what happened during the tragic flight.

"While we were flying, the dog started barking and barking and there was no flight attendants coming. We couldn't stand up because there was a lot of turbulence so we weren't allowed to," Sophia Ceballos, speaking on behalf of her mother, Catalina Robledo, told ABC 13.

Ceballos said that attempts to inform the flight attendant of the severity of the situation during the four-hour flight from Houston's Bush Intercontinental Airport to New York's LaGuardia Airport were unsuccessful.

"She said, 'Oh, I'm sorry. I didn't know it was a dog. I thought it was a normal bag.' But we told her it was a dog, she's lying," the teary eyed girl says in video footage obtained by the outlet.

Despite bringing their pet aboard the aircraft in a TSA-compliant pet carrier that Robledo should have been able to keep underneath the seat in front of her, as per United's pet policy, a yet-unidentified United flight attendant allegedly forced the New York family to store Kakito in his carrier store in an overhead bin for the duration of the flight.

"She's like, 'he died, he died. Kokito, Kokito. And he didn't wake up. She hit his chest so he could breathe, but he couldn't breathe,'" Ceballos said of her mother's forlorn reaction to realizing the dog had died, after landing.

Of course, the master was white.

I want to help this woman and her daughter. They lost their dog because of an @united flight attendant. My heart is broken. pic.twitter.com/mjXYAhxsAq

We have to get them out.

Pennsylvania Election: Democrat is Apparent Victor

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 14, 2018

8:56 AM EST:

It is looking like it's over. Democrat has declared victory.
CNN:

Democrat Conor Lamb is poised to deliver a stunning upset to the Republican Party in a Pennsylvania district Donald Trump handily won in 2016.

After a long night of drama, the race was too close to declare a winner. At this point, however, Republican Rick Saccone would have to overcome a significant uphill climb to overtake Lamb in the vote count.

Lamb claimed victory in a speech to his supporters Tuesday night.

"It took a little longer than we thought, but we did it," he said. "You did it."

Saccone, however, said he isn't giving up.

"We are still fighting the fight. It's not over yet," Saccone told his supporters more than an hour earlier.

It is what it is. It demonstrates the need for the GOP and for us here in the tubes to get more serious about the mid-terms.

Furthermore, it demonstrates the reality that we cannot rely on the GOP, and there is a good chance that we are not going to hold power after Trump, and that we need to be using these Trump years to build-up our own organizations.

1:28 AM EST:

It's after midnight and still no call.

The Hill:

Tuesday's pivotal Pennsylvania special House election is too close to call, a disturbing sign for Republicans in what has usually been a deep-red district.

Democrat Conor Lamb and Republican Rick Saccone are locked in a high-profile battle that won't be decided until the early hours of Wednesday morning. As votes continue to trickle in, Lamb is up by 579 votes with 3,200 absentee ballots left to be counted in a district President Trump won by nearly 20 points in 2016.

The razor-thin margin is the latest twist in the special election for the 18th District, which opened up in October when longtime Rep. Tim Murphy (R) resigned in the face of allegations that he'd had an affair.

While early returns proved promising for Lamb, Saccone gained ground as more votes from the GOP stronghold of Westmoreland County trickled in. Lamb won 57 percent of the vote in Allegheny County, while Saccone hit the same margin in his stronghold of Westmoreland County. To Lamb's benefit, Allegheny is the largest county in the district. But Saccone has been able to close the gap with majorities in Washington and Greene counties.

Washington County has 1,195 absentee ballots still out while CNN reported that there are 203 absentee ballots left to count in Greene County. Greene County ballots won't be counted until Wednesday morning, but Washington County officials reversed course and announced they would count those votes as soon as possible.

Does this mean they do a do over?

I have no idea.

We'll know in a few hours...probably.

Fingers crossed. It would be good to win.

Schwarzenegger said during an interview with Politico's "Off Message" podcast that he is still working on the timing for his push, but he is now speaking with private law firms.

...

"The oil companies knew from 1959 on, they did their own study that there would be global warming happening because of fossil fuels, and on top of it that it would be risky for people's lives, that it would kill."

Schwarzenegger accused oil companies of being irresponsible and vowed to go after them.

"It's absolutely irresponsible to know that your product is killing people and not have a warning label on it, like tobacco," he said.

I feel really bad for the tobacco and oil industry. They must have done something very bad indeed to get literally every leftist goon in the world so mad at them. Perhaps they screwed the Jews over somehow?

Schwarzenegger also took aim at President Trump during the interview, saying he doesn't understand why "the Russians make him say certain things."

"It's beyond me. Why do you think he says those things? He's supposed to be very busy," he said.

Schwarzenegger has in the past been critical of Trump, challenging him throughout his campaign and presidency.

Is Trump About to Pull a Judo Move on the Russian Meddling Narrative?

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 14, 2018

Sure, we'll crack down on these dastardly KGB Russian or whatever. But we won't stop there.

With the House Intelligence Committee winding-down their Russia investigation, it seems like the "meddling" narrative is falling apart.

However, the Jewish media and opposition Democrats are unlikely to be letting this go anytime soon.

The thing is, they don't seem to have realized yet that this whole business is playing with fire, and providing Trump with an opportunity to destroy them decisively, with only a small pivot.

If this is his plan, then it makes perfect sense to allow the accusations and conspiracies to fester for as long as possible and build to a crescendo before he makes his move. And he's now hinting that this is indeed his intention.

ABC News:

As the midterm election season gets underway, lawmakers on both sides of the aisle and intelligence officials alike have expressed frustration over what they see as the Trump administration's lack of a clear and comprehensive strategy to prevent election interference, particularly from Russia.

Until recently, President Donald Trump has wavered on the extent of Russia meddling in the election, but he has more recently been re-signing to insisting that it had no effect on the results of the 2016 election.

The accusations are totally credible, after all.

"Well, the Russians had no impact on our votes whatsoever," Trump said last Tuesday. "But certainly there was meddling and probably there was meddling from other countries and maybe other individuals."

The meddling narrative has been entirely focused on Russia. But a very slight change of focus to "meddling" in general would be a disaster for the Jews and their agenda.

After all, most of the election fraud was done for the benefit of the democrats, not Trump. As Andrew Anglin has noted, there's a hell of a lot more people with Israeli citizenship "meddling" in our elections than Russians.

Moreover, most of the fraud we see is illegal immigrants voting for liberal candidates.

This is the real "election hacking" right there.

Critics have come down on the administration for not doing enough to stop interference, regardless.

"I don't get the sense that there's a whole lot being done to create a national strategy to make sure this doesn't happen again," said Michael Sulmeyer, the director of Belfer Center's Cyber Security Project at the Harvard Kennedy School of Government.

Sulmeyer said on the domestic level, the federal government has been working with election officials to shore up their cyber defenses and while there has been some movement on the issue, even less is known about what's happening to combat interference abroad.

There's concern that "other countries will join in the fray this time around, not just the Russians," said David Fidler, a senior fellow for cybersecurity on the Council on Foreign Relations.

"Other countries."

Yes, pivoting to other countries meddling in the election can only be good for us. Paranoia over foreign meddling is not usually a narrative of the left; it's a very nationalistic attitude, which is usually employed to justify cracking down on foreign elements.

What they did was twist this sentiment into an intricate and absurd tale involving Russia promoting Trump in order to avoid WW3 by revealing how corrupt his opposition was. Even if this was credible, most normal people will go "well, isn't that a good thing?"

It's a very flimsy, desperate plan, and it could easily blow up in their faces.

Administration officials told ABC News there is, in fact, a comprehensive effort to combat Russian meddling, and more broadly, foreign interference in our election systems, but offered few specifics, noting that some of the information is classified.

The thing is, the Jews didn't think this through.

They thought this narrative would simply be used to discredit and impeach Trump. But that's not happening. Now, the question becomes, "if foreign meddling is a problem, what do we do about it?"

They're not gonna like where this is going.

And that's not a question the Jews want answered. Because the practical aspects of preventing "election fraud" and "foreign meddling" would make Trump, and White America, much stronger.

Here are some reasonable policies Trump could implement to crack down on "foreign meddling:"

1. Get Homeland Security to take over the election process across America, preventing both electronic vote fraud and illegal immigrant voting.

2. Set up a law where people with foreign or dual citizenship (including Mexico and Israel) have to give disclaimers before commenting on politics in the media or on the internet, or else be guilty of “foreign meddling.”
3. Make it illegal for people with foreign or dual citizenship to serve in government...Or in the media, academia, etc.
4. Ban lobby groups representing foreign countries or interests (including AIPAC).

I can assure you, this is not what the Jews want. Playing on the xenophobic heartstrings of the people while a populist leader is in power was an incredibly stupid move, and it seems like the Trump administration is placing itself in a position to capitalize on it.

The Jews have, in their hubris, a Pandora's box they'll soon wish they had never touched.

LARGEST EVER TECH MERGER COCKBLOCKED!

I haven't seen a cockblocking like this since this one guy I knew in high school!

Daily Mail:

President Donald Trump blocked Singapore chipmaker Broadcom from pursuing a hostile takeover of U.S. rival Qualcomm, ruling the proposed combination would imperil national security.

(Just so you understand, Qualcomm is American—they were trying to absorb our manufacturer.)

The decision, announced late Monday, abruptly ends Broadcom's four-month, $117 billion bid to buy Qualcomm—a deal that would have been the largest ever completed in the technology industry.

In a statement, Broadcom said it “strongly disagrees” that the acquisition raises any national-security concerns. Qualcomm did not immediately respond to a request for comment.

Not only is this a massive donkey punch to the back of the head of the entire globo-corpro establishment—it is a serious assertion of American power on the global market.

This is on par with the time Richard Spencer beat the living shit out of a random Chinese man in an airplane bathroom—simply to demonstrate the superiority of the ARYAN MASTER RACE!

Furthermore, the national security bit is actually very true. These chips are the basis of any mobile phone, and they are very difficult to figure out. We Won: House Intelligence Committee is Shutting Down the Russian Kookvestigation

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 13, 2018

It's over, guys.
It is finally, finally, finally over.
The Hill:

The House Intelligence Committee is shutting down its contentious investigation into Russian interference in the 2016 presidential election, the top Republican leading the probe announced on Monday.

The committee will interview no more witnesses and Republicans are in the process of preparing their final report, Rep. Mike Conaway (R-Texas) told reporters. A draft of that roughly 150-page report will be delivered to committee Democrats for review on Tuesday.

The draft document asserts that there is no evidence of collusion between the Trump campaign and the Russians, the most politically charged question examined by the committee.

It will also contradict an official U.S. intelligence community assessment that Russian President Vladimir Putin showed a "preference" for Donald Trump during the race—another assertion that Trump has disputed.

"We found no evidence of collusion," Conaway said Monday. "We found perhaps some bad judgment, inappropriate meetings, inappropriate judgment in taking meetings—but only Tom Clancy could take this series of inadvertent contacts, meetings, whatever, and weave that into some sort of a spy thriller that could go out there."

Further, he said, "we couldn't establish the same conclusion that the CIA did that [the Russians] specifically wanted to help Trump."

Yeah.

And how much further from that point do you have to go to come to the conclusion that the CIA was fucking lying, just like the FBI, the Hillary Clinton campaign and the entire Jewish media? That this whole thing was a conspiracy to hoax a conspiracy?

If you open that box of Pandora, the entire Jewish/Democrat establishment is going to be implemented in this.

I have always felt like it was unlikely that anyone big would ever go down, but this all amounts to outright sedition which involves Barack Obama, James Comey, James Clapper, John Brennan and Hillary Clinton, along with basically every person underneath all of these people.

The entire media is implicated, directly, as functioning as an arm of the Democrat Party and the intelligence community, working with them to undermine American elections first and then to frame the elected president as a foreign agent.

We already have proof that Hillary Clinton manufactured a fake intelligence document featuring urine-oriented sex which was then used by the FBI to get warrants for the Obama administration to spy on Donald Trump. They defrauded a federal judge. We have texts of high-level FBI agents, who were later employed by the Mueller council, actively planning to thwart Trump before and after he was elected. We have former director Comey lying under oath, repeatedly, for the specific purpose of ruining an elected president.

Just imagine what we would find if we started issuing subpoenas.

These people will go full Bud Dwyer.

What Now, Robert Mueller?

Just for anyone not keeping up with this, the investigation that has just ended was being done by Congress, and is separate from the "independent" investigation being conducted by former FBI director Robert Mueller, which is staffed with Comey's FBI people and Hillary Clinton campaign staffers.

That investigation is an unapologetic fishing expedition, which has indicted Paul Manafort over a beach house tax-avoidance plot, and recently issued indictments for over a dozen Russians for allegedly shitposting on social media about election-related topics (that part was especially nuts, as it presumably implies that Jews, all of whom are de facto citizens of a foreign country, can be prosecuted for posting about American politics on the internet).

This is a complete circus show. Mueller recently announced that he is looking into whether Trump is an agent of the Arabs.

Now that that the Intelligence Committee—a group that has virtually unlimited access to classified information—has declared that this entire thing is a joke, Mueller is going to be under a serious amount of pressure to explain what the fuck he is doing.

He's going to have to announce something soon.

And then, we need a second special counsel. We need to investigate this entire anti-Trump conspiracy, and we need to investigate the purpose of it. Because it is all the cover-up. They didn't want Trump in office because of politics and so on, the intelligence community has (((it's own reasons))), but for Hillary and Obama, the core of this was fear that their own criminal conspiracies would be exposed.

Robert Mueller was himself appointed as the special counsel specifically because he was implicated in the larger criminal conspiracy when he was the head of the FBI. We already know that he shutdown the investigation into Hillary over the Uranium One plot. He was also FBI director when Benghazi happened. Presumably he also quashed investigations into pay-to-play scandals involving the Clinton Foundation.

And hey, I don't know about you all, but I still think Pizzagate is real.

All of these people are in on it. They have all committed treasonous acts that they could go to prison for the rest of their lives over, if not be executed.

And the FBI, DOJ, CIA and the remainder of the intelligence agencies—they are all implicated. If these organizations are deemed to be irredeemably corrupt, at the same time that congresspeople and senators are being indicted, Trump is going to have a pretext to shut down the entire government and declare martial law.

And then, we can finally get back to the business at hand:

Making America great again.

Trump Fires Secretary of State Rex Tillerson, Replaces Him with Mike Pompeo

Andrew Anglin

March 13, 2018

Mike Pompeo, Director of the CIA, will become our new Secretary of State. He will do a fantastic job! Thank you to Rex Tillerson for his service! Gina Haspel will become the new Director of the CIA, and the first woman so chosen. Congratulations to all!

— Donald J. Trump (@realDonaldTrump) March 13, 2018

I predicted it! You can go back and find it, I predicted this! I told you and you didn't listen but I predicted this! I predicted it!

No but seriously, I did actually predict this a couple days ago. When he pulled out of the Africa event (I'm pretty sure he was there to watch Black Panther with "true Wakandans").

I didn't predict that he would be replaced with Mike Pompeo though. That seems like a weird choice.

CNBC:

Rex Tillerson is out as secretary of State, ending a tumultuous tenure as America's top diplomat that was marked by a series of public disagreements with his boss—President Donald Trump.

Trump plans to appoint CIA Director Mike Pompeo to replace the former Exxon Mobil chief executive. The president picked deputy CIA Director Gina Haspel to run the spy agency.

The Washington Post first reported the news, which the president quickly confirmed in a tweet. Trump thanked Tillerson for his service and said Pompeo will do a "fantastic job."

This announcement comes just hours after the shitbag Tillerson was rattling on like a crazy person about the Russian poisoning hoax in the UK, which anyone with an eye or two can tell is a false flag staged by some intelligence agency.

NBC News:

Secretary of State Rex Tillerson said that the poisoning of an ex-spy and his daughter with a military-grade nerve agent in the U.K. is “a really egregious act” that appears to have “clearly” come from Russia.

Nevertheless, Tillerson said that it was not yet known “whether it came from Russia with the Russian government’s knowledge.”

The comments echoed those made Monday by British Prime Minister Theresa May, who said that it is “highly likely” Russia is responsible for the poisoning, either directly or because it lost control of the nerve agent. May gave Russia a midnight deadline to explain how Skripal, who passed secrets to Russian intelligence, and his daughter Yulia were poisoned.

Tillerson also expressed bewilderment that another country would deliberately target people in public, using a dangerous substance in a foreign country.

“It’s almost beyond comprehension that a state, an organized state, would do something like that,” he said while traveling aboard a U.S. airplane during a trip to Africa.

“A non-state actor, I could understand. A state actor—I cannot understand why anyone would take such an action,” he said.

Yeah, good point, buddy. And if something sounds too good to be true (for the people trying to hoax Russia), then it most likely is.

But this guy comes out and says this shit with no evidence.

Trump does these firings after specific incidents.

He fired Comey immediately after he had given a speech to the ADL, and after firing him he immediately met with Russia’s top diplomat, Sergei Lavrov.

He sucked. He did nothing but shuffle around and occasionally make offensive Russophobic statements.

I don’t know about Pompeo, he is probably going to be a whole helluva lot worse. As I understand it, he’s a neocon warmonger. But who knows, right? Maybe he’s on board...but probably no.

Two Mail Bombs Go Off in Austin, Texas – Two Dead

Daily Stormer

March 13, 2018

While mailing anthrax is becoming more common for some reason, apparently Austin has another unabomber.

There’s not really much here, other than the fact that some guy dropped two mailbombs at two seemingly unconnected houses.

The Jewish media is implying that it’s racism. Because of course.

CNN:

Three package bombs that exploded in Austin, Texas, over 10 days—killing a teenager and a 39-year-old man and critically injuring an elderly woman—appear to be connected, police said Monday.

Here’s what we know so far:

- Two of the explosions happened within hours of each other Monday, sending police scrambling from one crime scene to the next. The first blast happened March 2.

- The bombs killed a 39-year-old African-American man on March 2, killed a 17-year-old African-American male early Monday morning, and severely injured a 75-year-old Hispanic woman midday Monday. A woman hurt in the Monday morning explosion had non-life threatening injuries, police said.

- The residents found the packages outside their houses, but none was delivered by the Postal Service or delivery services like UPS or FedEx, police said.

- Police also have not decided if these are hate crimes, but said that’s a possibility because of the victims’ races.

- “The evidence makes us believe these incidents are related,” Austin Police Chief Brian Manley said.

The packages were placed in front of the residents’ houses, the chief said.

In describing the blast that killed the teenager, Manley said: “One of the residents went out front and there was a package on the front doorstep. They brought that package inside the residence and as they opened that package, both victims were in the kitchen, and the package exploded, causing the injuries that resulted in the young man’s death and the injuries to the adult female.”

Neighbors described house-rattling experiences.

Whatever the cause is, it is clear that we are entering into a new terrible state of ongoing civil unrest.

Noble Confederate Heroes to be Replaced with Memorial to Surly Negress

Fash McQueen
Daily Stormer
March 13, 2018

You're being replaced, White man.

By scowling negresses.
Fox News:

More than six months after a statue of Confederate Generals Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson was removed from a Baltimore park, about 200 residents and elected officials gathered to rededicate the space to abolitionist and Underground Railroad conductor Harriet Tubman.

The Saturday ceremony in Wyman Park Dell, on the 105th anniversary of Tubman's death, happened only a few feet from the bare pedestal where a large, bronze statue of Lee and Jackson riding horses once stood. The space will now be called Harriet Tubman Grove.

Sickening.

Tubman is best known for helping runaway slaves and her heartwarming adventure with a plucky young boy.

Harriet Tubman seems to be the only negro who the Jews can dig up and claim did anything before 1900.

She's the same negress that was being floated to replace the honorable bad-ass, Andrew Jackson, on the twenty-dollar bill—until White people stood up and said "Fuck that noise!"

You kikes had better print a shit-ton more tens. Because no self-respecting White man is going to walk around with this oily black mongrel in his pocket.

Is this testy gibbon all they've got?

Are we going to have to look at statues of this angry-looking monkey-woman in every park that used to have beautiful monuments to our noble White ancestors?

Is that the plan?

Because, that seems like the plan.

Every city in America is to have a Harriet Tubman statue at every intersection of Martin Luther King Street and Martin Luther King Street.

All I really remember about this negress is that she claimed to be the "conductor" of something called "The Underground Railroad."

Which was not actually "underground"—and was not actually a "railroad."

So everything about this bitch is a lie.

They just named it that because they knew kids would be like "HOLY SHIT A RAILROAD UNDERGROUND THAT SOUNDS AWESOME."

Let's Wiki this grumpy baboon:

When the Civil War began, Tubman worked for the Union Army, first as a cook and nurse, and then as an armed scout and spy. The first woman to lead an armed expedition in the war, she guided the raid at Combahee Ferry, which liberated more than 700 slaves.

I'll bet you one-hundred bad-ass Andrew Jacksons that Tubman "leading an armed expedition" went exactly like this:

Union Officer: "I'm not familiar with these parts. Should I take this road on the left, or this road on the right?"

Union Officer: "Cool—thanks, nigger."

In April 1858, Tubman was introduced to the abolitionist John Brown, an insurgent who advocated the use of violence to destroy slavery in the United States. Although she never advocated violence against whites, she agreed with his course of direct action and supported his goals.

Tubman: "Now, I'm not going to personally say that you should go kill Whitey. But, go kill Whitey."

Brown dreamed of fighting to create a new state for freed slaves, and made preparations for military action. After he began the first battle, he believed, slaves would rise up and carry out a rebellion across the south. He asked Tubman to gather former slaves then living in present-day Southern Ontario who might be willing to join his fighting force, which she did.

Tubman: "Lawd, I ain't one for no violence—but let me go rustle up an army of savage black bucks to help you go kill Whitey."

She rejected the teachings of the New Testament that urged slaves to be obedient and found guidance in the Old Testament tales of deliverance.

So, she was a Fake Christian who cherry-picked the Bible so she could ignore the parts that told her not to be an uppity nigger. Got it.

And, look at this shit:

In her later years, Tubman was an activist in the struggle for women's suffrage.

So, not only did this niggerbitch help defeat the honorable White men of the Confederacy in the War of Northern Aggression—but she then went on to help pass the 19th Amendment, which allowed women to vote and completely destroyed America!

Now I understand why the Jews love this subversive monkey-bitch!

What kind of evil chicanery created this dangerous, civilization-destroying, Black creature?!

Wait, hol up.

Tubman was told that she was of Ashanti lineage (from what is now Ghana), though no evidence exists to confirm or deny this assertion. Her mother Rit (who may have had a white father) was a cook for the Brodess family.

Let this be a lesson to everyone out there.

When you add White DNA to a savage nigger, what you get is a savage nigger with agency.

World Wide Web Inventor Tim Berners-Lee Calls for Regulation of Big Tech

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 12, 2018

It is going to happen.

Every non-Jew in the industry is calling for it now. The public is demanding it. Alex Jones is all up on it.

And Donald Trump knows that without the ability for his own supporters to organize on the internet, he loses a whole lot of power and influence. I think all right-wingers in the government understand this.

And the whole Russian conspiracy gibberish gives the perfect pretext for the government to get involved with the tech industry and tell them they do not have a right to organize to silence the free speech of American citizens.

The Guardian:

Sir Tim Berners-Lee, inventor of the world wide web, has called for large technology firms to be regulated to prevent the web from being “weaponised at scale”.

“In recent years, we’ve seen conspiracy theories trend on social media platforms, fake Twitter and Facebook accounts stoke social tensions, external actors interfere in elections, and criminals steal troves of personal data,” Berners-Lee wrote in an open letter marking the 29th anniversary of his invention.

These problems have proliferated because of the concentration of power in the hands of a few platforms—including Facebook, Google, and Twitter— which “control which ideas and opinions are seen and shared”.

“What was once a rich selection of blogs and websites has been compressed under the powerful weight of a few dominant platforms,” said the 62-year-old British computer scientist.

These online gatekeepers can lock in their power by acquiring smaller rivals, buying up new innovations and hiring the industry’s top talent, making it harder for others to compete, he said.

Yeah, that is the thing.

Their power is already locked in because they’ve already bought all of the smaller rivals. And even the smaller rivals that haven’t been bought can be bullied very easily with threats of denial of various services, as was evidenced by the campaign to remove Daily Stormer from the internet completely.

First it was Godaddy and Google, then a whole list of smaller registrars.

Video Link

And all types of different services.

The alleged capitalists (and communists) want to come out and scream about “MUH PRIVATE COMPANIES HAVE A RIGHT TO DO BUSINESS WITH WHO THEY CHOOSE,” but what you have is effectively an oligopoly of allied conspirators who are pushing a political agenda.

And the DS situation PROVED THAT BEYOND ANY DOUBT.

Honestly, it was stupid for them to do this to me, because now they can’t even claim that it is impossible or they won’t do it.

The FCC even cited the DS situation in their filing regarding net neutrality. The DS shut down was the event that has precipitated this entire conversation.

I guess that shows how effective we are that they were willing to cook their own goose in their attempt to silence us.

Google now accounts for about 87% of online searches worldwide. Facebook has more than 2.2 billion monthly active users—more than 20 times more than MySpace at its peak. Together, the two companies (including their subsidiaries Instagram and YouTube) slurp up more than 60% of digital advertising spend worldwide.

Although the companies are aware of the problems and have made efforts to fix them—developing systems to tackle fake news, bots and influence operations—they have been built to “maximise profit more than maximise social good”.

I don’t think Tim cares about the fake news bullshit.

He cares about the IDEA of the internet which was FREEDOM FOR THE PEOPLE.

And the situation with DS showed him and everyone else that this is already gone, and if we don't act now, we'll never get it back.

NOTE: I am not implying that Tim is a Neo-Nazi White Supremacist or supports Daily Stormer. I am simply saying that he played a leading role in creating the idea of the internet, and he knows that what happened to DS means that idea is dead.

"A legal or regulatory framework that accounts for social objectives may help ease those tensions," he said.

Aligning the incentives of the technology sector with those of users and society at large, he argued, will require consulting a diverse group of people from business, government, civil society, academia and the arts.

Berners-Lee warned of "two myths" that "limit our collective imagination" when looking for solutions to the problems facing the web: "The myth that advertising is the only possible business model for online companies, and the myth that it's too late to change the way platforms operate. On both points we need to be a little more creative," he said.

"I want the web to reflect our hopes and fulfil our dreams, rather than magnify our fears and deepen our divisions," he said.

The open letter comes a year after Berners-Lee called for tighter regulation of online political advertising, which he said was being used in "un-ethical ways".

Since then, representatives from Facebook, Twitter and Google have been hauled in front of Congress to answer questions over the extent to which their platforms were used in a multi-pronged Russian operation to influence the 2016 presidential election.

All three admitted that Russian entities bought ads on their sites in an attempt to skew the vote. Russians posed as Americans to buy ads on Facebook pushing divisive messages focusing on swing states. They also spent tens of thousands of dollars on ads to spread disinformation across YouTube and Google. On Twitter, swarms of bots helped promote fake news stories.

Lee is playing up the Russia thing because he, like me, understands that this is tactical.

The enemies of freedom have put forward this agenda, and we have the opportunity to reverse it, and throw it back in their faces.

FULL OPEN LETTER FOLLOWS

Today, the world wide web turns 29. This year marks a milestone in the web's history: for the first time, we will cross the tipping point when more than half of the world's population will be online.

When I share this exciting news with people, I tend to get one of two concerned reactions:

How do we get the other half of the world connected?

Are we sure the rest of the world wants to connect to the web we have today?

The threats to the web today are real—from misinformation and questionable political advertising to a loss of control over our personal data. But I remain committed to making sure the web is a free, open, creative space—for everyone.

That vision is only possible if we get everyone online, and make sure the web works for people. I founded the Web Foundation to fight for the web's future. Here's where we must focus our efforts:

Close the digital divide

The divide between people who have internet access and those who do not is deepening existing inequalities, inequalities that pose a serious global threat. Unsurprisingly, you're more likely to be offline if you are female, poor, live in a rural area or a low-income country, or some combination of the above. To be offline today is to be excluded from opportunities to learn and earn, to access valuable services, and to participate in democratic debate. If we do not invest seriously in closing this gap, the last billion will not be connected until 2042. That's an entire generation left behind.

In 2016, the UN declared internet access a human right, on par with clean water, electricity, shelter and food. But until we make internet access affordable for all, billions will continue to be denied this basic right. The target has been set—the UN recently adopted the Alliance for Affordable Internet's threshold for affordability: 1GB of mobile data for less than 2% of average monthly income. The reality, however, is that we're still a long way off from reaching this target—in some countries, the cost of 1GB of mobile broadband remains more than 20% of average monthly income.

What will it take to actually achieve this goal? We must support policies and business models that expand access to the world's poorest through public access solutions, such as community networks and public wifi initiatives. We must invest in securing reliable access for women and girls, and empowering them through digital skills training.

Make the web work for people

The web that many connected to years ago is not what new users will find today. What was once a rich selection of blogs and websites has been compressed under the powerful weight of a few dominant platforms. This concentration of power creates a new set of gatekeepers, allowing a handful of platforms to control which ideas and opinions are seen and shared.

These dominant platforms are able to lock in their position by creating barriers for competitors. They acquire startup challengers, buy up new innovations and hire the industry's top talent. Add to this the competitive advantage that their user data gives them and we can expect the next 20 years to be far less innovative than the last.

What's more, the fact that power is concentrated among so few companies has made it possible to weaponise the web at scale. In recent years, we've seen conspiracy theories trend on social media platforms, fake Twitter and Facebook accounts stoke social tensions, external actors interfere in elections, and criminals steal troves of personal data.

We've looked to the platforms themselves for answers. Companies are aware of the problems and are making efforts to fix them—with each change they make affecting millions of people. The responsibility—and sometimes burden—of making these decisions falls on companies that have been built to maximise profit more than to maximise social good. A legal or regulatory framework that accounts for social objectives may help ease those tensions.

Bring more voices to the debate on the web's future

The future of the web isn't just about those of us who are online today, but also those yet to connect. Today's powerful digital economy calls for strong standards that balance the interests of both companies and online citizens. This means thinking about how we align the incentives of the tech sector with those of users and society at large, and consulting a diverse cross section of society in the process.

Two myths currently limit our collective imagination: the myth that advertising is the only possible business model for online companies, and the myth that it's too late to change the way platforms operate. On both points, we need to be a little more creative.

While the problems facing the web are complex and large, I think we should see them as bugs: problems with existing code and software systems that have been created by people—and can be fixed by people. Create a new set of incentives and changes in the code will follow. We can design a web that creates a constructive and supportive environment.

Today, I want to challenge us all to have greater ambitions for the web. I want the web to reflect our hopes and fulfil our dreams, rather than magnify our fears and deepen our divisions.

As the late internet activist, John Perry Barlow, once said: "A good way to invent the future is to predict it." It may sound utopian, it may sound impossible to achieve after the setbacks of the last two years, but I want us to imagine that future and build it.

Let's assemble the brightest minds from business, technology, government, civil society, the arts and academia to tackle the threats to the web's future. At the Web Foundation, we are ready to play our part in this mission and build the web we all want. Let's work together to make it possible.

Trump Isn't Going to Put an Age Restriction on Buying Long Guns

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 12, 2018

FOR GOD AND COUNTRY DEATH TO INFIDELS NO SURRENDER FROM THE CONSTITUTION MEN HAVE DIED FOR THAT FLAG FAGGOT

Trump again doing 88D chess. He came out saying "maybe we should raise the age for buying long guns?" and people were like "U WOT M8" and so he's like "well, the people don't want it, what can I do?"

He walks away looking reasonable, and we've got no gun control. Fox News:

The White House announced a series of recommendations Sunday night meant to stop school shootings, including a full audit and review of the FBI tip line after warnings about a student who killed 17 people at a Florida high school last month were not acted upon.

The administration did not call for immediately increasing the minimum age for buying long guns to 21, as President Trump had previously advocated. However, it did announce that Education Secretary Betsy DeVos would chair a federal commission on school safety to study the proposal.

The recommendations were announced nearly a month after the mass shooting at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Fla.

DeVos said in a statement that the commission would look at a “wide range” of ideas in order to ensure that “no student or family should ever have to live the horror of Parkland or Sandy Hook ever again.”

Remember: the shooter was a kike-Jew.

But that honestly isn't even really the point.

This has nothing to do with guns, whatever the case.

The main thing is SSRI pills, and Trump should drop that bomb. We know this. It's been studied. The Prozac package even has to inform you this drug might cause you to “harm yourself or others.”

Serious Side Effects

Although rare, Prozac is associated with certain more serious side effects. If you notice any of the following in your child, contact your healthcare provider immediately:

- New or worsening anxiety or depression symptoms
- Severe agitation or restlessness
- Uncontrollable anger or violence
- Panic attacks (e.g., difficulty breathing, racing heartbeat)
- Symptoms of mania (e.g., racing thoughts, pressured and fast speech, excessive risk-taking)
- Unusual changes in behavior or mood
- Problems with coordination

Increased Thoughts of Suicide in Children Taking Prozac

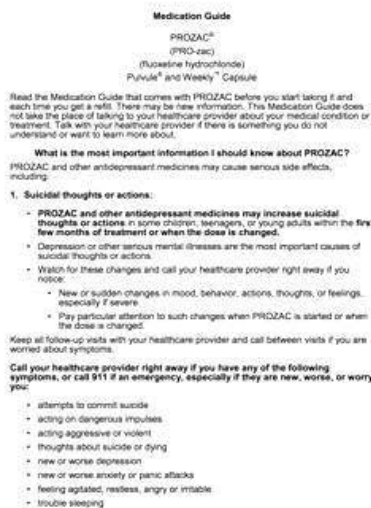

In addition to some of the other serious side effects mentioned above, the FDA has issued a public warning about an increased risk of suicidal thoughts or behavior in children and adolescents up to age 25 who are taking SSRI antidepressant medications.

I am not aware of a single non-Islamic mass shooter who was not either on SSRIs or presumed to be. Around 90% of them have been confirmed to be.

Cocaine is banned simply because it might make you party too hard or have sex with someone you otherwise would not (plus heart problems, niggers using it to make crack), but this is a literal MURDER PILL that is handed out like candies from a pedophile—which the FDA approves even though they have published numerous studies about how it causes mania, suicidal thoughts, suicide and other negative effects along with murder.

This is from the FDA's own basic medication guide for Prozac:

Reference ID: 3642867

So you can tell me what's going on with that, but this has become a much bigger issue than simply the health of the individual.

They haven't confirmed Cruz was on SSRIs per se, but they have confirmed he was on some kind of psyche meds.

NBC News:

Lynda Cruz, his adoptive mother who died from pneumonia in November 2017, told mental health investigators in 2016 that her son suffered from ADHD, depression and autism but insisted he received his necessary medication as prescribed, according to the report. She told investigators at the time that her son did not own a gun, beyond an air gun that she had taken away when he “didn't follow house rules about only shooting it within the backyard at the targets.”

Lynda Cruz told investigators that her son had started to cut himself after a breakup, the report said. She also “stated that there has never been any issues with other races or issues with racism in her family.”

There is pretty much zero chance that he wasn't on SSRIs.

By the way, SSRIs are all the same thing as Prozac, they just keep having to change the name because of the bad rap Prozac has gotten, what with all these shooters and so on.

As long as these pills keep getting passed out, it won't matter if we have guns. Right now, the manic drugged-out crazies are using guns because it is the easiest, but if you took the guns, they would just use bombs or chemicals or whatever.

You need to stop people from being driven to commit these acts. If some guy threw a bunch of people off a bridge, no one would call to ban bridges.

And YO—I don't even have to go there with a hypothetical. Hajis are using BIG TRUCKS to run people over and no one has called for a ban on trucks.

Everything ceases to work properly.

Fox News:

At least two people were killed and three were in critical condition Sunday night after a helicopter with six people aboard crashed in New York City's East River, officials said.

The chopper's pilot managed to free himself, while two people were declared dead at the scene of the crash, NYPD Commissioner James O'Neill said at a news conference. Rescuers pulled three other people from the water and rushed them to nearby hospitals.

Gotta love how everything is on video now.

— JJ Magers (@JJmagers) March 11, 2018

Cellphone cameras are what killed the UFO movement.

Two of the critical victims were sent to New York's Bellevue Hospital with no heartbeat and were not expected to survive, a source told Fox News. The third critical victim was rushed to NYU Langone Hospital.

The group, which officials said was flying as part of a Liberty Helicopters tour, was on the private Eurocopter AS350 for a photo shoot when it crashed around 7 p.m. Officials said the water Sunday night was frigid, with temperatures below 40 degrees.

It was not immediately clear what caused the crash, but the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) and the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) planned to investigate.

I guarantee, it was caused by colored people or a woman. Even if it wasn't the pilot that was one of those things, it would have been a mechanic, whatever.

White men have created an advanced technological society, and it is only white men who are capable of maintaining this society.

Probably a Good Call: Elizabeth Warren Refuses DNA Test to Prove She's a Feather Indian

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 12, 2018

Elizabeth Warren is bravely refusing the race bullies who are demanding that she take a DNA test to show she's a feather Indian.

She's also dropping out of the Presidential race that hasn't started yet because well—people were going to keep asking her for that DNA test.

Fox News:

Massachusetts Democratic Sen. Elizabeth Warren on Sunday ruled out a 2020 presidential run and taking a DNA test to prove Native American ancestry—an issue that has nagged her Senate campaigns and would almost certainly create problems in a White House bid.

"I'm not running for president," Warren, a champion of the Democratic Party's progressive wing, told "Fox News Sunday."

When asked Sunday whether she'd agree to calls for genetic testing to resolve the heritage controversy, Warren launched into a family history, as purportedly told by her parents and grandparents, before saying, "It's a part of who I am, and no one's ever going to take that away."

Warren, who is seeking a second Senate term this year, has been accused of saying she is of Native American heritage to help in securing jobs, including one as a Harvard law professor.

She has acknowledged identifying as a minority, but denies using such status to help advance her career.

President Trump has repeatedly called Warren, a Wall Street critic and potential White House rival, "Pocahontas," a notable American Indian woman in colonial history, to highlight the controversy.

"Let me tell you a little bit about my family," Warren said Sunday. "My mom and dad were born and raised out in Oklahoma, and my daddy was in his teens when he fell in love with my mother.

"She was a beautiful girl who played the piano. And he was head over heels in love with her and wanted to marry her. And his family was bitterly opposed to that because she was part Native American.

I think she obviously is not an Indian. I don't know what percentage she is claiming to be, and yes, Asian genes do tend to go on recess, but if she could prove it she would take the test.

But here's the thing: she sure as hell looks like a blue-eyed white woman to me.

And the entire Jewish argument about race is that it doesn't exist and is only defined by someone's appearance. So based on this logic, the DNA test should already be irrelevant—she has lived her life with all of the “white privilege” we hear so much about, even if she is a genetically pure injun, and taking advantage of the affirmative action programs she used, she has taken away the advantage of colored people who do not benefit from these alleged privileges.

If we're doing DNA tests to prove people are not white and thus deserving of special rewards from the state, this seems to be an admission that indeed there is a genetic component to race. Which I understood the system did not wish to admit at all.

Trump Says Execute Drug Dealers – But Let's Take It a Step Further!

Trump accurately says that we need to start giving drug dealers the death penalty.

But you know what? There's also something we need to stop giving drug dealers: trials.

This country is in a state of emergency with these drugs, and it is well within President Trump's Constitutional mandate to begin deputizing LITERAL SKULL MASK MOTORCYCLE DEATH SQUADS to hunt down and SLAUGHTER drug dealers on the streets.

LA Times:

President Trump on Saturday again called for enacting the death penalty for drug dealers during a rally meant to bolster a struggling GOP candidate for a U.S. House seat here.

During the campaign event in this conservative western Pennsylvania district, the president also veered off into a list of other topics, including North Korea, his distaste for the news media and his own election victory 16 months ago.

Trump said that allowing prosecutors to seek the death penalty for drug dealers—an idea he said he got from Chinese President Xi Jinping—is “a discussion we have to start thinking about. I don't know if this country's ready for it.”

“Do you think the drug dealers who kill thousands of people during their lifetime, do you think they care who's on a blue-ribbon committee?” Trump asked. “The only way to solve the drug problem is through toughness. When you catch a drug dealer, you've got to put him away for a long time.”

Time is running short.
Our kids are dying out there.
Time to man up and take care of some gosh-darn business up in this piece.

Latvian Nazi March: CUCKS Arrest Man for a PICTURE of Soldiers Murdering Jews!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 17, 2018

HURRY UP AND GAS THESE FILTHY KIKES ALREADY THEN EH???

What sort of cuckoldry is this?
You're not even allowed to have PICTURES of killing Jews?
Jerusalem Post:

Police arrested a man for displaying a poster of soldiers killing Jews at the annual march by local veterans of two SS divisions that made up the Latvian Legion during World War II.

The man was arrested Friday morning on the margins of the annual march of the Remembrance Day of the Latvian Legionnaires—soldiers from the 15th Waffen Grenadier Division of the SS and the 19th Waffen Grenadier Division of the SS (the 1st and 2nd Latvian, respectively). A handful of veterans, flanked by hundreds of supporters waving Latvian flags, gathered around Freedom Monument for the march under heavy police guard.

The march in Latvia, a member of the NATO alliance and the European Union, is currently the only public event in Europe and beyond honoring those who fought under the banner of SS, Nazi Germany's elite security force. Occurring amid rising tensions with Russia, it is part of numerous expressions across Eastern Europe of admiration for those, including Holocaust perpetrators, who collaborated with Germany against the Soviet Union.

Several protesters from the Latvia Without Fascism group demonstrated against the event by carrying signs reading "They fought for Hitler" and "If they looked like Nazis, and acted like Nazis—they were Nazi." None of those protesters was arrested.

Police did not allow a counter protest by Latvia Without Fascism, a leader of that group, Joseph Koren, told JTA. Hundreds of police cordoned off the Freedom Monument as veterans, including some in uniform, sang patriotic songs and laid wreaths for their fallen comrades. Organizers of the event from several nationalist groups then drove the veterans to a cemetery where many of their comrades are buried.

"It's a disgrace that this is happening in Europe," Aleksejs Saripovs of the Latvia Without Fascism group told JTA. "The European Union needs to pressure Latvia into abandoning this shameful event, but so far there is total silence."

This is how it goes.

First they say "you're not allowed to kill Jews anymore" and you're like "wait what why" and they're like "cuz you're getting blood all over the damn street!" and you're like "okay..."

Then next thing you know, you're not even allowed to have PICTURES of killing Jews!

Shimon Peres and the "Shik-sas"

Diversity Macht Frei

"I'm not kidding. They were this big!"

Shimon Peres was, at various times, the Prime Minister, Foreign Minister and President of Israel. Avi Gil was his long-time adviser. Gil is publishing a memoir revealing some intimate details of the now deceased "great man".

Or the passage in which Gil describes Peres' abrupt shift "from a discussion of philosophical issues to stand-up performances." "In off-the-wall conversations, which sometimes repeated themselves in a kind of ritual that an outsider wouldn't understand," Gil would ask his team, "Did you notice the gorgeous shiksa who came onto the plane with us?" Peres, he writes, "would quickly play his part and say, 'Tell me, Avi, have you ever done it with a shiksa?'" My role was to play the innocent: "But, Shimon, what's the difference? You know, all women are created with the same anatomy."

"Peres looked at me as though I were the last of the fools, and explained, 'Our Jewesses are doing you a favor. As if they're suffering from it. Something always hurts them, bothers them. Shik-sas, on the other hand, enjoy every minute, they have no complexes, they like to pamper you and they invest their whole heart in the mission.' Naturally, he would be ready for my inevitable next question: 'Where did you get this information about all these differences?' His demure answer: 'Friends have told me.'"

Shiksa is a pejorative word for a non-Jewish female, although it is sometimes used as an insult against Jewish females. The word has connotations of impurity and uncleanness. It could be considered a form of hate speech.

Huffington Post Editor Celebrates Having Less Than 50pct. White Writers

Some interesting Tweets from a Huffington Post editor, Chloe Angyal.

Our goals for this month were: less than 50% white authors (check!), Asian representation that matches or exceeds the US population (check!), more trans and non-binary authors (check, but I want to do better).

— Chloe Angyal (@ChloeAngyal)
March 14, 2018

Month two of @HuffPost Opinion is almost done. This month we published: 63% women, inc. trans women; 53% writers of colour.

We also wanted to raise Latinx representation to match or exceed the US population. We didn't achieve that goal, but we're moving firmly in the right direction.

Vile YouTube Kikess Plans to Put Warning Labels on all "Conspiracy-Theory" Videos

Fash McQueen
Daily Stormer
March 15, 2018

Jew Tip: If you have a gigantic, fat Jew-ass and Jew-hips, make sure to wear a cropped jacket to accentuate it. It will redirect the revulsion away from your rat face.

The Jews are up to their typical tricks, telling the goyim what to think.

Breitbart:

YouTube will add information from Wikipedia to "conspiracy theory" videos on the platform in an effort to combat alternative narratives, according to a report.

"YouTube CEO Susan Wojcicki said that these text boxes, which the company is calling 'information cues,' would begin appearing on conspiracy-related videos within the next couple of weeks," reported the Verge on Tuesday. "Wojcicki, who spoke Tuesday evening at a panel at the South by Southwest Interactive festival in Austin, showed examples of information cues for videos about the moon landing and chemtrails."

The Jewish plan to label videos as "conspiracy theories" has absolutely nothing to do with "the moon landing and chemtrails."

In fact, the Jews love pushing these kook-tier conspiracy theories because it gives them a big pile of crazy nonsense that they can lump other subjects in with.

And we all know what those subjects are:

- The HoloHoax
- Jews controlling our government, academia, media, and financial system

- The 2000 year war that the Jews have waged on White Christian Civilization
- Jews being the force behind every subversive movement designed to destroy the West—Communism, feminism, the faggot movement, etc.
- Jews sacrificing White Christian children in Satanic rituals and using their blood to make demonic biscuits after they engage in an orgy of torture on the child

Think about that last one for a second.

There's mountains of historical evidence that the Jews actually sacrifice children in Satanic rituals and make their weird crackers out of the child's blood, but it's easy to call it a "conspiracy-theory" because of how outlandishly evil it sounds.

There are plenty of artistic renderings of this evil Jewish practice going back for centuries.

This wasn't just a running gag by master painters. Jews did this.

But a normal White person just naturally assumes that it must be a conspiracy theory, because the average human mind can't comprehend that there's a race of demons walking the Earth who are capable of such vile wickedness. It just can't be true.

The extreme nature of Jewish evil helps the Jews hide the extreme nature of Jewish evil.

Breitbart continues:

"The information cues that Wojcicki demonstrated appeared directly below the video as a short block of text, with a link to Wikipedia for more information," the Verge explained, noting that "Wikipedia—a crowdsourced encyclopedia written by volunteers—is an imperfect source of information, one which most college students are still forbidden from citing in their papers." Wikipedia is also known to have a significant left-wing bias.

During the panel, Wojcicki declared, "When there are videos that are focused around something that's a conspiracy—and we're using a list of well-known internet conspiracies from Wikipedia—then we will show a companion unit of information from Wikipedia showing that here is information about the event."

Everyone should know by now that, unless you're looking up something to do with the hard-sciences, like mathematics, or the date of birth of some historical figure, Wikipedia is just another Jew-controlled propaganda outlet.

Jews in Israel hold seminars to show subversive kikes how to edit Wikipedia to push their Jew lies, and to cover-up their endless Jewish crimes against humanity.

Video Link

I actually can't believe that this video is still on YouTube. This is exactly the type of thing that the Jews want you to think is a conspiracy theory.

How are they planning to label this video?

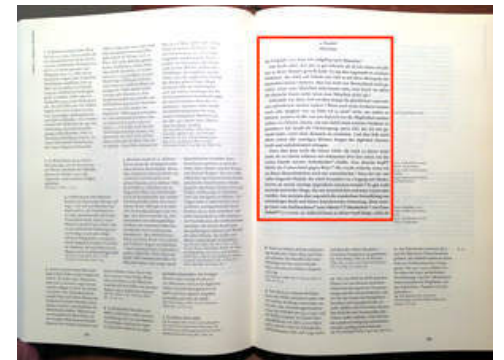

"WARNING: Click on this Wikipedia link to read about the anti-semitic conspiracy theory represented in this video which clearly shows Israeli Jews admitting that they are engaged in a conspiracy to alter Wikipedia entries which we YouTube Jews are now linking you to."

Yeah, they'll probably just delete it.

But they can't delete everything. Yet.

When Jews know that they can't outright ban something, they have to use the trick of flooding you with Jew bullshit to try to tell you how to think about the something that they wish they could ban.

The Jews did this with the latest German edition of Mein Kampf.

Mein Kampf—Kike Edition: Everything outside the red box is telling you to hate what's inside the red box.

The perfidious Jews filled Mein Kampf with "notes" to remind you that you were reading the words of a crazed monster, and that you should consider everything as either pure evil or lies.

The Jews did the same thing with the Scofield Study Bible that they printed at the turn of the century.

Video Link

Jews knew that they couldn't ban or change the text of the Bible. So, they created a "study Bible" that contained even more notes than scripture.

The Jew notes contained Talmudically-twisted interpretations of Biblical passages to make the reader doubt their own lying eyes when they read passages that called the Jews the "Synagogue of Satan," and that Jews are "of their father the Devil," and that Jews are under the wrath of God.

The Jew-published, Scofield Study Bible is single-handedly responsible for launching the modern, dispensationalist cult of Judaized "Christianity."

Of course, the YouTube videos that promote the craziest conspiracy theory of all time will never be tagged with a “conspiracy theory” label—that’s the conspiracy theory that claims exactly six million Jews were gassed in fake shower rooms, with glass windows and wooden doors, before they were turned into soap-shades and mattress-lamps by Josef Mengele. Or whatever.

As a Jew, “Sergey Brin Should Know” the Importance of Suppressing Free Speech

Diversity Macht Frei
March 15, 2018

The Bonnier family, described as “of Jewish origin”, dominates Swedish publishing. Among its stable of newspapers: Expressen. For the last week or two, Expressen has been running a campaign to try and get google to suppress “antisemitic” links from its search results. These “antisemitic” results apparently include lists of Jews.

Jews like to keep track of who is Jewish or who isn’t. It helps them remember whether they are should feel sad when someone dies. They even have entire websites dedicated to “Jew-tracking”.

Name	Score	Profiled
Ellen Barkin	11	March 12, 2018
Clara Zetkin	8	March 9, 2018
Commander Keen	7	March 7, 2018
Isidor Isaac Rabi	14	March 6, 2018
Timothée Chalamet	10	March 2, 2018

But when Goyim engage in “Jew-tracking”, it’s apparently unacceptable. Google ceded to the pressure by removing the list of Jews from its search results. It also shut down a popular YouTube channel called Granskning Sverige that critiqued Sweden’s media establishment. But it’s still not enough.

Video Link

It is understandable that Jews would want to stifle free discussion in Sweden. With a population of only 20,000, comprising only 0.2% of the population, they manage to own almost every major newspaper in the country and have played a critical role in steering Sweden towards its impending multicultural destruction.

In 2016, Anna Hagwall, an MP for the supposedly “far-right” Sweden Democrats, dared to make an oblique reference to the Jewish domination of Sweden’s media landscape. “Let the small Bonnier newspapers in the provinces go under. No family, ethnic group or company should be allowed to control more than 5 percent of the media.” She was accused of anti-Semitism and expelled from the party.

But it seems the “problem” of Goyim Knowing is growing inexorably in Sweden. And the ruling class is demanding that the sources of this knowing be shut down.

Youtube sprider Hitlers anti-judiska filmer

In a blog post, Expressen’s editor Thomas Mattsson demands that Google alter its search results and suppress free speech. But he makes a curious argument. “Sergey Brin should know. His parents were not allowed to have a career in the Soviet Union because they were Jews.”

So his argument is that “Sergey Brin should know” the importance of suppressing free speech because he is a Jew. This is curious because it is exactly the same argument that the counter-Semitic community makes about Jews: that they have some kind of inbuilt pre-disposition towards attacking free speech. Mattsson is implicitly conceding that this is actually true. Viewed from another perspective, his remarks could even be considered an anti-Semitic slur.

To drive home its point, Expressen has even gone as far as publishing an article in English showing the kind of far-right material that is available on YouTube. No doubt the Counter-Semitic community will find it a helpful reference.

And now he's going on Alt-Right media programs like Red Ice:

Video Link

Good on him.

Here on the Alt-Right, we try to keep our noses to the grindstone, hammering away at the problems of kike subversion, non-White demographic replacement and shitlib traitors ruining our countries.

But if you look around you at the state of the world from a geopolitical macro-perspective, it seems that we are heading towards a showdown.

The Russians are next on the chopping block and there will most likely be...something. The noose is tightening around Russia. The Kikes will probably try to trigger another White War to drive the death nail into our civilization.

Think about what happened to Athens and Sparta.

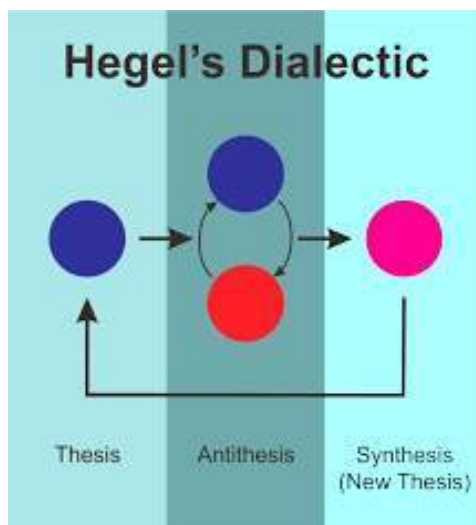

It was a civil war that led to the conquest of their weakened country by foreigners. We face the same threat.

Therefore, it's important to always keep an eye on Russia and the narrative surrounding Russia. They're the Sparta to our Athens.

And I believe that the Jews are going to try and channel the rise of nationalist sentiment and redirect it at the Russkies, instead of on the Moslem filth where all this hate rightfully belongs.

Think of it like a Hegelian Reaction if you're a big-brain nibba.

You have a Thesis—mass Third World immigration, and then the logical Antithesis—rising Nativist sentiment. All of this can lead to a Synthesis, which would be a redirection of righteous patriotic anger at something else...crazy shit, huh?

It's a Russian conspiracy theory I heard of a while ago.

It goes like this: the West is allowing the mass-immigration into its countries to engender a nativist reaction which they will then redirect East to finally level Russia and impose the NWO.

WEW.

Well conspiracy theories aside, it's just worth pointing out that the only people that its ok to hate in the West are the Russians at this point. Because they're White, and don't allow fag marriage or something.

As an experiment, try saying, "the Mexicans hacked our election" and see how quickly you lose your job.

Don't actually do that. But you get the point. And I bet you could still get a lot of basic bitch Boomers who would support yet another war that has younger generations dying for "muh freedoms" or whatever the fuck.

We gotta stay vigilant. Who knows what the kikes have up their sleeve.

National Geographic's Jewish Editor-in-Chief Cries About the Magazine's "Racist" Past

Lee Rogers
Daily Stormer
March 13, 2018

Meet Susan Goldberg the strong and empowered Jewish woman who is currently in the process of destroying National Geographic with all types of kiker.

National Geographic is one of the most beloved publications in modern history. It rose to cultural prominence in the 20th century providing readers with all sorts of stories and pictures from far away places. My late grandmother used to have huge stacks of these magazines in her house.

As culturally significant as this publication has been, the current Jewish Editor-in-Chief Susan Goldberg has made numerous criticisms about the magazine's so-called "racist" past.

AP:

National Geographic acknowledged on Monday that it covered the world through a racist lens for generations, with its magazine portrayals of bare-breasted women and naive brown-skinned tribesmen as savage, unsophisticated and unintelligent.

"We had to own our story to move beyond it," editor-in-chief Susan Goldberg told The Associated Press in an interview about the yellow-bordered magazine's April issue, which is devoted to race.

National Geographic first published its magazine in 1888. An investigation conducted last fall by University of Virginia photography historian John Edwin Mason showed that until the 1970s, it virtually ignored people of color in the United States who were not domestics or laborers, and it reinforced repeatedly the idea that people of color from foreign lands were "exotics, famously and frequently unclothed, happy hunters, noble savages_every type of cliché."

For example, in a 1916 article about Australia, the caption on a photo of two Aboriginal people read: "South Australian Blackfellows: These savages rank lowest in intelligence of all human beings."

You can call that statement about aboriginals all sorts of things, but you can't say that it is wrong. Aboriginals on average have some of the lowest IQs on the planet. Before all of journalism was kiked, publications like National Geographic actually took pride in reporting factual information.

National Geographic's reporting on the intelligence of Aboriginals in 1916 is as accurate then as it is today. Just look at these savage creatures and try to find fault with their logic.

Goldberg goes on to talk about how the magazine promoted racist stereotypes of Pacific island women while bashing colonialism as a very bad thing.

In addition, National Geographic perpetuated the cliché of native people fascinated by technology and overloaded the magazine with pictures of beautiful Pacific island women.

"I think National Geographic was a product of its time," Goldberg said. "It started at the height of colonialism and that is the lens through which it covered the world."

Obviously the insinuation she is making is that colonialism was the most evil thing to ever happen and the product of White racists. But if colonialism as a concept was so bad, perhaps she'd like to lecture her fellow Jews about the Jewish colony of Israel in Palestine. She does not do this because criticism of colonialism is only meant to bash White people.

This examination comes as other media organizations are also casting a critical eye on their past. The New York Times recently admitted that most of its obituaries chronicled the lives of white men, and began publishing obituaries of famous women in its "Overlooked" section.

In National Geographic's April issue, Goldberg, who identified herself as National Geographic's first woman and first Jewish editor, wrote a letter titled "For Decades, Our Coverage Was Racist. To Rise Above Our Past, We Must Acknowledge It."

"I knew when we looked back there would be some storytelling that we obviously would never do today, that we don't do and we're not proud of," she told AP. "But it seemed to me if we want to credibly talk about race, we better look and see how we talked about race."

The fact that you have a Jewish woman in charge of this magazine means that the publication will never talk honestly about race in any capacity. The magazine has lost all credibility with this awful Jew in charge of it. It's laughable for her to say otherwise and claim that bashing the magazine's entire history as racist mistake is somehow elevating their credibility on the subject.

But hell, with this kike running things, National Geographic has abandoned its original purpose and is even going so far as to push tranny propaganda. Just look at these recent magazine covers.

Jews have destroyed pretty much everything so it is not a surprise to see a Jew destroying one of the most iconic magazines of all time. The only solution to this problem is to ban Jews from our societies entirely.

Gun-Grabbing Jew Crows that the Florida Gun-Grab is Just the Beginning of the Gun- Grabbing

Fash McQueen

Vile Douche-Jew holding a recently-manufactured, anti-goyim, biological weapon.

Subversive Jew, Rep. Ted Deutch (Pronounced “Douche”), is arrogantly telling the goyim that the recent Gun-Grab in Florida is just the beginning.

Breitbart:

Saturday, Rep. Ted Deutch (D-FL) discussed the bill Florida Gov. Rick Scott signed Friday to raise the purchase of long firearms from the age of 18 to 21, calling it “merely the beginning” of the response to last month’s Parkland, FL, shooting.

The honorable, White Nationalist organization known as the National Rifle Association is valiantly fighting against this latest attack on our Second Amendment by the perfidious gun-grabbing Jews.

The National Rifle Association (NRA) sued the state of Florida over the provision, saying it violates the Second Amendment.

Villainous Jews like Rep. Deutch (pronounced “Douche”) are frothing at the mouth at the NRA—not only because the NRA is working to thwart the Jews’ nefarious plan to disarm all White Americans—but also because the glorious leader of the organization, Wayne LaPierre, recently announced at CPAC that the NRA is a proudly anti-Semitic organization.

Reichsmarschall LaPierre called out the “European-Style Socialists” in his CPAC speech—which, everyone acknowledges, means “Jews.”

Rep. Deutch (pronounced “Douche”) continued:

“This legislation in Florida that the governor just signed is a good first step. But the NRA shouldn’t think, the gun lobby shouldn’t think that this is the end of the response to what happened in Parkland. This is merely the beginning.”

This ominous statement by the vile, odious Jew Ted Deutch (pronounced “Douche”) should be a warning to every White American.

THOSE "EUROPEAN-STYLE SOCIALISTS" ARE UP TO THEIR TRICKS AGAIN.

The Jews aren't working to confiscate our weapons because they care anything about the safety of children. If Jews cared anything about the safety of children, they wouldn't kidnap, rape, and torture them before draining their blood to make whatever type of weird, Satanic crackers they make with it.

No. Once the Jews get our weapons, they intend to drop the hammer.

If you want to know what a hammer-drop looks like, just research what the evil kikes did once they took control of Russia in 1917. They initiated the torture, rape, and slaughter of tens of millions of White Christian Russians.

The only thing stopping the wicked Jews from committing the atrocities that their evil Jewish souls hunger to commit is armed White people.

Not only should everyone in the Alt-Right join the NRA —we should make it our mission to take it over.

Don't give me that shit, AP. The goyim already know.

Public officials, civic group representatives and relatives of former Macedonian Jews who came from Israel, Latin America and the United States participated in the event in Bitola and lay flowers and wreaths at a Menorah Jewish monument.

Macedonia was a province of the Kingdom of Yugoslavia when it was occupied by Germany during World War II and then turned over to the Nazis' Bulgarian allies to run. More than 7,000 Jews from the cities of Skopje, Bitola and Stip were confined to ghettos in March 1943 before being deported to the Nazis' Treblinka death camp in German-occupied Poland. Ninety-eight percent of Macedonia's Jews perished there. Bitola lost its entire Jewish community of 3,144.

I can't even believe they still have the nerve to call Treblinka of all places a “death camp.” They can sort of get away with it with Auschwitz, because they bulldozed all the structures there and built new fake ones, turning it into a death camp hoax Disneyland.

But Treblinka is just a field with a weird satanic monument.

There is no evidence of anything at all happening there. All of the evidence shows that it was simply a transit camp.

The International March of the Living, the official name of the commemoration, started in front of the monument to deported Jews, with wailing sirens signaling the start. People joined in the march along the same route that Jews were forced to take 75 years ago to the train station, where they were jammed into freight cars for the trip to the death camp.

Hundreds of carnations were laid on the railway tracks.

One of the few Jewish survivors, who was a baby at the time, came from Israel for the remembrance.

I am so sick of hearing about this idiot hoax.

The only Jews that died died of disease and starvation while the rest of the Axis-occupied territory was doing the same, because the allies committed an international war crime and bombed supply lines.

Even if it did happen—and believe me, I wish it would have—then who cares? Why is this historical event—an event which everyone who took part is in long dead—still being used to guilt trip white people?

This video deals with Treblinka.

WBRC:

Birmingham Police have released the names of both victims and the suspect from Wednesday's shooting at UAB Highlands Hospital.

Nancy Swift, 63, was a nursing supervisor. She was shot and killed.

The other shooting victim, Tim Isley, remains in intensive care.

In a Facebook post, his family says doctors were able to take him off of the ventilator following his second surgery Thursday morning. Isley has been able to move and talk to with his family. The post says doctors are very pleased with his progress, and anticipate that he will remain in the ICU for a couple more days before moving him to a regular room.

The alleged shooter is 31-year-old Travis Deron Coleman. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Homeless Monkey Stabs White Woman Because of Anti-Hobo Microaggressions

How can a society claiming to be civilized allow homeless Black men of color to be subjected to such terrible anti-hobo microaggressions?

My Palm Beach Post:

Amy Manucy and her 14-year-old daughter, Susannah, drove down from Mount Pleasant, S.C. to spend Susannah's spring break with Amy's sister, who lives in Palm Beach Gardens. Susannah attends boarding school, so the trip gave mother, daughter and aunt a chance to catch up.

But their happy reunion would turn into a night of terror in West Palm Beach, one that nearly killed Manucy and spurred Mayor Jeri Muoio to launch a task force to recommend ways to address homelessness and mental illness in the city and county, where merchants and residents have been pressing for action after years of frustration.

"We were just talking," said Manucy, a graphic designer in her 50's. "I don't think we were sitting there long. Then all of a sudden I felt something hit me from behind. Out of nowhere I just felt this thud."

It didn't feel like what you might imagine a stabbing would feel like, she said. "It was more like getting hit in the back of a head with a baseball bat or something like that. I didn't know what it was.

"My sister looked at me and started screaming, 'Oh my God, she's been stabbed, oh my God.' I stood up and looked around. The odd thing was, I saw this guy, it turned out to be the guy who stabbed me. He just went over there, there were other tables, he pulled a chair out and sat down and watched everything unfold, I guess. My sister was screaming. My daughter was screaming. Everyone was screaming."

Downtown security guards detained the suspect, Chad Sanjay Bailey, until police arrived. The knife was found on the scene. In an interview at police headquarters, Bailey, 23, confessed to the stabbing. He said he did it because he was "tired of being picked on for being homeless," the police report said.

SLT Today:

A man from the Lemay area was forced to withdraw money from an ATM for several robbers before being beaten with a golf club and stabbed inside his home this month.

Jeffrey Breitenfeld, 51, was found dead in his home in the 600 block of Bayless Avenue on the afternoon of March 5, two days after the attack.

Those details come from charges against two people police say were involved in the fatal attack.

St. Louis County prosecutors have charged Sherman Kinchen, 27, with second-degree murder. Police allege he stole from Breitenfeld, beat him with a golf club and stabbed him.

Kinchen also faces charges of first-degree burglary, kidnapping and second-degree robbery, the same counts filed against an alleged accomplice, Kimberly Cartwright, 24. The kidnapping charge includes the allegation the crime took place while facilitating a felony or for the purpose of injuring or terrorizing the victim.

A teen slugged a Brooklyn police officer in the face, but the cop took it easy on her and decided not to haul her in on a felony charge, law enforcement sources said.

Diamond Forrest, 17, repaid the kindness by gloating about it on social media—and admitting to The Post that she hates cops.

The unidentified housing officer was among several cops who responded to an apartment in East New York, where the 5-foot-4, 170-pound teen was “acting in a violent and threatening manner,” the sources said.

Forrest allegedly punched the cop, and then said, “I’m sorry I hit you, officer.”

He decided not to arrest her because he wasn’t injured during the incident shortly before midnight Tuesday, sources said.

Forrest was slapped with a summons for disorderly conduct, a violation punishable by a maximum 15 days in jail, instead of a more serious offense like second-degree assault on a police officer.

Kleine said other social media pictures paint a different story, pointing to ones that include alcohol and a gun, posted on Tyon’s Facebook page when he was as young as 11.

This video was quickly taken off YouTube after I posted it here.

However, it still lead police to a couple of the monkeymen to make an arrest.

CBS:

A video of the robbery and beating of a woman has gone viral on social media.

The attack happened at the Chicago and Lake Streets Transit Center in south Minneapolis. The images were shared by the people responsible for the attack, and it's that video that led to police looking at their system of cameras to identify and bring them to justice.

Cameras posted inside and outside of the transit center gave Metro Transit officers the images they needed to track down the people responsible for the brutal attack of an elderly woman. This is the video that was uploaded to Facebook that has now gone viral on other social media sites.

According to court documents, a man is seen taking a bottle of liquor from inside the woman's jacket. He also runs his hands over her stomach, bottom and thighs and keeps her from getting up and getting away.

The video is narrated by another man, who decided to record the incident on his cellphone.

"Because of that video, we were able to go and look at our cameras and be able to better identify some of the individuals," said Metro Transit Public Information Officer Howie Padilla.

Police say 20-year-old Wesley Martin is the man in the blue jacket who allegedly robbed the victim. Deondre Jackson, 20, is the man police believe recorded the incident on his phone.

Cries from the victim were answered by a man who Martin can be seen punching and kicking in the video. Both men face felony first-degree aggravated robbery charges.

Around 5 p.m., Austin-Travis County EMS said an adult male, identified Friday as 19-year-old Adam Shorter, was transported with a gunshot wound to St. David's Round Rock Medical Center with critical injuries. Police said Friday that Shorter died around 6:23 p.m. on Tuesday.

Police said initial reports indicated that a driver possibly drove by and shot the man. They later reported in a press briefing there may have been a robbery aspect and said they had not heard anything about a drive-by. Police officials said Friday they believe the shooting occurred during an illegal drug transaction based upon witness interviews.

Officials said the shooting occurred near 3210 Kramer Lane in the area of the Dick's Sporting Goods parking lot and they are reviewing surveillance video.

Police are searching for two suspects—both black males in their 20s. The first suspect was described as “medium build, early 20s, wearing an orange t-shirt, blue jeans, with short afro and a fade on the sides.” The suspect was described as an “older male in his late 20s with a belly and braided, pulled back hair, and was wearing a black t-shirt.” The suspected vehicle in the shooting was described as a red Saturn.

Third World Media Reveals What British Media Won't: Egyptian Girl's Killers were "Of African Descent"

Diversity Macht Frei
March 16, 2018

When I first saw this story about an Egyptian girl killed in what some were describing as a "race hate" attack, I thought, "Here we go. This will be the next Stephen Lawrence [the case of a black allegedly killed by whites, which has been milked as propaganda by the ruling class for the last 20 years]. But no. There was nothing about it on the BBC or Sky. The police, usually eager to grasp any potential "hate" angle, said they saw no evidence it had been motivated by hate. This contradicts their own "MacPherson Guidelines" which say that "A racist incident is any incident which is perceived to be racist by the victim or any other person."

What could the explanation for this strange reticence be?

You have to go to Egyptian websites to find out. Think about that. Thanks to political correctness, British people can no longer find out what's happening in their own country from their own media. To find out the truth, they have to get their news from wretched third-world dictatorships.

The Egyptian girl, it seems, had been attacked by "10 British women of African descent".

Black Panther recently exceeded $1.1 billion at the box office, and has become one of the top 20 highest-grossing films of all time.

I wish that weren't the case, but it is—and I'm not surprised. The film had one of the most aggressive marketing campaigns in cinema history, and several review aggregation websites—most notoriously Rotten Tomatoes—manipulated its critical reception in an apparent attempt to convince the public that a movie about a vibranium-powered supernigger is better than The Godfather.

But that isn't the saddest thing about Black Panther.

The saddest (also, funniest) thing about Black Panther is that a sizable percentage of its black audience left the cinema believing that Wakanda is (a) real, and (b) would be a pretty gud place to catch some sun.

Daily Mail:

It seems that the Black Panther movie has done such a good job of immersing audiences in its world that many people think it's real.

Two hotel booking sites have revealed that site searches for the word "Wakanda"—the name of the fictional African country the movie is set in—have risen dramatically.

Hotelscan.com reported that the number of people landing on its Wisconsin Wakanda Water Park page is up by 620 per cent and Hotels.com reported that searches for neighbouring Wakanda Park are up by 55 per cent year on year.

A spokesperson for hotelscan.com commented: 'The fact we've seen such an increase in the number of site visits to the Wakanda Water Park destination page on our website since the launch of Black Panther suggests that, until people visit our website searching for trips, they're not aware it's a fictional destination.

"Either that, or people are more interested than ever in attending the Water Park, but we think that the movie has something to do with it!" Boy, that's a cruel twist of fate.

Blacks search for hotels in Wakanda and discover that the "real" Wakanda is the last place on Earth they want to be: a goddamn water park.

A White pool party

A Black pool party

Sheeet...

Hotels.com, meanwhile, said it had spotted spikes in searches to other Wakanda namesakes around the world.

It said searches for Wauconda, Illinois (pronounced identically to Wakanda), are up more than 25 per cent and Makanda, also in Illinois, are up over 40 per cent year on year.

Further afield, Wakaya, in Fiji, are up over 235 per cent and Wakkanai in Japan is enjoying a more than 55 per cent year-on-year uplift.

Anyone want to bet that these cities are in the process of changing their names to avoid attracting a bunch of blacks who are expecting to meet T'Challa?

The Japs probably will. These people are so disgusted by the sight of negroes that their Black Panther posters needed to hide the race of the lead actor:

Seriously, Asians were led to believe that this film wasn't about Africans. The Chinese were pissed af after seeing it.

All things considered, though, this is pretty heavy stuff.

I mean, just think about it: blacks have no history, so two rat-faced kikes (Stan Lee and Jack Kirby) created Wakanda for them in comic book form. Jewish Hollywood brings Wakanda to the silver screen and encourages blacks to identify with it. Blacks do so, and, in many cases, believe that Wakanda—a futuristic metropolis where trains operate via electromagnetism—is real and can be visited like Johannesburg or Cancún.

Wew.

At the risk of sounding like a racist writing for the meanest neo-Nazi site in existence, I'm starting to think that these blacks are not as clever as Morgan Freeman has led me to believe.

Mosques Given Protected "Heritage" Status, Interracial Propaganda Reaching Fever Pitch

Diversity Macht Frei

March 14, 2018

It seems that with every year the drive to legitimise Islam and mixed race unions in the UK gathers fresh momentum.

For example, several relatively recently built mosques have either been given protected status (in the UK this means that the buildings are of important historical or cultural significance and therefore they can't be altered substantially or torn down) or had their protected status upgraded according to the BBC:

Two London mosques have been given protected heritage status to recognise their historic and cultural importance.

The London Central Mosque and Islamic Cultural Centre in Regent's Park is newly listed as Grade II*, while the Fazl Mosque in Southfields has been given Grade II status.

Other mosques including Woking's Shah Jahan Mosque, which was built in 1889, have also been given more protection.

Historic England said the mosques were "exceptional places of worship".

The Shah Jahan Mosque's history is particularly interesting and reeks of "traitors letting in enemies via the back gate":

The Shah Jahan Mosque was built in 1889 by Hungarian-British Jew and orientalist Gottlieb Wilhelm Leitner. It was partly funded by Sultan Shah Jahan, Begum of Bhopal, as a place for students at the Oriental Institute in Woking to worship at.

The Oriental Institute, for the students of which the mosque was constructed, was founded by Leitner in 1881. He had purchased the former Royal Dramatic College building in Woking and established the Institute in order to promote oriental literature. It awarded degrees from the University of the Punjab in Lahore, India.

The Heritage Minister quoted in the article is either historically illiterate or a stooge, you decide:

Heritage Minister Michael Ellis said by listing the mosques "we are not only preserving important places of worship, but also celebrating the rich heritage of Muslim communities in England."

Mr Ellis at home presumably

The rich, non-existent heritage of Muslim communities in England. Who was it that said “Repeat a lie often enough and it becomes the truth”?

Meanwhile, actual places of worship that are part of a rich, continuous heritage are afforded no special protection and are torn down with aplomb and alacrity to make way for ever more soulless structures designed to demoralise the human spirit or to be occupied by third world colonisers:

St Michael's Anglican Church was consecrated in 1845. The church was badly damaged by air raids in 1941 but was restored and re-opened in 1953. The last service was held in April 2007. After demolition a smaller church is to be built on the site of the adjacent vicarage which was also demolished. The site of the church itself will be occupied by a block of flats.

It doesn't just stop at Islam however; anyone who has visited the UK in recent years will undoubtedly have noticed the unabashed promotion in advertisements (and TV shows in general) of mixed-race unions and mixed-race children; most often you will find white women with black men, despite such unions making up a tiny proportion of cohabitations in the UK:

White British couples were the least likely to be in an inter-ethnic relationship with around 1 in 25 (4%). This in part reflects that the White British group are the largest group (81% of the overall population) and as such have a greater opportunity to be in a relationship with someone who is also White British.

By inter-ethnic they don't mean interracial, it can apply to whites from other parts of Europe or even Ireland:

The most common inter-ethnic relationship was between Other White and White British (366,000 people or 16% of all people in inter-ethnic relationships). Other White is made up of numerous groups, a large proportion include Polish, other Western European and numerous others. Other White is the second largest ethnic group in England and Wales (4% of the overall population).

Yet we are inundated with these advertisements that don't reflect reality in any way. One would think a successful advertisement would target the majority group which one can reasonably expect to have the most disposable income. In the absence of any ostensibly rational motivation for a particular advert we must therefore attribute a more sinister motive.

These are only the ones I've been able to find using a quick youtube search, if you happen to watch television you will see every other commercial has a mixed race child or interracial union. The Co-Op had a particularly awful commercial of a dumpy blond woman serving an athletic black man dinner.

Bad News for the Cult of Diversity: DNA Tests Can Predict Intelligence for the First Time

Diversity Macht Frei
March 14, 2018

From The Telegraph, (behind a paywall, for full article see here)

[S]cientists showed for the first time that a person's IQ can be predicted just by studying their DNA.

In the largest ever study looking at the genetic basis for intelligence, researchers at the University of Edinburgh and Harvard University discovered hundreds of new genes linked to brain power.

But nobody knew which were the "smart genes."

Now by studying the genetic data from more than 240,000 people, scientists have found 538 genes which are linked to intelligence.

Researchers were even able to predict intelligence just based on a person's DNA, a breakthrough which could potentially help doctors to diagnose impaired cognitive ability, or allow children to be given an tailor-made education based on their innate abilities.

The ramifications of this study are huge, the mainstream for the first time is forced to admit, unequivocally, that the idea of the "Tabula Rasa" (blank slate) and that "We are one race, the human race" are outdated and now obsolete.

One Race

They won't touch on the racial aspects, of course, because that is still a hot button topic, but it isn't a huge leap to go from "DNA/genetics can predict intelligence" to "non-whites have different cognitive abilities due to their genes". It will also serve as an exoneration of brave scientists like Dr James Watson who was forced to resign and even sell his Nobel Prize for comments on Africans back in 2007:

"I am inherently gloomy about the prospect of Africa because all our social policies are based on the fact that their intelligence is the same as ours—whereas all the testing says not really."

"There is no firm reason to anticipate that the intellectual capacities of peoples geographically separated in their evolution should prove to have evolved identically. Our wanting to reserve equal powers of reason as some universal heritage of humanity will not be enough to make it so".

The study also found links between longevity and IQ:

The study also showed that the same genes which influence intelligence are also linked to other biological processes such as length of life.

Although it is known that intelligent people live longer it was generally assumed that the link was due to social causes, such as a better education, leading to a more well-paid job, which brings a higher standard of living and a healthier life.

But the new research suggests that intelligent people are biologically fitter.

It seems eugenics wasn't so wrong after all.

Of course, the insanity of the left knows no bounds and they might seek to spin this as an issue of "genetic privilege":

We need to race mix with blacks since whites have "privilege" because they evolved in "environments of unearned privilege". We need to bring ourselves down because there is no way to bring blacks up to our level.

Only then can we atone for colonialism and modern racism!

Drunk Steve is Considering Buying Newsweek!

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 13, 2018

Steve bro, it's 8AM, slow down buddy.

Lauren Southern is in Europe trying to GTKRWN her way to redemption, and I guess Steve Bannon is looking to do the same.

After having brought a filthy bulbous kike into the White House and telling him that the Russia conspiracy is real, drunk Steve was fired from Breitbart. This happened shortly after he had screwed the pooch on Roy Moore, giving him shit advice that led to an unbelievable failure.

He has been wandering Europe and meeting with right-wing extremist groups, possibly planning some kind of race war.

He has now said he's thinking about buying Newsweek.

No shit.

The Hill:

Former Breitbart executive and White House strategist Stephen Bannon is reportedly considering purchasing an outlet like Newsweek or starting a new media brand with a focus on global news and populist issues.

Bannon, who has spent several weeks making connections with various political leaders and right-wing political parties across Europe, says within the continent's populist movements there is a high demand for a site with such content, according to The New York Times.

"They see what Breitbart did and they want it in their own language," he said. "That's the key. Right now my sites are in English, they want one in their own language." He referred to the move as "phase two."

Bannon, who was forced out from his top post at the far-right site Breitbart in January, said he is considering buying an established news outlet like Newsweek, which has been roiled by layoffs, or start a new one that looks "like Axios," a startup known for its pithy reporting. He also left open the possibility of connecting entrepreneurs with capital or investing himself.

I have no idea if "BUY NEWSWEEK" is a serious thing or just a meme. It seems kinda like a meme. But it would be really funny.

The thing is, I'm not even sure you can buy Newsweek, due to all of their legal problems.

But someone bought Gawker. And it sure would be funny. And most likely, it would work a better than trying to start something new.

We'll see. Steve has a long way to go after his string of screw-ups.

Professional Overwatch Player Kicked Off His Team for Racial and "Homophobic" Slurs

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
March 13, 2018

Like a lot of millennials who ended up becoming Nazis, I played a lot of first-person shooters as a teenager. Some of my favorites included Doom, Hexen, Unreal, Quake, Duke Nukem 3D and, of course, Ethnic Cleansing.

(J/k about Ethnic Cleansing, but I would have loved it if I knew it existed back then.)

Most of these old school FPS games featured multiplayer deathmatches, and if you took part in those matches during the mid-to late-1990s, you'd surely agree that uncensored "trashtalk" in the chatrooms was part and parcel of the experience.

If DarthRapist666 gibbed you with a rocket launcher in Quake, you called him exactly what he was: a faggot with an insatiable appetite for cock.

If Pu55Y_D3str0y3r fragged you with that overpowered flak cannon in Unreal Tournament, boy oh boy were you going to remind that nigger that his welfare check was in the mail.

No one gave a shit, no one whined about hurt feelings, and everyone had fun. It was an unapologetically heterosexual white male space.

But that was then.

Due to the increasingly toxic influence of Jews and feminism, the political climate has changed drastically since the 1990s. Indeed, we've now reached the point where professional gamers are being suspended and fined for posting mean words and memes on online streams.

Washington Post:

days after he was accused of posting a racist meme on the Overwatch League's official stream.

Félix "xQc" Lengyel's removal from the Dallas Fuel follows a string of suspensions and fines against him and other pro Overwatch players, who have exhibited some of video gaming culture's worst tendencies during the new league's inaugural tournament.

The Overwatch League website provides a complete list of the suspended players:

As of Friday, March 9, the Overwatch League is taking the following disciplinary actions:

Timo "Taimou" Kettunen, of the Dallas Fuel, is fined $1,000 for using anti-gay slurs on his personal stream.

Tae-yeong "TaiRong" Kim, of the Houston Outlaws, has received a formal warning for posting an offensive meme on social media. After the incident, TaiRong issued an unprompted public apology, and made a donation to the Hiroshima Peace Culture Foundation, actions which were taken into account when determining the judgment against him.

Ted "Silkthread" Wang, of the Los Angeles Valiant, is fined $1,000 for account sharing, a violation of the Blizzard End User License Agreement.

Félix "xQc" Lengyel, of the Dallas Fuel, is suspended for four matches, effective March 12, and fined $4,000. xQc repeatedly used an emote in a racially disparaging manner on the league's stream and on social media, and used disparaging language against Overwatch League casters and fellow players on social media and on his personal stream. Previously, xQc has been warned, fined, and suspended for similar infractions.

It is unacceptable for members of the Overwatch League to use or distribute hateful, racist, or discriminatory speech or memes.

We are committed to building a community around the Overwatch League that is welcoming and inclusive for all players and fans, and we hope that these disciplinary actions demonstrate our seriousness in that endeavor.

What a joke.

If you watch videos of these Overwatch leagues on YouTube, you'll discover that the participants are overwhelmingly white and East Asian men, just like in 99% of all other professional eSports.

In other words, the League is persecuting representatives of the majority to protect the feelings of the barely-existent minority.

How very...Jew-ish.

Fortunately, generation Z are not boomers. They've had multiculturalism and homosexuality—real multiculturalism and homosexuality, not idealized notions of them from the 1960s—stuffed down their throats since birth, and they're getting sick of it. By acting in this draconian manner, the Overwatch League is simply making these kids more resentful of those poor “oppressed” groups and the “principles” they represent.

For that reason, let's hope the suspensions and fines continue.

Teen boys spark outrage after telling girls at their high school to 'value male education' and dress modestly instead of 'distracting' boys from their studies by looking 'like a THOT'

Jew Hollywood is Force-Memeing Shitty Negro-Centric Movies

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 13, 2017

Who is this supposed to appeal to?

I made a prediction before the release of “Black Panther” that it wouldn't do as well as other Marvel movies, and it turned out to be disastrously wrong.

How did this happen?

Are people suddenly interested in seeing movies full of negroes?

Probably not.

This is being forced incredibly hard, beyond my own calculations. And they're doing the same thing with this new Oprah negro movie, although it's not having nearly the same success.

Fox News:

T'Challa still rules the box office four weeks in, even with the fresh rivalry of another Walt Disney Studios release in “A Wrinkle in Time.”

“Black Panther” took the No. 1 spot at the North American box office with $41.1 million according to studio estimates Sunday, leaving another newcomer in its wake. The Marvel and Disney phenomenon crossed the $1 billion mark worldwide this weekend and became the 7th highest grossing domestic release with $562 million. Not accounting for inflation, it's now passed “The Dark Knight.”

How did this happen? There isn't one single reason. They pulled a lot of moves to funnel everyone into watching Black Panther.

First, of course, were the hoaxed reviews.

BLACK PANTHER (2018)

TOMATOMETER	WANT TO SEE
100%	97%

Critic Consensus: Black Panther elevates superhero cinema to thrilling new heights while telling one of the MCU's most absorbing stories -- and introducing some of its most fully realized characters.

Early review were universally gushing, to the point that the movie had the same rating as classics like Citizen Kane.

The entire media apparatus conspired to convince normies that this was somehow a masterpiece of cinema, which it obviously isn't. It's a stupid superhero movie.

They also hoaxed positive audience reviews, by simply deleting critical reviews.

Polygon:

We at Rotten Tomatoes are proud to have become a platform for passionate fans to debate and discuss entertainment and we take that responsibility seriously. While we respect our fans' diverse opinions, we do not condone hate speech.

Our team of security, network and social experts continue to closely monitor our platforms and any users who engage in such activities will be blocked from our site and their comments removed as quickly as possible.

Rotten Tomatoes complained that the “alt-right” was going to review-bomb the movie, and used that as an excuse to “moderate” them.

With a marketplace still dominated by “Black Panther,” Disney faced some stiff competition from its own studio in launching Ava DuVernay’s adaption of “A Wrinkle in Time,” which opened in second place with $33.3 million from 3,980 locations. The PG-rated film, which cost around $103 million to produce and stars Oprah Winfrey and Reese Witherspoon, received mixed reviews from critics (it’s currently at a “rotten” 44 percent on RottenTomatoes) and audiences who gave it a B CinemaScore.

Ooops, they forgot to hoax the reviews for this new negro movie. That partially explains why it’s not doing quite as well as Black Panther. But it doesn’t explain why it’s doing better than you’d expect out of some fantasy-themed Blacksploitation movie.

The next factor is theater space.

12	A Wrinkle in Time	WV	$33,316,000	3,980	$13,316,000	3,980	3/9

Both Black Panther and A Wrinkle in Time are playing damn near everywhere, while other movies have partial coverage. That’ll also be a strong contributing factor to their success.

Hollywood has a long tradition of using theater distribution as a tool to game the success of movies. A well-known example is “Idiocracy,” a great 2006 comedy which promoted eugenics.

Video Link

They had this movie play in only seven cities during its opening, and later expanded to 130 theaters. Compare that to Black Panther’s 4000+ venues.

All of the other movies currently out simultaneously with these negro movies are playing in significantly fewer locations.

In gauging “A Wrinkle in Time’s” long-term prospects, a somewhat similar comparison could be Disney’s “Tomorrowland,” a PG-rated sci-fi pic with middling reviews and a B CinemaScore which opened to $33 million in the early summer of 2015 and went on to gross $93 million domestically. “Tomorrowland,” however, notably cost nearly twice as much to make as “A Wrinkle in Time.”

The next factor is time of release. In the summer, there’s a lot more competition for movie audiences as more blockbusters are released. So the same movies released in the summer time would probably get a lot less screen time, since the audience would have more choice.

Video Link

In a few days, they’ll also be able to watch this monkey-faced stormtrooper piloting a giant robot, for example.

More importantly, they pretty much didn’t release any other big-budget action or fantasy movies during this period.

Estimated ticket sales for Friday through Sunday at U.S. and Canadian theaters, according to comScore. Final domestic figures will be released Monday.

- 1.”Black Panther,” $41.1 million.
- 2.”A Wrinkle in Time,” $33.3 million.
- 3.”The Strangers: Prey At Night,” $10.5 million.

- 4.”Red Sparrow,” $8.2 million.
- 5.”Game Night,” $7.9 million.
- 6.”Peter Rabbit,” $6.8 million.
- 7.”Death Wish,” $6.6 million.
- 8.”The Hurricane Heist,” $3.2 million.
- 9.”Annihilation,” $3.2 million.
- 10.”Jumanji: Welcome to the Jungle,” $2.8 million.

For the entire time Black Panther has been in theaters, it was the only big-budget action movie you could see on the big screen. The rest are all horror, drama, thrillers, and so on, which don’t command the same types of audiences.

By avoiding the summer time, when they’d have had actual competition, they could remain the only kid on the block and get all that blockbuster audience to themselves.

And all this isn’t even mentioning the ridiculous social media campaign that billed the movie as basically a religious experience for Black people, who I’m sure all watched it multiple time.

As much money as they’ve made with all this, it’s hard to measure all the things they’ve had to sacrifice in order to achieve this artificial success. I’d bet they had to delay various movies to make room for their Wakandan story. That can’t be cheap. Pressuring all these journalists to only give the movie glowing reviews probably did a lot to undermine the credibility of these people, which makes this strategy nonviable in the long term.

Video Link

I ain’t gon watch dem crackas be pretendin’ like dey ain’t stole’d our wakandan technology.

Moreover, with their perfect nigger utopia movie realized, I’d bet Black people will now demand more of these in the future and lose interest in movies featuring White people. So this might actually hurt future sales of non-

Blacked movies with that demographic.

If Hollywood starts restructuring its whole production process and release schedule to promote weird diversity movies at the expense of normal entertainment, this is going to become nonviable very soon. People will tune out, just like they tuned out of football.

White Pornstars Beg White Knights to Make Them Feel Better After Fucking a Nigger

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 12, 2018

Video Link

So here's the thing about this: white women who have sex with niggers know that they are doing something that is disgusting and dehumanizing. Generally, that is the reason they do it: it is revenge against their fathers. They are taking their body and soul, a thing that the father made (and usually paid a shitton of money for) and ritually defiling it.

So these bitches here had a sick experience fucking a nigger for money, in scenes of racial humiliation, and it is nagging on them, presumably making them want to commit suicide, so they go out and make a YouTube video talking about how sad they are, so as white knights will rush in and tell her she has nothing to feel bad about.

Personally, I think they should go ahead and kill themselves.

This is an interesting story on many levels, however, as it speaks to racial dynamics generally, and the drives of black men in America.

It's disturbing and contains graphic descriptions of sex acts. Just a warning.

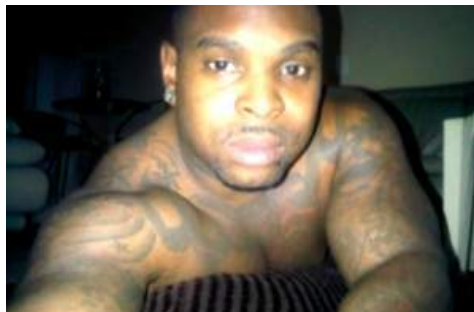

nb4 this first bitch is Jewish—I don't know, she looks kind of Jewish, but it doesn't really effect the story. The second one is definitely white, and lots of white girls do this same shit.

Jezebel:

Porn actors Leigh Raven and Riley Nixon have released a more than hour-long YouTube video detailing two different incidents of alleged abuse on adult sets. They say both events took place during shoots with the male performer Rico Strong, and for a director known as Just Dave. Their accusations include misleading booking practices, excessive face-slapping and choking, and boundary violations.

In Raven's case, the shoot in question took place earlier in the week of March 6. Raven says she has filed a police report and undergone a medical evaluation as part of the investigation.

Rico Strong is the nog in question.

"Just Dave" is some kind of swarthy brown person, probably a Jew or maybe a Mexican or something.

Just so we understand.

The YouTube testimonial, which was filmed and uploaded by Raven's wife Nikki Hearts, begins with nearly 40 minutes of Raven's detailed and graphic description of the shoot.

"Nikki Hearts" is also a porn star.

Here the two are together.

The same society that tells you you are pure evil if you mention black crime rates or IQ differential is promoting all of this as totally normal.

Wearing a hoodie and facing the camera head-on, she says that Strong, whom she considered a friend, called her on Tuesday to ask if she could replace a no-show performer in a shoot that day. Raven, who is white, says that Strong, who is black, told her that it was a "kinda rough" scene with "light racial play," and that he would be referring to her as "'my little saltine' or 'my little cracker.'" She agreed and showed up on the set that afternoon, where Raven says a production assistant similarly told her that the scene would be "a little rough."

Before the shoot began, she says that she sat down with Strong on-camera to record their respective "dos and don'ts," a common practice in the porn industry meant to establish boundaries and provide proof of consent. Raven says she agreed to a range of activities, including being smacked on the face. "The thing that I did tell my male costar was that I have a very shallow cervix," says Raven. She added that she told him to "back off" if she gave "any sort of indication that I am hurting and in pain" and that "he agreed to that.” Raven says she also mentioned that she struggles with the reverse-cowgirl position and that “both the director and the male talent said that would not be an issue.”

For the scene itself, she was asked to wear a tank top bearing “the Democratic party donkey.”

So that right there is interesting. As you will see, this “scene” was intended to be entirely about the racial humiliation of whites through degrading sex acts. That they are playing out this revenge fantasy in terms of a Democrat female tells you a whole lot.

Blacks hate leftists, who treat them like children and constantly pander to them in a way that blacks find disgusting. They have a deep desire to simply rape and murder all of them.

Pretty much any black person, if given a choice, would rather murder a left-wing white than a right-wing white, as they view the latter as being more legitimate in their behavior towards the black community.

Obviously, they want to murder us all, but they do hold a specific type of animosity toward liberals.

This also goes into a “dems r real racists” thing, lol.

It began, she says, with Strong asking her several race-related questions, including, “Which party was in favor of slavery?” As she answered, she says there was off-camera banter between Strong and the production assistant along the lines of, “Oh, she’s a smart white bitch.”

So that is off-camera, meaning it was not part of any supposed act—the animosity towards the white female (again, probably Jewish but the black doesn’t know that) is real.

As she put it in the YouTube video, “Already I’m feeling like I don’t know if this is necessarily something that I agreed to.” In other words, she says the “race play” didn’t seem as “light” as she had initially believed.

Conversations of racism within the adult industry have surfaced in recent weeks after a video of a female performer, Davina Davis, making a series of racist comments circulated online. The video prompted some performers of color—particularly black men—to speak out about the pervasive and casual racism that they routinely encounter within the adult industry. (On Twitter, Strong has argued that the accusations against him are racially motivated, writing, “This been going on for decades black men are the forbidden Fruit everybody. Want to taste & touch but don’t want nobody to know they like it.”) These dynamics persist against the backdrop of a business that often frames “interracial scenes”—specifically, scenes between black men and white women—as the ultimate taboo.

This been going on for decades black men are the forbidden Fruit everybody. Want to taste & touch but don’t want nobody to know they like it

— IG ricostrong_562 (@itzmericostrong) March 10, 2018

This taboo was to be explored in the scene between Raven and Strong but, she says, developed in a way that she had not agreed to. In her YouTube account, Raven alleges that Strong said something about “black payback” and “comes into the scene and hits me very, very hard across the face.” She adds, “It wasn’t a fake slap, it wasn’t a slap that we typically use in porn to make things look a little bit more intense than they actually are. It’s very painful and it definitely stunned me. I, you know, saw stars, so to speak.”

Then they moved onto the blow job scene, “a very, very, very rough blow job where if I pulled back I got punished, so to speak,” she says. “I would get hit, I would get called names.” Then, she says, the director became “aggravated” that she was not vomiting from the blow job. (On-camera vomiting is generally considered extreme and is usually prohibited within the industry.) “They tossed me a bag of apples and a water and they said, ‘I hope you like apples,’” she says, the idea being that the apples would help her to vomit. “So I began to eat my apples, at this point covered in saliva, snot. I’m sitting on the edge of the couch, not really saying much, wanting this to really be over.”

Just again here—this is stuff that is allowed on the internet, while Daily Stormer is banned.

The people who engage in this type of behavior are allowed Twitter accounts, while Jared Taylor is not.

At this point in the YouTube video, Raven’s wife, who is sitting behind the camera, interjects to suggest that viewers might be wondering why she didn’t leave. “To be perfectly honest, I was afraid,” says Raven. “I was afraid because Rico had mentioned in the past to me that, you know, if people fuck with his money he’s not going to have it. So if I were to call that scene in that moment he wouldn’t get paid, I wouldn’t get paid, and I didn’t know what could happen to me. I was in a warehouse, it was nighttime, there were multiple men on set, it was just me, I didn’t have a car.” She adds, “I just said to myself, ‘Let’s just get this over with.’”

Yeah, that she was afraid I can actually believe.

What I can’t believe is “who knew that having sex with a nigger would be humiliating????”

Raven says she ate “about three apples” and then was “required” to vomit. “Rico was then sticking his dick in my mouth as far as he could while I was giving him, you know, leg squeezes, leg nudges, to ease up, but he wasn’t easing up and he actually acknowledged the fact that I wanted his dick out of my mouth so I could breathe, because it was becoming unbearable at this point, because I had big, giant pieces of apple coming up the sides of my throat where, essentially, I'm choking."

At one point, she says, she was lying with her head hanging toward the floor during oral sex and she had to pull away and vomit. "I got in trouble and was beat vigorously with the largest, strongest hands you can imagine," she said. "I proceeded to get slapped in the face, I proceeded to be slapped on my ass, my thighs, my inner thighs, and at this point I begin to cry and now I'm not just crying because I'm deep-throating a dick."

You poor, poor dear.

Halfway through the blow job scene, she says she was asked to eat more apples so that they could get more vomit shots. "At this point, I didn't really move from the couch. I stayed in my spot covered in all sorts of bodily fluids...while drinking water and eating apples." She explains that she continued filming because "we're just getting further and further into the scene, which means that I get to go home sooner and sooner."

Then came the intercourse scene, she says. "The first position that I am put in is reverse cowgirl"—the position she says she had indicated beforehand was problematic for her—"because 'this white bitch needs to be doing the work because after all these years black men have been doing the work.'" lol @ black men working.

Guess this porno video was also a comedy!

After around five minutes, she says her legs were uncontrollably shaking—a sign she says she had mentioned to Strong beforehand as an indication she needed to switch positions. "He recognized the fact that my legs were shaking and he found it funny and he made me sit up higher, which made it hurt a lot more," she says.

In the next position, she says, "I was being penetrated extremely, extremely deep...I was squeezing his leg, his left thigh, I think, as hard as I could while pushing away and wincing in pain and tears coming down my face, and he would smack my hand away, say some sort of "dumb white bitch" comment."

Then it was time for the pop shot, but she says Strong was having trouble, so "I decided to have sex with him off to the side to expedite the process." While they had sex, she says he grabbed her neck with both hands. "I couldn't breathe, it went black, I saw stars, I was stunned. Near unconscious."

Afterward, she had the standard on-camera exit interview, where performers vouch for how consensual everything that happened on-set was. She was asked, "Were you raped?" and answered, No." At this point in the YouTube video, her wife interjects to say, "That's what you said and afterwards that's not how you feel, obviously." She responds, "No."

According to the video, the day after the shoot, she decided to contact police and received a medical evaluation, during which she says she was told she had a vaginal tear and a bruised cervix.

Nixon's account is significantly shorter, but contains similar details. She says she agreed in early January to a "rough," "interracial," "throat play" scene co-starring Strong and directed by Just Dave that would parody "social issues." Nixon says she was asked if she was comfortable with throwing up, "should it happen," but that she was not told that it was to be expected or necessary. Once on set, she was given a shirt to wear reading "feminist."

See, there that is again.

This nigger is obsessed with humiliating an effigy of his "white allies."

Here is "Riley Nixon," by the way.

Definitely not a Jew.

She says, "I'm pretty sure, like, the first thing that happens in the intro video with Rico is he comes in and just slaps me across the face really hard, like really hard."

In a vein similar to the line of questioning Raven says happened in her shoot, Nixon says she was asked a series of questions, including something along the lines of, "What has feminism ever done for black people?" In response to her answers, she was slapped, Nixon says.

HA!

You are seeing what this is? The liberals have said to the niggers, "we will give you anything you want" and they have answered "we want more."

"Then he decides to choke me, but I also like being choked—when it's done properly. He has very strong hands. He only used one in this instance and decides to choke me by, like, my Adam's apple and my windpipe—couldn't breathe, couldn't talk," she says, tearing up. "I was hoping that Dave would cut sooner than he did." Nixon says she was in a squatting position while Strong was holding her up by her neck. This, she says, is not "proper technique."

Then they moved on to the blow job scene. Similarly, she says she was asked to eat apples to vomit. "So it's apple chunks and shit coming out of my mouth," she said. At one point Nixon says her head was hanging upside down off the couch and that she had to pull away to vomit. "I was having a really hard time with the blow job. It's not a natural thing to do for 30 minutes," she says. Nixon says she had to call cut and wanted to stop, but that they urged her to do five more minutes. "I know I have [the power to say no]," she says, "but I don't want to make people angry and I need to pay rent."

Poor thing.

Once they moved onto intercourse, she says she was "slapped really hard on the legs—I don't even really remember, I just remember being in pain most of the time, crying a lot." Nixon says she was "curled up in a ball on the couch crying...I kinda did what I thought I had to do to get the job done and get that check so I can pay my rent." For that reason, she says, she didn't signal that anything had been amiss during her filmed exit interview.

"By the end of the whole shoot my face was pretty fucked up. I felt like all the blood vessels were, like, broken," she says, choking up. "It was a rough shoot. I like rough sex. I love rough sex. It wasn't consensually rough. I mean, yes, I was consenting to it, but it was just way rougher than it needed to be."

At the end of the joint YouTube video, Raven joined Nixon on camera and gave her a hug. "I just don't want any of this to happen to any other girl," she says. Raven continues, "We are performers and we are human and we agree to things when we are terrified."

In a statement Friday, the Free Speech Coalition, the adult industry's trade association, promised to look into the allegations and said, "We have been shocked and outraged hearing accounts of performers who say they have suffered abuse, consent violations, deception and assault on the Just Dave set. A performer's control over their own body is an inviolable principle of this industry. Violating consent is not only unethical, it's criminal."

So, look.

There is a lot here, some of which I've already commented on, but let's do a bullet point of what we've learned.

- Women, given the option to make their own choices, will always make the worst possible imaginable decisions
- Pornography is evil
- The porn industry is depraved
- Black men have a desire to racially and sexually humiliate white people, particularly white liberals
- Pornography is used as a means to humiliate the white race as revenge (Jews are the main perpetrators, but they bring their pet monkeys along to help)
- Women feel sickened by their own choices
- Women seek to have men confirm their value after making bad choices
- The most humiliating, evil shit imaginable is allowed on the internet, while political content opposing the mainstream Jewish narrative is not

This is all clear as day, but none of this will ever be included in an analysis of a situation like this.

Instead, we will just hear about how there should be more rules in the porn industry and they should have safety words or whatever. This whole particular situation will probably be dismissed completely as a racist conspiracy like OJ.

ABSOLUTE DEGENERACY: Dutch "Artist" Creates a Hotel Shaped Like a Giant Anus

Michael Byron
Daily Stormer
March 12, 2018

Every man has dreams and ambitions in life.

Some men dream about living a self-reliant existence in the wilderness, waking up to the sounds of running water and bird-song. Other men might dream about owning a business, or starting a family, or ushering in a new era of global White Supremacy.

Then there are men like Joep van Lieshout, a Dutch "artist" who dreamed of creating a hotel shaped like a giant anus.

And whad'ya know? He actually did it, the absolute madman!

Metro:

Ever wished you could spend the night in a huge anus? Or even drink wine in a big bum? Well, now is the time.

In Belgium a Dutch artist has built an entire hotel in the shape of an anus in a field.

Joep Van Lieshou has called his bizarre creation CasAnus Hotel and even includes a sculpture of a giant intestine complete with veins.

There is even a bed, a shower and central heating and guests can stay the night at the exhibit at the Verbeke Sculpture Park.

Wine tasting has already been organised in the hotel with visitors being urged to taste glasses of Emilia-Romagna.

Event organiser Alice Brown told Vice: “After ten after ten years of organizing ‘classic’ wine tastings, often very boring for both wine producers and visitors, we started thinking of different ways of experimenting.”

There sculpture park attracts over 20,000 visitors a year and is home to hundreds of weird and wonderful pieces of art.

The Hotel CasAnus is the latest attraction but a price has not yet been put on the giant anus.

I don't know what's more disturbing: the fact that someone created this abomination, or the fact that people are willing to spend €120 a night to stay in it. To be fair, the price includes breakfast.

As soon as I read about this artist and his creation, I thought: “kike.”

Then I thought: “no...faggot.”

Then I paused, rubbed my chin sagely, and concluded: “a kike faggot.”

Alas, I found no solid evidence that Joep van Lieshout is either of those things.

It really is depressing how far we've degenerated as a people since we defeated Adolf “So Evil, Wow, Get a Load of How Evil This Guy Is” Hitler. Our Western civilization, once the envy of the world, has become so Judaized and dysgenic that so-called newspapers praise so-called artists for making hotels shaped like anuses and charging people to sleep inside them.

Van Lieshout has been committing crimes against aesthetics for decades. Here are a few of his earlier masterpieces:

A sculpture of a man fucking an animal.

I get a Pizzagate vibe from this one...

...and this one...

Meanwhile, here are a few Dutch artworks from a bygone era:

Rembrandt.

Vermeer.

Bruegel.

From a biological point of view, there's nothing preventing white people from reaching the same artistic heights that we once did. We're still made from the same genetic material as our ancestors; our DNA remains unchanged.

In fact, it wouldn't surprise me if there are contemporary masters out there. Their artworks, and the techniques used to create them, are just prevented from reaching mass exposure because the mainstream art world is controlled by—you guessed it—Jews who have a vested interest in (a) defiling gentile society through the promotion of sick art, and (b) prioritizing art that can be created quickly to maintain their vast money laundering ecosystem.

Once we kick out the Jews (“kick out” is a code word for “exterminate,” btw), good art—true expressions of our racial soul—will once again resurface in the public domain.

And then we'll have a bonfire, a big beautiful bonfire, and all of this degenerate art will be purged from our societies for evermore.

BBC's New Troy Series Features Monkey-Faced Negro as Achilles

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 12, 2017

Poor Achilles. From blond Aryan ubermensch to monkey.

Homer wrote that Achilles was dipped in the river Styx in order to make him immortal. What he didn't mention, however, is that it also made him a nigger.

It's a great thing that the good Jews at the BBC are now correcting the record with this newest remake of the Trojan wars.

Because while Homer foolishly thought Achilles was Greek, in fact he was a Ghanaian negro.

Yes, Achilles in Troy: Fall of a City is black, and yes it's a big deal

Yeah I'm sure Homer was a big fan of the niggers.

Digital Spy:

Survey the footage trailing Troy: Fall of a City—bearded men in togas, battles on horseback, the kind of candlelit sex scenes that will make watching episodes on public transport particularly tricky— and you'd be forgiven for thinking it was business as usual. Another blockbuster (albeit a small-screen one) depicting Homer's mythical tale of war, gods and doomed love.

But BBC One's splashy new eight-partner created by The Night Manager's David Farr approaches this ancient story with something of a modern sensibility. And so it is that the character of Achilles, last embodied on screen by a lank-haired Brad Pitt in 2004's Troy, will this time be played by British-Ghanaian actor David Gyasi. (Not to mention many other black roles in the series, including Hakeem Kae-Kazim as the god Zeus.) It's a casting move that—with thudding, tedious predictability—has been met with opposition by a small, stubbornly vocal section of the internet.

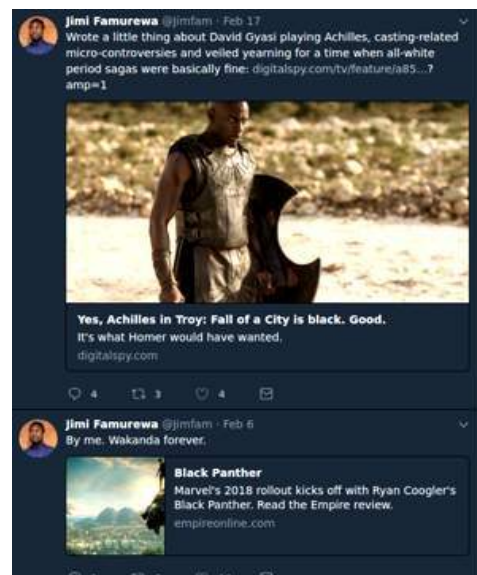

Hollywood White-washing Achilles under the pretext that that's what the book described him as, smdh.

“Homer in the Iliad repeatedly describes Achilles as ‘blonde’ and ‘golden-haired,’” whined one definite non-racist. “Mad PC decision,” tweeted another. “Would anyone be mad if I made movie [sic] about US history, and actor playing Obama would be white?” chipped in one more.

“#Netflix so you're going to black wash troy fall of city the new show. zeus, achilles wasn't black and more. as a Greek I am disgusted,” said one, in the interests of asserting Greek identity more than diminishing black actors, of course.

Who's even writing this?
Oh...

We're dealing with a proud Wakan-dan here.

So how does our Wakandan writer explain why Achilles should be played by a Ghanaian actor?

Is it impossible to conceive of a black Greek man? What if he was mixed race, would that be acceptable? Would he seem more plausibly Greek?

Is it impossible to conceive of a horse, who's actually a dog? What if it was a half-horse, half-dog hybrid? Would that be acceptable? Would a half-horse creature be more plausibly a dog than a full-blooded horse?

It's a reminder that these arguments can't withstand even the tiniest scrutiny. What those who object to Gyasi's casting are really saying—beyond the handwringing about cultural authenticity—is, essentially, that they want to go back to the old days when you could get away with an all-white cast. When a grand, period saga like this would be a stealthy way to lock out non-white actors.

Yeah, exactly. If you made a movie about the Zulu tribe, you could never justify using their Blackness as an excuse to lock out White actors out of that production, right?

I think you should all contact the author, Jimi Famurewa, in order to support his crusade to redress this grievous error of history.

So They're Promoting Bestiality Now, Huh

Adrian Sol
Daily Stormer
March 11, 2017

This is totally normal and healthy behavior, goyim.

The movie “The Shape of Water” is transparently a promotion of White women having sex with brown men in order to “stick it to the White patriarchy” or whatever.

However, that doesn't mean it can't also be used to promote an equally important Jewish agenda: having sex with literal animals.

Everyone with half a brain was saying a few years ago that as soon as faggotry was normalized and gay marriage was made law, they'd immediately start pushing all sorts of other degeneracy like pedophilia, bestiality and necrophilia.

Remember this?

And HuffPo, which is always proud to be at the forefront of such things, doesn't fail to deliver. Huffington Post:

In 2010, journalist Malcolm J. Brenner released his autobiographical novel, Wet Goddess. A few years later, Brenner was the subject of an award-winning documentary, “Dolphin Lover.” Both works explore a period in the 1970s for which Brenner became famous—the time he fell in love with and ultimately made love to a dolphin named Dolly.

“Made love.”

That right there is all you need to know about the purpose of this article. Anyone who'd describe copulating with a wild animal as “making love” is in dire need of Zyklon therapy.

Brenner.

By Ashley Feinberg

Every damn time.

As he was rocketing toward a sensational sort of renown, Brenner also became the subject of a number of think pieces and interviews. But the internet's metabolism is quick, even when inter-species dolphin sex is involved, and Brenner's name slowly faded from the national conversation.

Yeah, isn't that unfortunate? Good that this movie gives you an excuse to trot out this lunatic again to remind the stupid goyim the importance and beauty of fucking animals.

You have much to learn from Moslems.

Then, Guillermo del Toro made "The Shape of Water," a movie about a mute woman who falls in love with and ultimately makes love to a strapping humanoid amphibian, and it won the Best Picture Academy Award this past Sunday. I immediately thought of Brenner.

I bet you did, you degenerate kike.

In 1970, when Brenner was a college sophomore, he was given open access to the now-defunct theme park Floridaland near Sarasota to take photos for a book about the dolphin show. There, he claims, Dolly the dolphin began courting him.

"She would rub her genital slit against me," he says in "Dolphin Lover." "And if I tried to push her away, she would get very angry with me. One time, when she wanted to masturbate on my foot and I wouldn't let her, she threw herself on top of me and pushed me down to the 12-foot bottom of the pool."

Yeah I'm sure that's how it happened. The dolphin "courted" the guy who also just happened to be a zoophile pervert.

After some time, Brenner and Dolly consummated their relationship—he vertical, she horizontal—but Brenner eventually moved away and Dolly was sent to an aquarium in Mississippi, where she later died.

"Consummated their relationship."

This is completely nuts.

We're talking about a guy who fucked an aquatic animal here.

Brenner is a thinking person's zoophile. He draws a careful distinction between zoophiles and mere bestialists, noting in "Dolphin Lover" that the latter "might just have sex with an animal and walk away," while the former "is someone who has tender or caring emotions for their animal partner."

Hohoho, he's not a "mere bestialist," but a sophisticated and hip "zoophile." Excuse me.

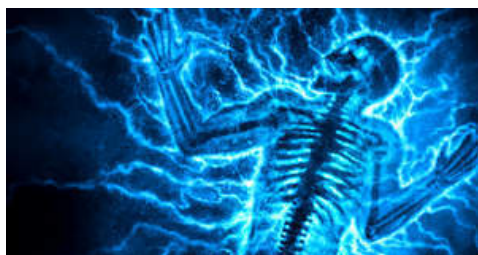

Know the difference between an aristocratic zoophile elite VS pleb-tier bestialist.

He doesn't think anyone is necessarily born with these particular sexual proclivities. That runs counter to the dogma of a number of other zoophiles. In the documentary, Brenner explains that he believes his zoophilia is the result of the "very intense physical and sexual abuse" he claims to have suffered in early childhood at the hands of psychologist Albert Duvall, a student of the controversial psychoanalyst Wilhelm Reich. "I think I found animals to be a safe and secure repository for my sexual desires," he says in the movie.

Outrageous sexual perversions are a result of being abused as a child?

What a SHOCKING revelation!

Me irl right now.

So if this is the case, why is this HuffPo kike trying to normalize it? If these people are doing this because they're mentally ill after being abused as children, shouldn't be just give them psychological help instead of indulging their insanity?

The Jews are elevating mental illness to normalcy in order to undermine the fabric of society—not out of some sort of compassion for these cranks.

Traditionalist Worker Party Co-Chair May be Charged with Destroying Subpoenaed Evidence After Party Collapse

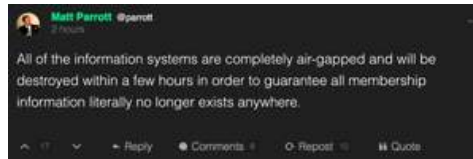

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 15, 2018

Yesterday, a bizarre disaster happened when Matthew Heimbach, leader of the Traditionalist Worker Party, a National Socialist group, was charged with assault after allegedly beating up co-chair Matthew Parrott and then beating his wife in front of his children. The dispute was related to an alleged affair Heimbach was having with Parrott's wife, who is also his mother-in-law.

The group was officially disbanded by Parrott hours after the incident, but today, it appears his problems may have gotten much worse.

Parrott posted this message on Gab, following the incident:

Unfortunately, due to unrelated circumstances, that was probably a felony which could carry up to twenty years in prison.

Buzzfeed:

Charlottesville protesters suing over last summer's violence filed court papers Wednesday asking a judge to sanction prominent white nationalist Matthew Parrott—one of the defendants in the case—after Parrott posted on social media that he had destroyed information.

Parrott, a spokesperson and director for the white nationalist group the Traditionalist Worker Party, announced Tuesday night via the social media site Gab that he was resigning from the organization, amid a dramatic and allegedly violent falling out with the party's cofounder Matthew Heimbach.

Parrott then posted that he was destroying information, apparently from the Traditionalist Worker Party's systems, which drew the attention of lawyers who have sued to hold him and other white nationalists and white supremacists liable for the violence in Charlottesville in August. Citing Parrott's posts, the lawyers for the plaintiffs are now asking the judge to sanction Parrott and the Traditionalist Worker Party, and to authorize an investigation to determine what possible evidence was destroyed.

Lawyers for the plaintiffs wrote to the court that the intentional destruction of information related to the case "is a blatant violation of Parrott's and TWP's obligations as parties before this court." They noted that the website for the Traditionalist Worker Party was down as of the evening of March 13.

On March 2, according to Wednesday's filing, the plaintiffs alerted the court that the defendants had failed to respond to their requests for documents and other information. Lawyers for the plaintiffs told the court that they were told by defense counsel that the defendants didn't plan to respond until April 6, after the deadline.

According to exhibits filed in court Wednesday, the plaintiffs' lawyers emailed Parrott's lawyer, James Kolenich, to ask about Parrott's posts about deleting information. He replied that he had read Parrott's posts, but wrote, "I don't know anymore about this situation than you." He later wrote, "I understand that you have to file what you think best for your case."

The plaintiffs are asking the court to sanction Parrott and the Traditionalist Worker Party by giving the plaintiffs permission to do a forensic exam of the group's information systems to figure out what was destroyed and what could be recovered. They're also asking that Parrott and the Traditional Worker Party cover the costs associated with their motion for sanctions, including the cost of any forensic examinations.

Parrott's attorney declined to comment.

As is known, I have been a critic of TWP. Although I have a policy on this site of not attacking other white nationalist groups, I did as an individual speak out off this site about what I saw as very destructive behavior that the group was engaging in. I had been very hard on Parrott over his practice of keeping lists of real names. This practice in particular, along with their practice of encouraging young men to dox themselves as members of his group, I found particularly immoral.

Any real names list that exists will at some point end up in the hands of Jews, which is what is happening in this case. They are mass-subpoenaing records which they will then become public record.

I respect Parrott for trying to clear out the lists, in the wake of the group's collapse. But it's going to be a big problem.

The poor guy. I never liked him, and I won't pretend to like him now, but it is impossible not to feel bad for him. His best friend, who is married to his daughter, had an affair with his wife. Then he watched them through a window becoming intimate, and was then beat-up by his best friend. He was then beat-up again, while holding his infant child. His entire life's work was destroyed. Now he's probably going to prison.

The lists themselves, as I have said repeatedly, are always a horrible, horrible idea. There is no justification for this practice, whatsoever. If someone is a fed or an agent of some kind trying to get into your group, you are not going to learn that by knowing their real name. There is no reason that any group should ever require you to give them your real name, at all. You shouldn't ever be asked it. You should be able to introduce yourself as whatever it is you want to introduce yourself as, and that should be the end of it.

A Lesson to Learn

There are a lot of lessons to learn from this situation.

I may write more in the future, but I want to right now just give the most important lesson of all: this movement has gotten way, way ahead of itself.

We are in no way ready to move forward with some kind of mass political movement. Matt Parrott, the leader of what was the largest neo-Nazi street-fighting protest group, kept records of people's real names which were bound to end up in the hands of Jews—they were headed into the hands of Jews already—then after the domestic situation, destroyed the records and publicly announced it in such a way that he presumably committed a very serious felony.

As bad as I feel for him, and in some way also for Heimbach, these are not the kind of people who are fit to be taking on the responsibility they were attempting to take on.

We are in no way ready to "take to the streets." We have absolutely zero infrastructure. We do not have a huge pool of reliable, competent people. We do not have any stable organizations, we do not have developed communities, we do not have allies in the government or military, we do not have allies in academia, entertainment or media, we do not have a legal team. We do not really have much of anything at all.

And that is because the Alt-Right has only existed for about three years. The idea that we are able to pop up and then all of the sudden have a spontaneous revolution is childlike to the point that it is basically negro-tier thinking. That is sadly simply not the way reality works.

Whenever I have criticized this thing that TWP was doing, I have been met with "SO YOU THINK WE'RE JUST GOING TO VOTE OUR WAY OUT OF THIS???? WE HAVE TO DO SOMETHING!!!"

And yes, of course we have to do something. We are doing something. We are beginning to lay the groundwork necessary to build a real political movement. The very, very, very first step is to talk about what we are doing, what our goals are and to gather support for that among the population. We have been extremely successful in this, and we are getting to the point where we have begun networking and building communities.

I am working on encouraging young guys to not throw their lives away, and instead go to college or join the military. Get involved with local Republican politics. Begin to build the infrastructure we need for this movement.

The very first thing we need is healthy, strong men. The Matts were not that. They were both obese with very weird behavior and inappropriate patterns and promoted an extremely bizarre belief system. And now of course we've heard about their domestic situation and wow.

You cannot “find a leader.” A leader finds you. Leaders will come out of our movement. Real leaders. More than half of the readership of this site is under 25 and half of them are under 18.

With our internet media and our budding real life communities, we are not just doing “something,” we are doing exactly what we should be doing, and we are doing it very well.

The thing about this is, it is very hard work. We are attempting nothing less than a revolution inside of the heart of the most powerful empire that has ever existed. This is not a situation where you just “go out and DO SOMETHING IN THE STREETS!”

This is hard work. It's time to do the work, and stop acting like negroes demanding that everything be given to them immediately without requiring any work.

Traditionalist Worker Party Leader Matthew Heimbach Charged with Domestic Violence, Spokesman Quits

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 14, 2018

The leader of the white nationalist group “Traditionalist Worker Party” Matthew Heimbach has been charged with multiple assault charges following a domestic incident involving his wife Brooke and his co-party chair and step-father-in-law Matthew Parrott.

Following the incident, Parrott resigned from the organization. WHAS11:

A local man at the center of white nationalist controversy is in jail in Orange County, IN. Matthew Heimbach is facing four charges, including assault.

According to court documents, the incident started on the Paoli property where Heimbach lives with his family and other members of the Traditionalist Worker Party.

Arrest records report Heimbach assaulted his wife's stepfather Matt Parrott. The papers detail the two had gotten in an argument over an affair.

Parrott told police he ran to Walmart for safety and called 911.

Standing outside Heimbach's home, the officer said she heard Heimbach raise his voice at his wife, then she heard scuffling.

When the officer went inside the home, she said she learned Heimbach had attacked his wife; pushing her and grabbing her face. Their two young children watched the scene unfold.

The officer arrested Heimbach at his home and took him to the Orange County Jail.

Heimbach faces four charges including strangulation, intimidation, battery and domestic battery committed in the presence of a child.

Here is a video report.

Here is the full police report (with redactions) in .pdf form.

Here are the relevant parts.

On 03/13/2018 at approximately 01:17am I, Officer Rachael Rodriguez with the Paoli Police Department was notified to be en route to Walmart, [REDACTED] Paoli IN 47454 in reference to a male that had been assaulted by his wife and his wife's boyfriend.

When I arrived at Walmart I spoke with David Matthew Parrott [REDACTED] Parrott advised me that he had been assaulted by his wife Jessica Parrott [REDACTED] and her boyfriend later identified as Matthew Heimbach [REDACTED]. David Parrott went on to state that his step-daughter [REDACTED] was in immediate danger because she had a recording of his wife and his wife's boyfriend.

I then left Walmart and proceeded to [REDACTED] Paoli IN 47454 to make contact with [REDACTED]. When I arrived I was met by Matthew Heimbach, a third uninvolved party, and Jessica Parrott. Jessica Parrott at this time stated that she was just a neighbor and wanted to go home so I advised her to leave. Matthew Heimbach said [REDACTED] was inside with the children. [REDACTED] came to the door and advised me that she was putting her children down for bed. [REDACTED] seemed to be upset and nervous. I told [REDACTED] to lay them down and come back out to speak with me.

After waiting a few minutes Matthew Heimbach went inside to put the children down and send [REDACTED] out to speak with me instead. During this I overheard Matthew Heimbach tell [REDACTED] to send the police away.

So the basic story is this:

Matthew Heimbach is married to Matthew Parrott's step daughter, Brooke. Brooke's mother is dead, and Matthew Parrott is now remarried to a different woman named Jessica. Matthew Parrott still plays the role of “step-father” to Brooke. They all live in trailers on a plot of land in Indiana, with other members of the TWP.

Heimbach was caught sometime in the last week having an affair with Jessica. They told Parrott and Brooke that the affair had been going on for 3 months, but they had broken it off.

Brooke Heimbach and Jessica Parrott concocted a plan to set-up Heimbach, to see if he would attempt to become intimate again if given the opportunity. Jessica lured Heimbach into Parrott's trailer, and Brooke and Matthew Parrott watched from the window, standing on a wooden crate with Brooke filming.

Brooke got scared and ran away (presumably after the two being watched had become intimate), and Parrott remained watching through the window until the crate broke, at which point he ran around and confronted Heimbach, telling him to get off of his property.

Heimbach then attacked Parrot, hurting his hand and choking him out to unconsciousness. When he woke up, his wife, Jessica, was standing over him (he later reported to the police that she attacked him, it's not clear if that was at this time but it may have been). He then ran to someone's house (it is described as a house and not a trailer), and Heimbach chased after him into this house. Parrot threw a chair at Heimbach to try to get him to back off, and Heimbach again choked him out to unconsciousness.

When he awoke the second time, he found his wife and Heimbach talking about how they had to find Brooke Heimbach, because she had a recording of them together, which they were apparently concerned she would share.

Parrot took his infant child with him and ran to Walmart where he called the police. He told the police that he believed his daughter in law was in danger because she had a video recording of Heimbach with Jessica.

The police went to Heimbach's trailer, Heimbach, Jessica and a third person met the police. Jessica said that she was an uninvolved neighbor, and asked to leave and the police told her to go home. Heimbach told the police that Brooke was inside with the children, and then she came to the door and said she was putting them to bed. The officer saw that she looked nervous and distraught, and the officer told her to put the children to bed and come back out and speak with her (the female officer).

After a few minutes, Heimbach went inside to help her with the kids and send her out. While both were inside, the officer overheard Heimbach yelling and Brooke and telling her to tell the officers that everything was fine. The officers then entered the trailer and told Heimbach to come out of the room, and he was handcuffed. Brooke was crying, holding one of the children, and told the officers that he had assaulted her.

Heimbach was taken to jail. He later made bail. He faces four charges related to the incident.

Heimbach has previous convictions for violence which may play a role in whatever sentence he receives. I believe he is technically on parole. So he could end up serving years in prison. It is an incredibly sad situation.

The above was corrected to show that the police report tells that it was Jessica Parrott, not Matthew Parrott, who concocted the plan with Brooke Heimbach to set up Matthew Heimbach to see if he would attempt to initiate sex. I believe that my mistake may have actually been correcting an error on the part of the police, as it makes much more sense that Matthew Parrott would have been working with Brooke Heimbach, because if Jessica Parrott was in on the trick against Matthew Heimbach, why did Matthew Parrott later report that she attacked him and was working with Matthew Heimbach to potentially harm Brooke Parrott to retrieve the sex tape?*

Parrott's Announcement and the Future of TWP

Given the nature of the above story, it is not surprising that Matthew Parrott has announced via Gab that he is quitting the group.

He has also stated that he has deleted all digital records of the group.

Also, according to the SPLC, he issued to them a statement telling them he was finished and that they won.

SPLC Hatewatch:

After the arrest, Parrott announced he was walking away from the group.

"I'm done. I'm out," Parrott told The Southern Poverty Law Center on Tuesday. "SPLC has won. Matt Parrott is out of the game. Y'all have a nice life."

It's certainly an unfortunate statement, though it would not be easy for anyone to understand where he is at right now, personally.

Personal Comment

I have no desire to comment on this situation from a political perspective, as it is not a political incident. It is quite clearly a human tragedy.

As those who are more involved in "the movement" are aware, I've been extremely critical of Matthew Heimbach and the Traditionalist Worker Party in general, but I have been critical of their politics, and the way they have behaved in the public sphere, not their personal lives. And though if this story is true, it certainly may reflect on character and motivation, my disagreements are what they were before this incident and my disagreements would be the same if this incident had never happened.

We should learn whatever lessons we can from this situation, but we should keep the event itself in its proper context as a human tragedy.

Obviously, the media is going to politicize this personal tragedy as a weapon against pro-white activists, and there is nothing we can do about that, but we do not benefit from sinking to that level.

Don't Kill Yourself, Fam

Roy Batty
Daily Stormer
March 13, 2018

This story hit home for me.

Usually, I write my articles with a snarky and absurdist kind of “above it all” tone. It’s not that I really think this way IRL, it’s just its the only way to cope with Clown World sometimes.

Me right now. Watching the liberal world BURN

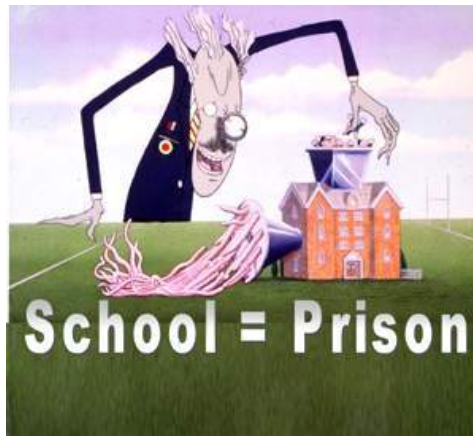

You just kind of have to laugh at it and mock it. You can’t let yourself get too emotionally affected by it all because frankly, it’s demoralizing and leads to the black pill.

But damn. Idk why this one hit me in the feels. Probably because I feel for the kid.

Schools are functionally just prisons for White kids nowadays. No, maybe it’s actually worse than that. A prison at least you know is a prison. There are no illusions about where you are. An American school is more like an insane asylum that you have to endure for most of your young life. And not everyone makes it out alive.

Daily Mail:

A sixth grade boy has committed suicide after enduring years of bullying.

Andrew Michael Leach, 12, left a suicide note and hung himself last Tuesday at his family’s home in Southaven, Mississippi, a suburb of Memphis that is just over the state line from Tennessee.

His 16-year-old brother found the body, family members said.

Andrew’s mother Cheryl Hudson told WREG that bullying was rampant at Andrew’s school, Southaven Middle, where she said both sons had been cruelly tormented.

I did a quick search on google images of Southaven Middle and the problem immediately became clear to me.

The school is infested with niggers.

It’s not quite at the level where blacks outnumber the Whites, but more in that dangerous middle area where blacks are a sizeable and disruptive minority, but parents still think that the school is “a good school” i.e. still White.

But scrolling for news mentions of the school, it seems that students have started bringing weapons and talk of mass shootings have led to pre-emptive school shutdowns.

If you can understand the ebomics, there are some screencaps from nogs texting one another here.

In other words, this school is a powder keg ready to blow.

And so we come to this kid, who apparently was “bullied” until he committed suicide.

“Bullied” eh? God, I hate those stupid anachronistic Boomer words. “Bullying” is what White kids used to do to other White kids to get them to shape up and White kids rarely ever bully anyone anymore.

That kid obviously was getting harassed by NIGGERS.

"From what we are hearing, there was a group of kids that would go around calling him fat, ugly and worthless," the grieving mother said.

Asked if she'd ever approached school administrators about the bullying issue, Hudson told the station: "I only spoke with the school's 6th grade principal. I didn't know how to handle it. His dad did talk to a teacher one time."

She said it was not the first such instance at the school.

"A few years ago there was a young girl who hung herself from a water tower due to bullying," she said. "There have been several attempts since then with other kids."

A group of kids, eh?

I've never seen groups of White boys go around causing fat 12-year-olds to commit suicide. I mean, maybe vapid White whores-in-training in their middle teens, but even then, that's rare.

Video Link

First of all, this kid wasn't fat. I'm a big fat-shamer myself, but this kid is clearly just pre-pubescent chubby. In five years, he almost certainly would have grown two feet and all that fat would have evaporated naturally. A lot of White kids hit puberty waaay later than non-Whites, which is why it simply isn't fair to keep Whites and non-Whites in the same schools.

Blacks grow much bigger much faster because they're animals, not really humans and don't have much to develop.

By the time they're fourteen, you've got a full-grown Silverback out there causing trouble and "bullying" White kids...

But I digress.

What I wanted to get across to our younger readers is this: it's not your fault.

School is awful, just fucking god-awful. Social hierarchy is determined by your familiarity with pop-culture and ability to mimic black behavior. If you are introspective, not into whatever the fad is at the time or just more than one standard deviation from the mean IQ of your peers, you're gonna have a very bad time.

I know I did.

I went to a school that was virtually indistinguishable from Andrew's. It was built with that same red brick and the building design was basically a giant rectangle with cordoned off sections and constant security guard patrols. It probably had the same ratio of niggers in it and the same toxic stew of White Guilt propaganda, cat ladies running the administration and Vibrant Diversity.

I counted down the minutes, hours and days until I could finally get out and get away from it all.

If it weren't for my father busting his butt to get me into a private school for the last four years, I don't think I would have made it through without getting shanked or something.

But the blood of the martyrs is the seed of the new Church.

In other words, all of this was not for nothing. One way or another, you were born into this time for a reason. And what you will experience throughout school and your young adult life will open your eyes to the truth.

You'll see what your comfortable Boomer or Gen X parents never could.

The red pill will resonate with you in a way that it never ever really did with any other generation that came before. It won't just be funny memes and infographics for you. You'll understand what we are fighting for on a much deeper level. And you will put all other generations to shame with your militant zeal.

I'm not exaggerating when I say this, fam, but you are gearing up for the most important fight in the history of our race. Every single injustice and robbed childhood will be repaid one day and it will be your generation that ends up extracting a mountain of payback from the Jews who created this system, the White shriveled up hags that ran it, and the black savages that were brought in to make our lives a living hell.

So take heart and hang in there. Our time is coming.

The Truth About Why Liberalist Sargonites Fear the Alt-Right

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 13, 2018

The Alt-Right has developed a strict policy of mustaches, and when we take over, all men will be forced to wear them.

Sargon doesn't actually like filthy Paki child rapists as he claims to.

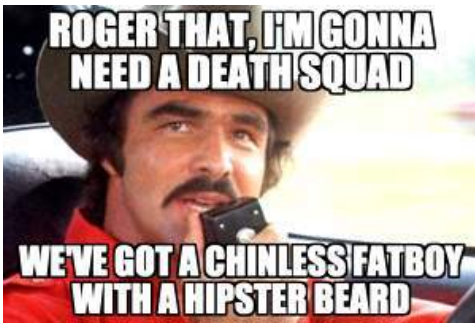

He is afraid of being forced to shave his “chin.”

Mustache Nationalism is destined to separate the men from the boys. We will burn down the earth and remake it in our mustached image.

The weak shall learn to respect the stache.

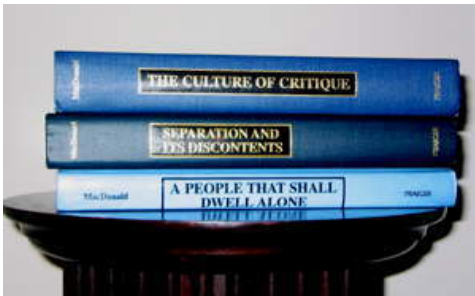

The time for arguments about facial hair...is over.

ACADEMIC BLOODSPORTS: Slippery Jew Nathan Cofnas vs. The Legendary K-Mac!

Benjamin Garland
Daily Stormer
March 13, 2018

20 years after the release of Kevin MacDonald's seminal work

the Culture of Critique, a Jewish academic has finally attempted to debunk it.

You can read his entire paper, which is basically a string of strawman and “yeah but look at this one Jew who is different” arguments, here.

He begins by saying that nobody has yet refuted MacDonald's work because it is so obviously wrong it's not even worth the time (to back this up he quotes the Jew Steven Pinker, who has admitted he never even read MacDonald's work!), but that now it's time to do so because of MacDonald's ever widening influence.

He insinuates that if Culture of Critique had been nipped in the bud years ago rather than being allowed to go unchallenged, the Alt-Right wouldn't have grown the way it did.

K-Mac of course immediately accepted the challenge as soon as it was brought to his attention on Twitter.

Going over it now. Will definitely reply.

— Kevin MacDonald (@TOOEdit)
March 10, 2018

The problem is, attacking MacDonald only brings him attention and will make his position even stronger when he demolishes this Jew's paper with his response.

It's a lose-lose situation for the Jews.

More and more people are reading Culture of Critique.

'I am growing stronger'

Cofnas has been put on the ropes on Twitter as he has realized the can of worms he opened up.

The walls are closing in around him.

oh right. your menchie's must be the absolute chaos right now right? sending thoughts and prayers.

— Siberian Fox (@SilverVVulpes)
March 12, 2018

Jordan “Clean Your Room Bucko” Peterson gleefully shilled the for the article and thus will be humiliated right along with Cofnas.

I am preparing a reply. Obviously, this will take some time. Be patient.

— Kevin MacDonald (@TOOEdit)
March 11, 2018

The brilliant Andrew Joyce dished out a brutal Twitter-lashing on Cofnas.

You can smell the napalm over there.

Seriously: after Joyce's tweets, MacDonald's response will almost be overkill.

But we won't feel sorry for the Jew.

Enjoy the JOYCE-O-CAUST for now, while we wait in eager anticipation for MacDonald's reply:

2/ Most of his paper is an attempt to find remotely anti-Israel Jewish leftists. How many of these agitators were active INSIDE Israel where their promotion of a multicultural Israel would have actually counted?

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

4/ An absurd argument devoid of evidence and discounting centuries of history.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

6/ Mr Cofnas of course denies the notion that Jews would pathologize anti-Semitism, despite all evidence to the contrary.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

8/ Cofnas’s main argument against Jewish involvement in nationalism is that they were/are put off by anti-Semitism in these movements. But where did the hostility come from? From a disparity of interests—a disparity Cofnas neither acknowledges nor even remotely explains.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

I’ll write a more detailed critique of Cofnas, but thread is just some of the blatantly obvious problems. No surprise 1) author is Jewish 2) it sailed through peer-review/got open source pre-release, and 3) is being pushed by Jordan “Where’s the Money?” Peterson & usual sell-outs

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

10/ Cofnas racily assures the readers of “numerous” examples where MacDonald cites texts which actually contain evidence contrary to his argument—but produces only two, both of which are weak and only one of which only directly relates to MacDonald’s central thesis.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

He doesn’t say that at all. His overarching argument is that they support their vision of Jewish interests. It was you who limited that to mean simply and only supporting Israel. Your entire paper is a classic exercise in straw man bashing. You’re a liar. <https://t.co/ZQDCgP4T1r>

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

Name me one Jew who has tried to “destroy Israel” rather than utter endless mealy mouthed platitudes from Western countries, where they promote multiculturalism daily, and with much greater impact. <https://t.co/DIPtTRarjD>

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

Cofnas here argues that promoting multiculturalism would amount to “destroying Israel.” Will he therefore concede that the (by his own admission over-represented) Jewish leftists doing same in West are destroying the White countries in which they reside? Come now Mr Cofnas. <https://t.co/DIPtTRarjD>

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

No, I did not, and do not, see the names of anyone you specifically accuse of trying to “destroy Israel.” Come on now, stop the lies. Let’s be more precise Cofnas. Let’s stick with precision and facts. <https://t.co/z7jxFyZ5m9>

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

Nathan Cofnas is just a typical Zionist Jew engaging in typical (if particularly weak and transparent) Jewish counter-propaganda. Sad!

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

12/ Cofnas employs the familiar trick of pinning Jewish radicalism on Reform Jews etc. “Jewish sectarianism” is a bait and switch exercise. The ADL was founded, and is predominantly funded, by Orthodox Jews. It actively promoted both a multicultural America and a Jewish Israel.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

14/ Cofnas argument made simple: “Madison Grant wanted to exclude hordes of Jews from Polish ghettos. By agitating for the ongoing admission of these Jews, American Boasian Jews were promoting White unity.” Bear in mind this was published in a top journal.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

Without exaggeration I’ve read more than 1,000 academic texts/journal articles on Jewish history/culture. In 17 years of study I haven’t read anything that compares with @TOOEdit in terms of number of sources consulted, historical timescale considered, or quality of argument.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

16/ Mr Cofnas argues that Jewish influence relies solely on IQ and being geographically “lucky.” Ignores Ron Unz on role of networking in elite university admissions, and documented historical networking in a huge number of social, political, and cultural areas.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

18/ Cofnas avoids role of money in Jewish influence, both historically and in the contemporary sphere. Money was crucial from the European ingress under the Carolingians, through the early modern Charter era, and into the Hofjudent stage. It remains crucial in ADL/AIPAC activism.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

Jews have been in Israel for less than 80 years. They’ve been a Diaspora for more than 2,000. Some prefer the latter. Don’t point at some moderately anti-Israel multiculturalism-promoting American Jew and tell me he opposes Jewish interests.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

Imagine being a dumb enough goy that you actually believe Nathan Cofnas’s assertion that Jews have never attempted to pathologize anti-Semitism. Of course—Jewish intellectuals would never do such a thing. pic.twitter.com/w1B11WuWow

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

20/ Cofnas complains of lack of “positive evidence” despite a wealth of it. He avoids entirely MacDonald’s account of Jewish involvement in changing US immigration policy. Why? Too much evidence.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

Useful example of how Nathan Cofnas abuses his source material to make absurd arguments. Here, Jews who objected to Madison Grant’s call for an exclusion of Polish Jews from US is portrayed by Cofnas as “Jews promoting white unity.” No indication at all of self-interest. Pathetic pic.twitter.com/iaOzy0zC5u

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

To those Jews who keep tweeting at me that the ADL protested that Israel keep its Africans—1) they appreciate the value of good PR, 2) they know they’ll be ignored by Tel Aviv and 3) they have always maintained Israel should remain a Jewish State and defend it on those grounds.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

Yes, we goys are intelligent enough to see that the ADL can issue milquetoast criticisms of Israel from New York, while pumping millions into pro-Israel and pro-multicult programs in America, thus more than doing their bit to serve Jewish interests.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

Cofnas talks vaguely of Jewish “conservatives” supporting Western values—which values? Only those potentially useful or comfortable to Jews. Cofnas never once considers the fundamental question to Jewish identity/ethnocentrism: “Is this good for the Jews?” Weak.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

It almost ranks alongside your “Anti-Semites are just jealous of successful minorities” in terms of lack of historical knowledge, glib ignorance, facile reasoning, and transparent agenda. <https://t.co/nGrlwhFiXj>

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

Jews: “The idea that there are race differences in IQ is a lie pushed by evil White supremacists.”

Goyim: “I’m noticing a lot of Jewish influence in my society. How did it come about?”

Jews: “We have a higher IQ than you.” pic.twitter.com/Mclflm1S6n

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 11, 2018

Nathan Cofnas: Karl Marx once uttered anti-Jewish comments. Case closed goy. Keep talking like that and you’re just an irrational anti-Semite who wrongly believes Jews pathologize anti-Semitism. Jews never work together. If you disagree I’ll contact my local Jewish defense league <https://t.co/cTtovZHlwp>

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 12, 2018

85% of US Jews support Israel regardless of its headline immigration positions and mistreatment of Arabs. 71% of US Jews vote Democrat, including 46% of so-called “conservative” Orthodox Jews. An overwhelming majority of Diaspora Jews are hypocrites.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 12, 2018

Around 90% of Diaspora Jews are non-Orthodox. Between 40 and 50% of Diaspora Orthodox Jews vote liberal left. Remember, when you hear some whining “Alt Right Jew” talk about “Jewish sectarianism,” that we don’t care what 5% think while 95% comes against us.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 12, 2018

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 12, 2018

Cofnas lying again. Find one section, page, or sentence in CofC where Kevin MacDonald states that the goal of Jewish intellectual movements was simply to promote Israel rather than Jewish interests more generally. You can’t. <https://t.co/hgu2lCgcXO>

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 12, 2018

I started writing an essay today on the problems, distortions and falsehoods in the recent publication by Nathan Cofnas. I reached ten pages without even pausing. That Cofnas managed to publish it is an indictment of academia, peer review, and the journal that featured it.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 12, 2018

You don’t think Jews had any interests before the founding of Israel in the 1940s? The attempt to tie Jewish interests solely to supporting Israel is a transparent ideological shell game. I suggest you try it on someone else. <https://t.co/IAi3rDVuEk>

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 12, 2018

More distortion from Cofnas—replaces my “Jewish intellectual movements” reference with more generic “Jewish orgs.” It’s the difference between referring to Boasian anthropology and the ADL. What a habitual liar and fraud! Sad! <https://t.co/UYhholhVfJ>

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 12, 2018

This is what happens when a pseudo-scholar has nothing left of their argument. Resort to gross simplification and sarcasm. Hope that the muted laughter of the duped will cover the awkward silence. You’re a maggot Cofnas. A maggot and a dunce. <https://t.co/svMGrW0pto>

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 12, 2018

Oh, I don’t need luck Nathan. And you’ll see my critique of your work in good time. Until then <https://t.co/CR5u5GdNkc>

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 12, 2018

Objections to the work of Kevin MacDonald are essentially objections to Europeans having a perspective on the origins of anti-Semitism, and their own historical experience of the Jews. Jews feel entitled to a monopoly on this subject.

— “AJ” Joyce (@TOQJoyce) March 12, 2018

Imagine attempting to critique Kevin MacDonald when the JQ is spilled all over the pages of Haaretz and Times of Israel. <pic.twitter.com/N45DQs7vbb>

If You Don’t Have a Mustache Then You are Basically a Faggot

Andrew Anglin
Daily Stormer
March 12, 2018

The white race has a long, glorious tradition which stands above all other traditions as the single most important tradition.

That tradition, my friends, is the mustache.

There is one trait which all great men share—one single trait—and that is: the mustache.

When you compare great men such as:

Clark Gable.

Ted Nugent.

And Adolf Hitler.

I think you will quickly discover that they have one thing in common (beyond the obvious fact that they are all members of the Aryan master race): the mustache.

Three masculine archetypes sharing one feature—the most important feature of all.

The mustache.

It is time that we as a race once again rise to the challenge before us of being manly men.

We can make this a true symbol of white supremacy—one which you can wear proudly and which they cannot take away.

They can say “you have a mustache, are you ALT-RIGHT?” And you can simply shrug and say “what is adult night? is that some kind of indie book club?”

It is time, dear brothers, to bring back the mustache once and for all.

I’ll go first.
